'Rise may create vigilante groups'

Saxbe paints grim crime picture

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Attorney General William B. Saxbe said today violent crime is spreading so intensively that vigilante groups may organize to take the law into their own hands.

"If the present trends continue, the prospect of where America may be a decade from now ... is enough to evoke a shudder from even the most optimistic," Saxbe said. "There could no longer be any place to hide —no safe zones, not for anybody," he said.

"In fact, we may be near that point already."

Saxbe used his strongest language and portrayed the darkest outlook he has expressed thus far in comments on the rising crime rate, especially of violent crime, in a speech prepared for delivery to a meeting of the Ohio Realtors' Association.

Two weeks ago, Saxbe described the war on crime as a "harsh, bitter and dismaying" failure.

In his new warning, Saxbe said vigilante groups may begin to take the law into their own hands "if the terror of crime becomes too great."

"In some parts of the country we already have seen the first faint inklings of such actions," he said. Saxbe did not explain that point further.

"Outlaws are outlaws, whether they break the law for personal gain or whether they use illegal means to fight crime," Saxbe said. "One is no better than the other."

The target of Saxbe's concern is a new FBI crime report that shows the rate of serious crime soared 16 per cent in the last quarter of 1973 and for the first three months of 1974 was 15 per cent above the same period last year.

This means, Saxbe told the realtors, that the "number of victims grows to levels that most would have thought impossible a decade or two ago. At the same time, the chances of becoming a victim grows correspondingly."

For safekeeping

Police depts. get National Guard ammo

The Army and Air Force National Guard units in Pomona and at Ontario International Airport, in response to a request by Gov. Ronald Reagan, have moved some munitions, automatic weapon firing pins and bolts to police ammunition vaults for safekeeping.

National Guard security officers Monday night brought several boxes of munitions and firing pins to the Pomona and Ontario police departments and asked them to keep them in their ammunition vaults because of a recent series of armory burglaries in California. In the National Guard armory burglaries, the last one in Fresno, burglars have made off with numerous automatic weapons and some ammunition.

Spokesmen at the Army National Guard office in Pomona and the Air National Guard office in Ontario refused to discuss the move.

RTD negotiators agree: it will be long strike

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Although negotiators for the Southern California Rapid Transit District and striking bus drivers and mechanics can't agree on a settlement to end the 30-day old strike, they did agree on one thing—it will be a long one.

"This unfortunate strike will be with us for some time," said Thomas G. Neusom, president of the RTD's board of directors.

In a news conference Monday, Neusom said the unions' demands were "absurd and outrageous" and called for a membership vote on the district's last offer.

The latest management offer, he said, would cost $14.7 million over a two-year period, or more than $1 million above the recommendations made by Gov. Ronald Reagan's special fact finding committee.

Jerome Long, head of the Amalgamated Transit Union, representing 730 striking mechanics, said union members directed him last Friday not to "bring back any garbage (unacceptable contract proposal) after we've been out this long."

Neusom criticized both striking unions, calling their demands "beyond the realm of serious negotiation," and said both unions have rejected all reasonable attempts to end the strike.

The sound was unmistakable: a baby's cry.

Among the last bags they had collected they found an hour-old baby boy wrapped in a towel.

The two men summoned an emergency medical service team which tied the infant's umbilical cord and rushed him to DeKalb General Hospital, where doctors said later the 8-lb., 4-ounce boy was "doing fine."

Fletcher and Ethridge traced the garbage bag to an address where a 15-year-old girl was identified as the mother of the child.

Police Maj. J. T. Stanley said no charges were filed pending further investigation but the baby was placed in the custody of juvenile authorities who promptly gave him a nickname:

"Lucky."

Hope Ford will consider pardon for all—terHorst

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former White House press secretary J.F. terHorst said today he hopes President Ford will consider pardoning Watergate-tainted defendants and other Nixon administration figures who are serving prison terms.

"I do think and I would hope that this would be in the forefront of his (Ford's) mind when he contemplated giving a pardon to former President Nixon," terHorst said.

"Mercy, like justice, must be dispensed evenhandedly when it's done at a presidential level," he said. "That would take in, I think, many of the defendants and some of those in prison as a result of offenses stemming from the same Watergate situation for which the former President received his pardon."

TerHorst was interviwed on the NBC Today Show two days after Ford announced his unconditional pardon of Nixon. TerHorst consequently resigned the post he held for just 31 days, saying he could not defend Ford's decision.

The Detroit News Monday announced that terHorst has been rehired as a national columnist. He had been the News' Washington bureau chief.

As far as Ford's opposition to the granting of unconditional amnesty to Vietnam draft evaders and resisters, terHorst said the President "at least should consider re-examining that" position. "Now it may not come out any differently, but to me again it goes to the evenhandedness of mercy."

TerHorst, who said he was "slightly stunned" by Ford's decision, also said that the President would have benefitted if "he had wider input from some of us who could see what the likely effect would be publicly" to the pardon decision.

"I hope I would have been able to alert the President to the polticial fallout and to the fact that it would slow or break the momentum I thought and was delighted to see that he was achieving in trying to pull the country together and serve as President of all the people," terHorst said.

He said Monday he was also lied to by White House aides but emphasized he quit as White House press secretary solely because he disagreed with the pardon.

"I didn't quit because I was lied to," he said, although sources said one reason for his resignation was that White House aides lied to him when he sought information for reporters who had learned last week that a pardon was in the works.

"I was lied to," he said.

TerHorst left the News, where he was Washington bureau chief, a month ago to work for Ford, the first staff member hired by the new President.

"He went back on the payroll today," said Al Blanchard, national editor of the News on Monday.

An official for the newspaper said terHorst would write three columns a week for the paper. The News has not yet named a new Washington bureau chief, but Blanchard said terHorst would not reassume that title. He said terHorst had asked for several days in which to tie up his White House duties before returning to the paper.

White House aides said Monday that terHorst left Ford's staff because he felt the President's advisers caused him to lie to reporters about the impending pardon for Nixon as well as because he opposed the granting of the pardon.

Confession for pardon

Ford-Nixon deal denied by White House Official

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford made no attempt to extract a confession of wrongdoing from former President Nixon in exchange for an unconditional pardon, a White House spokesman said today.

Larry Speakes, a press aide, said he came to that conclusion after consulting with Ford and a small circle of the President's associates who were involved in the negotiations prior to the decision announced Sunday to grant Nixon a "full, free and absolute" pardon for all offenses he may have committed in office.

The New York Times today quoted a "reliable source" as saying Ford's lawyers asked Nixon to make what the former president regarded as "a public confession of criminal guilt" in exchange for the pardon.

The Times said that Nixon "angrily refused and subsequent negotiations between the two camps caused the delay in reaching an agreement..."

"It was an act of mercy," Speakes said. "Ford planned to pardon Nixon without the former president doing anything in return. He expected it would be right for the country that Nixon should be pardoned."

Speakes said White House counsel Philip Buchen, Ford's chief agent in the pardon negotiations with Nixon, told reporters Sunday that there had been no "precondition" for the pardon.

The Washington Post said today the sprecial prosecutor's office informed Ford there were 10 possible areas of "criminal liability" for which Nixon could be cited. Quoting a Capitol Hill source, it said Ford had expected to make the list public, but Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski refused.

Ford has been meeting with his senior staff, apparently to assess the widespread adverse reaction to the party. But when Deputy Press Secretary John W. Hushen was asked if Ford had any regrets, he replied: "None."

He said the question of Nixon's health did not surface in any of the dicussions about a pardon. There have been several published reports that Ford was disturbed over word from Nixon's friends and associates that the former president was "terribly depressed" and that his health was threatened.

Hushen told reporters Monday that Ford had expected his decision would be controversial. But it was unclear whether the President had forseen the intensity of the reaction of the people.

Pageant 'a fantastic experience'

Beauty contestant has no regrets

By ROBERT DASELER
P-B Staff Writer

"I still have my own life and I'm very happy," Lucianne Buchanan said this morning, three days after her near-miss at becoming Miss America.

The Cal Poly undergraduate who became Miss Pomona Valley, Miss California and first runner-up in the Miss America Pageant is resting in Santa Cruz and preparing to begin a round of public appearances. As Miss California she will be modeling clothes, speaking before clubs and acting as official hostess for the state until next summer when a new Miss California is chosen.

Looking back on last week's Atlantic City pageant, climaxed by the nationally televised finals Saturday night, she has only pleasant recollections, she told the Progress-Bulletin today by telephone.

"One thing that really surprised me was how well the girls got along. I think it had something to do with the caliber of girls involved — girls that have enough confidence in themselves to give of themselves. It was just a beautiful experience, just fantastic."

Of the 50 competitors, Miss Buchanan said: "It's just a big sisterhood. I can't think of one incident between any of the girls which caused any upheaval at all. It was just fantastic."

Of herself, coming back from the pageant's splendor, she said: "I'm still the same old Lucy."

Miss Buchanan asserts that, during the competition, she felt least confident in the swimsuit event, which she won in her division.

"I felt that my figure was nothing special, speaking bluntly. Come to find out I won, I was really surprised."

She felt more confident in the talent competition, Miss Buchanan said. She is an accomplished harpist.

"One of the things I noted," she pointed out today, "is that the pagenat is progressing. They are moving ahead to become a scholarship pageant rather than being what they've been called in the past, a beauty pageant, which I'm very happy to see."

In the future, Miss California believes, the Miss America Pageant will increasingly emphasize intelligence and talent, rather than physical

Nixon will resign from state bar, says his personal lawyer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Former President Richard M. Nixon will resign from the California State Bar because he no longer wants to practice law, his personal attorney said Monday.

The surprise announcement came minutes before some of the 500 delegates to the annual State Bar meeting planned to bring up a resolution calling for continued investigation into Nixon's possible disbarment.

But the former president's attorney, Dean S. Butler, denied that the resignation — scheduled to take place in the next couple of weeks —had anything to do with the investigation or disbarment.

"Former President Nixon has determined that in the future he will be engaged in matters other than the practice of law," Butler said in an informal letter to bar president Seth M. Hufstedler.

Nixon, who began his law career in California in 1939, has to be a member of the bar to practice in the state. Butler also said Nixon plans to resign from the New York state bar, but the secretary of that institution said he had not received any formal indication of it.

The California Bar's resolution asking for the continuation of the already lengthy investigation of Nixon apparently died with the resignation announcement. One member said the question was "moot."

Asked if the resignation would halt the investigation and disbarment proceedings, Hufstedler replied, "resignation accomplishes that very effectively."

RAT-RACE DROPOUTS

Mike and Bette O'Dell chart their course for their planned drive around the world. The Houston, Tex., pair have quit their jobs and sold their home to make the journey which will take 800 days, $50,000.

Couple starting out on world driving trip of 800 days; price tag--$50,000

HOUSTON (UPI) — Pennypinching and scrimping meals behind them, Mike and Bette O'Dell are dropping out —for a drive around the world they expect will take 800 days and cost $50,000.

"We've been eating beans and rice for the last two years to get ready financially," O'Dell, a Shell Oil Co. research engineer, said.

Mike, 29, and Bette, 28, an assistant to the art librarian at Rice University, have sold their comfortable suburban home, stored their household belongings, and left secure jobs for the ambitious odyssey.

"Our immediate objective is to learn more about the world and relate it to today," he said. "There's a whole bunch of problems in the world today and it will take a lot to solve things like the energy and food problems. We want to see some of it firsthand."

The couple have christened their trip "The Chap Expedition," which stands for culture, history, arts and archaeology, people and photography.

O'Dell said the expedition began innocently.

"I was just sort of joking around and asked my wife how she would like to go round the world. She said sure and here we go," he said. "We promised each other we would go this year."

For their travels the O'Dells will pack a specially equipped 4-wheel drive utility truck with extra gasoline tanks, gauges and batteries, and locking cargo cabinets for maps, atlases and personal belongings.

"The truck may turn out to be a pretty small house after two years," she said. "Sometimes we wished we didn't have the truck so we could travel lighter. But we think it will work out."

The couple plan to spend six months in Asia, three months in the Middle East, five months in Europe, seven months in Africa, four months in South America and three months in Central America.

They will ship their truck to Singapore and then join it following a visit to New Zealand, Australia and Indonesia.

To develop their itinerary, the O'Dells plotted monthly weather data against their route. They won't have eternal spring, but they will try to avoid deserts in the summer, mountains in the winter and dirt roads in the rainy seasons.

Both have traveled before but for never this long.

"There's a little apprehension," she said. "We are not sure what we are going to run into everywhere. But we are excited about meeting a lot of people and learning how they live.

"I have traveling in my blood."

Airliner studied for evidence of guerrilla bombing

ATHENS (UPI) — Investigators examined the wreckage of a Trans World Airlines jet today to determine whether a suicide bomber blew up the aircraft over the Ionian Sea, killing all 88 persons aboard.

Officials said they hoped pieces of the Boeing 707 and bodies recovered from the water would help check a claim by a Palestinian guerrilla group that one of its members set off explosives he carried aboard the jet.

The plane, Flight 841 from Tel Aviv to New York with stops in Athens and Rome, went down in the Ionian Sea between Greece and Italy Sunday, moments after the pilot radioed that an engine was on fire.

"We don't expect to find any survivors," Greek Transport Minister Emmanuel Kefaloyannis said Monday.

He said Greek and American ships, led by the U.S. 6th Fleet aircraft carrier Independence, recovered 19 bodies from the choppy sea and flew the first nine to Athens for autopsies.

Edward Dreifus, head of a U.S. National Transportation Safety Board investigating team that arrived Monday, said no possible cause of the crash had been excluded.

The Arab Nationalist Youth Organization for the Liberation of Palestine telephoned Beirut newspapers after the crash to say a Chilean member of the group carried explosives under his clothes and detonated them.

Pardon raises many questions

By United Press International

Legal and political science experts have raised questions as to the constitutionality and morality of President Ford's decision to pardon Richard M. Nixon, and what effects that decision may have on the nation.

Dr. Philip Kurland, professor of constitutional law at the University of Chicago and a noted expert on the subject, said there is a serious constitutional question as to the validity of the pardon.

"Certainly there are grave dangers in the use of a pardon to exonerate a government official for crimes while in office, even before he is charged with any," said Kurland, legal adviser to the Senate subcommittee on separation of powers.

He said that if Nixon had ordered such pardons for others involved in the Watergate burglary, he would have created grounds for impeachment.

"Is the present action less of a violation of the presidential oath faithfully to execute the laws?" Kurland asked. He said the only way to challenge the pardon is to have the Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski obtain an indictment against Nixon and have the indictment challenged on the grounds of the pardon.

"Unfortunately, Mr. Jaworski has set himself against such a course and we shall not be able to get the answer to what might become a most important constitutional question until one wrongdoer of smaller stature somehow would convince the President to do for him what the President now has done for Mr. Nixon. That, too, is an unlikely event," Kurland said.

Victor Rosenblum, a professor of constitutional and administrative law at Northwestern University, said it would be unfortunate to challenge the pardon, but its broad scope invites such action.

Rosenblum said the pardon removes any question that Nixon was guilty of criminal acts while serving as president.

"The process of negotiation and acceptance of a pardon by the persons to which it is directed establishes that there was a strong case," he said.

A University of California political science professor, Nelson Polsby, said the pardon may reopen the Watergate scandal.

He said Ford was "not slamming the door at all" on Watergate, and that "he may be kicking it open."

Raoul Berger, a Harvard constitutional law historian said he did not think Ford violated the Constitution in granting the pardon.

"But I share the view of many who are outraged by this," Berger said. "This just breeds disrespect for the law. It is dangerous to the existence of the democratic system."

Nixon pardon creates concern among editors

By United Press International

Newspaper editors on both sides of the controversy about President Ford's pardon of Richard M. Nixon expressed editorial concern today about its divisive impact on the nation.

The Corpus Christi, Tex., Caller said that, "For the time being, at least, we are willing to believe that he (Ford) chose the lesser of two evils." But the paper also commented that it "would be sad ... if it turns out that pardoning Nixon stirs greater and more divisive controversy than trying Nixon would have caused."

The Dallas Times Herald, saying Ford had "painfully ... rendered the right decision," foresaw "much discussion about this presidential pardon."

The Tulsa Tribune, in endorsing Ford's decision, was unenthusiastic. "In balance," the Tribune said, "the pardon, although no one yet quite knows for what, may be just as well."

The San Francisco Chronicle, while conceding pardon would eventually have become "inevitable," said Ford had touched off a "massive eruption of conflicting opinions." The pardon, according to the Chronicle, had the effect of splitting "the public, the press, the legal profession, and the Congress into seemingly unalterable opposite factions."

The Miami Herald commented, "We are filled with a sense of outrage at the timing of the pardon and its rationale." The action was "more likely to stir up a huge national debate than to calm any passions."

The Salt Lake City Tribune, a one-time supporter of the former President, said that Ford, far from furthering the healing process, "has not only torn the bandages from the wounds, he even ripped out the sutures ... and then made a liberal application of salt in the wounds."

The New York Times, which Monday called the pardon an affront on the Constitution and the American system of justice, today said that a "more divisive and distasteful outcome" of the Watergate affair "could scarcely be imagined."

The Times added, "Mr. Nixon's stewardship in the office of president will be more open to controversy than ever before."

The New York Post said Ford's "precipitous action will stir a new, explosive national storm signalled instantly by the resignation of his own press secretary." The paper also asked, "Is this the ultimate coverup?"

The Washington Post said in an editorial today that the pardon was "nothing less than a continuation of a coverup.

"By acting prematurely and abruptly," the Post said, Ford had "not added measurably to anything but Mr. Nixon's immediate ease of mind."

The Atlanta Constitution, which said Ford had "demeaned his office" by granting a pardon, asked this question: "Why should subordinates go to jail for their Watergate activities or be tried for them when the 'top man' is pardoned."

Fined $500 for tossing caustic in kin's face

A Pomona woman has been fined and placed on probation for throwing a caustic chemical into the face of her son-in-law last December.

The woman, Lorise Lynn, 40, changed her plea to guilty July 24 to the felonious charge of assault with caustic chemicals.

After changing her plea, Mrs. Lynn was placed on probation for five years by Pomona Superior Court Judge Charles N. Vogel who made a $500 fine a condition of that probation.

Villasenor gets post at school

Julian O. Villasenor, 31, a teacher in Pomona public schools since 1971, has been named assistant principal at Madison Elementary School.

He succeeds Ron Bennett who was named principal at the Golden Springs Elementary School in Diamond Bar.

Villasenor began his career in education three years ago as a teacher at Madison.

He earned an A.A. degree at Chaffey College in Alta Loma, and B.A. and M.A. degrees at Cal Poly Pomona. His B.A. degree is in business administration and social science; his M.A. is in education.

Villasenor lives in Corona.

Members of St. Monica's Guild at Damien High School in La Verne will sponsor an open house and back-to-school afternoon for parents at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Parents will visit their sons' classrooms. Instructors will outline courses. Parents will tour library and science laboratories, the gym and general athletic areas.

Mrs. Edward Rebitz, coordinator, said light refreshments will be served to parents and faculty members.

Beauty pageant...

beauty, although beauty will remain an element: "They'd like a girl who would look good in clothing. I think they are looking for a well-rounded girl, a girl who is like the girl next door, quote unquote."

The most important evaluation in the pageant, she said, was the oral interview. Miss Buchanan's interview was conducted in Haddon Hall in Atlantic City at 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday, three days before Miss America was chosen. She was asked to talk about her opinions of off-shore oil drilling, the Alaska pipeline, amnesty for draft evaders and former President Richard Nixon (she likes him as a person, but not as a politician).

Wednesday evening, after the interview, Miss Buchanan participated in evening gown competition. A day later she competed in the talent category, playing her haarp. On Friday evening she won the swimsuit competition in her division of 18 girls, and on Saturday night the final event was televised nationwide.

Miss Buchanan did not learn that she had been selected to be one of the top 10 girls until that moment on TV when viewers across the country got the word. After the announcement of the Top 10, she said today, there was a frantic backstage scramble to get the 10 finalists into attire for their performances, then swim suits, then evening gowns.

"I was thrilled, just to be in the top 10 among 50 girls. I was very excited. I think then a whole new set of questions run through your mind because you really do have a chance to win the title."

Following a series of on-camera promenades, including her performance of a classical harp selection, came the announcement of the winner.

"I don't think I was even thinking," Miss Buchanan said this morning, remembering that climactic moment. "When they announced the winner, I was quite relieved."

She said that she was not greatly disappointed to have missed narrowly the title: "I was very happy to be first runner-up."

Of Shirley Cothran, Miss Texas, who became Miss America, Miss California said: "She's very sweet, just a nice girl. Nobody had any problems with her. She was very congenial. I like her a lot."

After the televised event a coronation ball was held, and Miss Buchanan was proud to have her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Buchanan of Claremont, and a number of other relatives present.

Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan have since returned to Claremont.

As first runner-up, Miss Buchanan won a scholarship of $10,000. She already had a $2,000 scholarship as Miss California and a $500 scholarship as Miss Pomona Valley. The $10,000 scholarship may be applied to expenses she and her family already have incurred in her education, she said.

Miss Buchanan indicated that she intends to finish her undergraduate studies at Cal Poly next year, after she has retired as Miss California. She wants to pursue post-graduate studies in her field, education, in order to earn a teaching certificate and a master's degree. After teaching kindergarten for a while, she wants eventually to have her own nursery school.

Dweller arrested after apartment blaze put out

A 49-year-old Ontario man was arrested early this morning on suspicion of causing a fire after he allegedly became intoxicated and dropped a lighted cigarette in an overstuffed chair in an apartment at 1137 W. B St.

The fire in the apartment occupied by William Anthony Ruh, 49, was reported about 11:30 p.m. Monday. When firemen arrived the fire was under control because of another apartment dweller's quick action in locating the blaze and partially extinguishing it before it could spread.

The fire apparently started in the chair in the living room of Ruh's apartment after he had gone to bed. The fire smouldered for a time and smoke began to fill the apartment. Larry McCracken, a tenant in another nearby apartment noticed that smoke was coming out of Ruh's apartment. McCracken grabbed two fire extinguishers and opened the door of Ruh's apartment.

McCracken said, "He (Ruh) was up and had just come into the living room. He was just standing there looking at the fire." McCracken said he managed to get only one of the fire extinguishers working to extinguish a major portion of the fire that had crept up the wall. Firemen arrived and extinguished the remaining fire and dragged the chair outside.

Ontario Fire Inspector Mike Park said the fire was probably started by a smouldering cigarette dropped into the chair. Police called to the scene found numerous cigarette burns on the carpeting throughout the apartment and burned out matches.

Police then arrested Ruh on a rarely used section of the California Health and Safety Code relating to causing a fire.

Ruh this morning is booked in the West End Jail in lieu of $315 bail.

Fair look-alike event is Sept. 19

The Los Angeles County Fair will be holding a mother-daughter look-alike contest on Sept. 19 at 5 p.m. in the fair's amphitheater.

The only contestants presently entered in the competition are Yvonne Elvide, 13214 East End Ave., Chino, and her look-alike daughter Shelly, 18.

This is the first year that the contest will be held. Judges will base their decision on the mother's and daughter's abilities to look, walk, dress and behave alike.

Persons wishing to compete in the event may obtain applications by contacting the special events department, Los Angeles County Fair Association, P.O. Box 2250, Pomona 91766.

Hot N.Y. Senate race highlights primaries

United Press International

Former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark battled today with a millionaire Israeli immigrant and the mayor of a small city upstate for the right to try to unseat Jacob Javits from the U.S. Senate.

The hot New York Democratic contest among the former Texan, Abe Hirschfeld of New York City and Lee Alexander of Syracuse highlighted the year's biggest run of primaries. Javits was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

Thirteen states and the nation's capital were choosing general election slates for Nov. 5.

Besides New York, primaries were underway in Vermont, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Florida, Massachusetts, Maryland, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Colorado, Utah and Arizona. The District of Columbia was beginning to form its first elected government in 104 years.

Howard Samuels, former New York City off-track betting commissioner, took on Brooklyn Congressman Hugh Carey for the chance to return the prized New York governorship to Democratic control for the first time in 16 years.

The winner will run against Republican Gov. Malcolm Wilson, the 15-year lieutenant governor who stepped into the top job last winter with the resignation of the seemingly unbeatable Nelson Rockefeller.

Some of the primaries were sure to produce new political faces as age, scandal and reform movements took their toll.

Vermont and New Hampshire were choosing candidates to succeed Republican veterans Sens. George Aiken and Norris Cotton.

Florida voters were selecting candidates for the seat of Republican Sen. Edward Gurney, who withdrew when charged with campaign irregularities.

There was a general scramble under way in Arizona for the nominations to seek the office being vacated by longtime Gov. Jack Williams, a Republican.

Utah and Connecticut only held congressional primaries today.

They have already chosen party candidates by convention to seek the Senate post of retiring Republican Wallace Bennett and the governorship being vacated by Republican Thomas Meskill.

Rhode Island also has only House nomination contests.

Republican Sen. Peter Dominick had no party opposition in Colorado, but three Democrats, headed by former McGovern presidential campaign director Gary Hart, are seeking to oppose him.

Rep. Richard Mallary is the Republican favorite for the Vermont Senate nomination. Patrick Leahy is the Democratic leader.

Rep. Bill Gunter and former Secretary of State Richard Stone are said to be leading a field of eight Democrats for the Florida Senate nomination; the GOP battle is between businessman Jack Ekerd and Paula Hawkins.

Russell Williams and John Driggs are the GOP leaders for the Arizona gubernatorial nomination; former U.S. Ambassador to Bolivia Raul Castro is regarded as the Democratic leader.

Walter Washington, the appointed Mayor of Washington, D.C., under both the Johnson and Nixon administrations, leads in the polls for the Democratic nomination against Clifford Alexander, former head of the federal equal employment opportunity agency.

Gov. Marvin Mandel is believed to be home free in his quest for Democratic nomination in Maryland, but Rep. Larry Hogan and GOP National Committeewoman Louise Gore are battling for their party nomination.

Sen. Charles Mathias' GOP opposition is given little chance, but the outcome of the Democratic race is a question. Baltimore City Councilwoman Barbara Mikulski and former Vietnam POW Bernard Talley were the favorites.

Gov. Francis Sargent has some opposition in the Massachusetts Republican primary, with State Attorney Gen. Robert Quinn and former state Rep. Michael Dukakis battling for the Democratic nomination.

Wisconsin Democratic Gov. Patrick Lucey has token opposition, but Sen. Gaylord Nelson is unopposed. Republican William Dyke is unopposed for governor and State Sen. Thomas Petri is favored for the Senate nomination.

Woman's scalp torn off; sewn back

MELBOURNE (UPI)—A 21-year-old office worker got her entire scalp and part of her face sewed back in what Australian surgeons believe is the world's first successful operation of its type.

A spokesman for Alfred Hospital said Pamela Haebich's pony tail caught in a revolving tubular pipe machine Aug. 14.

Factory workers rushed her to the nearby Alfred Hospital where surgeons had her on the operating table within minutes.

A five-man team of microsurgeons took 10 hours to complete six vein grafts from her foot and sew back on her scalp.

Monday Miss Haebich sat up in bed and smilingly displayed her new budding hair. "The hair growth indicates the blood vessels are functioning properly and servicing the hair roots," a spokesman said.

'Left up the creek,' says Watergate jury foreman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The foreman of the grand jury that implicated Richard M. Nixon in the Watergate cover-up says he feels "left up the creek" by the pardon granted the former President.

He said the jurors are considering whether they can make public some of the damaging evidence.

Vladimir Pregelj said no decision had been made yet, but it had been suggested that the grand jury issue a special report on its evidence.

Last March, it voted 19-0 to name Nixon as a co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up, but to bring no formal charges because of the constitutional ban on indictments against a president in office.

Philip Lacovara, 29, one of the chief lawyers on the staff of Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, expressed his dissatisfaction over the pardon Monday by resigning.

"Mr. Lacovara explained that recent developments have made it appropriate for him to accelerate his plans to leave the special prosecutor's office and enter the private practice of law," said a spokesman.

Lawyers for the six men actually charged in the indictment meet today to discuss what actions they would take as a result of President Ford's pardon for Nixon. They are expected to consider whatever joint efforts they could take.

"Everybody has thoughts they want to share," said one legal source. "There is a serious argument for dismissal of the indictment, although we don't know how it should be handled."

Pregelj, an economist at the Library of Congress, said he had been called by a few of the 23 grand jurors and their reactions ranged from "deep dismay to high outrage." He said he did not know how all the jurors felt.

"We were set up to follow certain statutory procedures and now that mandate has been short-circuited," Pregelj said. "This leaves the grand jury up the creek and to a certain extent puts the whole procedure up a creek."

Progelj said he would "prefer the initiative to come from Jaworski," but if not, he might take it upon himself to call the grand jury into session.

The panel has not met since last March, when the indictments were returned against the six aides, including charges of perjury, conspiracy and obstruction of justice.

The grand jury expires Dec. 5. Pregelj said the law was unclear whether the grand jury could act without the prosecutor's approval

Lacovara's resignation, effective Sept. 29, means Jaworski will lose his No. 3 man, one who wrote many of the legal briefs.

Ford delays sending underground nuclear test ban treaty to Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Ford administration has delayed sending to the Senate the limited underground nuclear testing treaty which President Nixon concluded in Moscow last July, and there is some question whether it will ever take effect.

The agreement is one of two substantive arms control measures signed between Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev at their Moscow summit, both of which require Senate ratification to become effective.

The other measure, limiting each side to one antiballistic missile complex each, has been submitted by to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to start the ratification process.

But officials of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency said Monday the testing treaty may not go to the Senate until sometime in 1975.

They said it is being delayed until a companion agreement can be negotiated with the Russians to control peaceful nuclear explosions.

The testing agreement — banning underground nuclear tests greater than an explosive force of 150 kilotons—has been controversial in the United States from the start. Opponents say the 150 kiloton figure is too high for meaningful arms control and that the treaty would prompt a flurry of Soviet tests before it takes effect.

The idea of linking the testing accord with one on peaceful explosions was not part of the Nixon-Brezhnev package of agreements. The United States sought to interest the Soviets in the peaceful uses agreement following the Moscow summit.

The Russians showed no interest. They reportedly plan to set off some mammoth nuclear blasts for peaceful purposes including diversion of a river and raising the level of the Caspian sea.

The administration apparently feels there is little point in seeking Senate confirmation until something happens to win over some of the 37 opposing senators. All this led some congressional sources to conclude the testing treaty may never go into effect.

And that did not make for optimism for the next round of nuclear arms control talks between the United States and Russia beginning Sept. 18.

Israel to hold big war games

By United Press International

Israel announced today what a military source called the bigggest military maneuvers on the occupied Golan Heights of Syria since the Arab-Israeli war a year ago.

The announcement came shortly after Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin left by air for Washington and talks with President Ford and other U.S. officials on getting the stalled Middle East peace conference moving again.

The Israeli war games began Monday night. A military spokesman said United Nations forces had been notified in advance so Syria could be informed that Israel was not planning an offensive. Until now, Israeli maneuvers since the October 1973 war had been confined to the wide, flat Sinai peninsula between Israel and Egypt.

Pardon should have included guilt--solons

By United Press International

Conservative Sen. James L. Buckley and liberal Republican Sen. Edward W. Brooke both said today that former President Nixon should have been required to admit guilt before he was pardoned.

Buckley, of New York, said the pardon granted Sunday by President Ford was premature and Brooke, of Massachusetts, predicted it would hurt Republican candidates running for election this year.

Despite their divergent political views, Buckley and Brooke were among the first men in Congress who called on Nixon to resign.

"The exercise of clemency would have been more appropriate and would have been assured the support of a far larger portion of the public had it occurred after an admission of responsibility on the part of the former president, or after the course of events had more clearly fixed the nature and extent of that responsibility," Buckley said.

Brooke said the pardon was "the administration's first and very serious mistake" and it "could hurt Republican candidates in elections this year."

He said he could have supported the pardon only if Nixon had made "a full confession about his role in Watergate —if he had some contrite heart, some remorse, then the American people would have supported a pardon."

Pardon shakes economists, nation's money magnates

NEW YORK (UPI) — The political turmoil created by President Ford's pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon ended Ford's period of "sweetness and light" with the nation's financial community, several economists said Monday.

The suddeness of the decision to grant an unconditional pardon for any crimes that may have been committed during Nixon's presidency took money managers and economists by surprise and sent unsettling ripples through the stock market.

"In two words, it is a disaster," said economist Eliot Janeway. "The real issue is not what Ford did, but who is running the White House."

Ford, he said, "electrified the atmosphere when taking over by saying there will be a whole new deal. But this idiot Haig is still clicking his heels around the White House and is running it."

Few economists and analysts were as blunt as Janeway, but most agreed that the pardon and the subsequent political turmoil it caused had a negative effect on investor confidence and on the battle to control inflation.

"Without implying any personal judgment at all on the merits of the decision, I think that the net from the point of view of the market is that it has to be negative because it does, to a degree, undercut the atmosphere of sweetness and light we had the last couple of weeks," said Tilford Gaines, vice president of New York's Manufacturers Hanover Bank.

"I wouldn't put a lot of emphasis on it, but it has shortened the honeymoon."

Saul Smerling of Standard and Poor's, a financial reporting service, said Monday's market decline probably was due more to economic developments than Ford's pardon of Nixon.

But, he said, "I think also that President Ford's reaction might have had some unsettliing effect as well. This was injection of some unforseen element in the picture and puts the market off balance momentarily."

Larry Wachtel of Bache and Co. said there never was a honeymoon between Ford and the nation's investors and doubted the pardon had any influence on the market.

"When President Ford took over, the market went down 150 points," he said. "The lesson was that the market is only interested in economic policy. I fail to see anything economic in the whole shooting match,"

The Dow Jones industrial average plunged nearly 15 points to 662.94 Monday, after spurting more than 29 points in the two prior trading sessions.

Most brokers agreed that although the pardon question was disturbing, a report by the National Association of Purchasing Management that corporate orders in August "stalled completely" —a sign that recession is spreading — was chiefly responsible for the decline.

Kept body in bed four days

Didn't have money for wife's funeral, husband shoots self

MIAMI (UPI) — A man who kept the body of his dead wife in their apartment for four days apparently shot himself Monday because he was unable to pay for a funeral, police said.

Thomas D. Roberts, 52, was listed in critical condition at South Miami Hospital with a head wound.

Dade County police said Roberts called his mother last Thursday to tell her that his wife, Esther, 60, had died. Police said it appeared her death was due to natural causes, but an autopsy was ordered.

Homicide detectives said that Roberts, who was deeply in debt, had placed the body in a bed, covered it with a blanket, placed flowers and beads in his dead wife's hand and laid a religious picture across her chest.

French store prices cut in inflation move

PARIS (UPI) — In a move to cut inflation, shopkeepers across France today lowered the prices of school supplies, children's clothing and some foods by five per cent.

The government sponsored project known as "Operation Brake on Prices" aimed at reducing prices which already are 13 per cent higher than last year.

Finance Minister Jean-Pierre Fourcade worked out the the 90-day voluntary program with representatives of some 200,000 retailers.

Cranston may change stand on amnesty

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., said Monday he was reconsidering his position of amnesty for persons who refused to serve in the Vietnam war.

Cranston made his comments in an interview from his Washington, D.C., office with the Los Angeles Times.

In a speech last weekend in Sacramento, Cranston was quoted as saying, "I am not in favor of blanket, total amnesty across the board because they (draft evaders) took many different actions for many different reasons."

Cranston said he was reevaluating his position in light of President Ford's pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon.

Cranston did not want to comment at first on the question of amnesty, but said, "I am not making a decision on what I will do. But I will reevaluate the matter.

"I think there may have been links in Ford's mind between amnesty and Nixon," Cranston said. "It is fair to speculate there may well have been.

"We also have to consider what you do for all the Watergate people —some of whom are in jail, some of whom are facing trial."

He speculated that some may have been acting under Nixon's orders.

Nixon is guest of close friend

PALM DESERT, Calif. (UPI) — Former President Richard Nixon is a house guest today in a plush desert home of a close friend and political contributor where he has stayed since he was pardoned.

Nixon, accompanied by his wife, Pat, and his military aide, Lt. Col. Jack Brennan, left the San Clemente compound Sunday and took refuge at the 200-acre-plus estate of Walter H. Annenberg, the U.S. Ambassador to Great Britain.

There was no indication how long Nixon planned to remain at the Annenberg estate, which is surrounded by a six-foot high barbed-wire fence and high oleanders. The gates are guarded 24 hours a day.

There was a deal -Martha Mitchell

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UPI) — Martha Mitchell doesn't care if "Jerry" never talks to her again. She just had to speak her mind about President Ford's pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon.

"I'm sure there was a deal with President Nixon before the resignation," Mrs. Mitchell, estranged wife of former Attorney General John Mitchell, said Monday while visiting a cousin in her native state.

"I knew Nixon had something up his sleeve when he left the White House," she said. "Nixon's just as guilty as anybody else and it's a horrible, horrible thing. I don't feel sorry for him or his family either because they're too stupid to know what they're doing."

Mrs. Mitchell said she hoped the amnesty for the former chief executive would not put Watergate out of the minds of Americans because "it's making politics straight and not crooked."

2 professors call for impeachment

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Two college professors said Monday they would ask the American Civil Liberties Union to launch a national impeachment effort against President Ford, charging he obstructed justice by pardoning former President Nixon.

Prof. Larry Schwartz of San Diego City College said the grounds for the impeachment effort against Ford is his agreement to allow Nixon to destroy his presidential tape recordings after five years.

He also said Ford "obstructed justice by halting the investigations of the Nixon presidency."

Arthur M. Schaffer, a law professor at Western State College of Law, also in San Diego, said the second purpose of the impeachment proposal was to encourage Congress to continue its impeachment of Nixon.

"This whole thing is just part of a continuing cover-up," Schwartz said.

Pardon for all, Dean's kin urge

GREENVILLE, Pa. (UPI) — The father, mother and sister of chief Watergate witness John W. Dean III, urged President Ford Monday to pardon all Watergate conspirators because "if Richard Nixon should be free, all others under him should have the same privilege."

"He (John III) told the truth. Why shouldn't he be pardoned?" asked Dean's father, John W. Dean Jr. "I've been a Republican all my life, but I'm thinking about changing politics."

The mother of Nixon's former White House counsel said she felt "there should be law and justice for every person."

"Is John Dean any different from Richard Nixon under the law?" she asked. "If Richard Nixon should be free, all others under him should have the same privilege. All those under Nixon were trying to help Nixon. John Dean told the truth. We never doubted that he did."

Mrs. Ann Dean Mitchell, Dean's sister, said she was "mad at Ford's decision. It was the greatest error Mr. Ford could have made. I liked Ford until Sunday."

None of the three intended to ask Ford to pardon Dean, however, because they felt "justice should take care of itself."

Dean's wife says others suffering

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Maureen Dean, the wife of chief Watergate witness John W. Dean III, said Monday President Ford should remember others involved in the scandal now that he has pardoned former President Nixon.

"I am gratified by the President's spirit of forgiveness, but dismayed by the apparent limitations he has applied to it," Mrs. Dean said in a statement transmitted Monday through a friend, Peter Kinsey. "Mr. Nixon and his family are not the only ones who have suffered enough because of Watergate.

"Since the President has adopted this posture, I pray he will not overlook those who have fully co-operated with the government in getting out the truth of Watergate to the American people. These individuals are also suffering because they told the truth — which is something we have yet to hear from Mr. Nixon."

Dean, Nixon's former counsel while in the White House who became the former president's chief accuser, is serving a one-to-four-year term for his part in the scandal.

Perjury in nepotism probe, Hahn warns

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Supervisor Kenneth Hahn warned that perjury charges may be filed after 11 witnesses produced conflicting testimony Monday at an executive session of the Board of Supervisors investigating possible nepotism in filling a county position.

Hahn told newsmen that supervisors "definitely feel perjury has been committed by someone." He ordered the county counsel to notify all witnesses that they would be given an opportunity to review copies of their testimony to "see if they want to change it."

Tom Kidwell, director of the county data processing department and a key witness in the investigation, reportedly changed "certain critical aspects" of earlier testimony, said Supervisor Baxter Ward.

Ward and Hahn declined to comment about the specifics of Kidwell's testimony.

Kidwell had placed first on a now-discarded Civil Service list to choose a successor to retired county tax collector-treasurer Harold J. Ostly's $36,500-a-year job.

Kidwell hired Sicklick for a $20,628-a-year position in the data processing department and later approved his promotion to a $25,704 per year station.

Supervisors are trying to determine whether Kidwell was promised a high rating on the exam in return for the hiring of Sicklick.

Kidwell has denied any favoritism or any impropriety.

Strikers return to Obispo A-plant

SAN LUIS OBISPO (UPI) — About 400 members of the plumbers and steamfitters unions returned to work Monday after 71 days of a strike-lockout at the Pacific Gas & Electric nuclear plant project.

The two unions claim they were locked out July 1 when carpenters returned to work after a 40-day strike.

Union negotiators met Monday with representatives from the Association of General Contractors and the Southern California Plumbing and Heating Council to work out contractural problems.

There has been no word on wage demands or other proposals.

Younger tells convention

Attorney General who is 'free' seen

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A U.S. Attorney General free from "complete political domination by the President" may become one of the nation's Watergate legacies, the state's top law officer said Monday.

State Attorney General Evelle J. Younger told convention members of the California Bar that it may even be possible to make the legal arm of government answerable to Congress or "directly to the people."

"Before the lessons of Watergate fade into history, let's take the opportunity to correct some of the deficiencies that were revealed," Younger said.

"One of the saddest aspects of the Watergate affair was the fact that the U.S. Department of Justice was so badly compromised," he said.

Younger said a number of possible courses of action existed, including electing the Attorney General on a nationwide ballot. He pointed out that most states, including California, elect their chief law officers.

He said the appointment could also be tied more closely to Congress, with removal from office dependent on Congressional acquiesance.

"An Attorney General can very adequately represent executive departments in court without being an appointee of the executive," Younger said.

While saying he was "not trying to present any final answers," Younger said it was essential that the U.S. Attorney General's office "cease to be a repository for retired campaign managers."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The first Olympiad in 776 B.C. is said to have consisted merely of a 200-yard foot race near the small city of Olympia but the games gained in scope and became demonstrations of national pride, The World Almanac notes. Winners received laurel, wild olive and palm wreaths and were accorded many special privileges. Under the Roman emperors, the games deteriorated into professional carnivals and circuses.

USLIFE CORPORATION OF CALIFORNIA as duly appointed Trustee under the following described deed of trust will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash (payable at time of sale in lawful money of the United States) all right, title and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said Deed of Trust in the property hereinafter described: TRUSTOR: ELLIS W. JAMES, a single man; BENEFICIARY: THE COLWELL COMPANY, a corporation; Recorded November 10, 1972 as instr. No. 1191 in book T7899 page 156 of Official Records in the office of the Recorder of Los Angeles County; said deed of trust describes the following property:

Lot 21, Tract No. 22869, in the City of Pomona, County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in book 599 pages 56 and 57 of Maps, in the office of the county recorder of said county.

284 Royal Coach Avenue, Pomona, California

The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust, by reason of a breach or default in the obligations secured thereby, heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and written notice of breach and of election to cause the undersigned to sell said property to satisfy said obligations, and thereafter the undersigned caused said notice of breach and of election to be Recorded May 13, 1974, as instr. No. 3974 in book M4684 page 565, of said Official Records.

Said sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust, with interest as in said note provided, advances, if any, under the terms of said Deed of Trust, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust.

Said sale will be held on Thursday, October 3, 1974 at 11:00 A.M. at the front entrance to the Los Angeles County Courts Building, 12720 Norwalk Boulevard, Norwalk, California.

For Wednesday, Sept. 11

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You won't be in too playful of a mood today. This is to your advantage. Something of a worthwhile nature will be accomplished.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) As the day progresses you'll discover you've viewed a situation a little too negatively to begin with. When it unfolds your attitude will brighten.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't become despondent if matters aren't working as fast as you'd like in your present commercial dealings. Good things lie ahead.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You'll establish a stronger contact with one you've had trouble getting through to. The improved relationship will benefit both parties.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone will come along in the nick of time to help carry a responsibility you thought you would have to shoulder all alone.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Deal with people whose track record you're familiar with and all will work out well. You won't be as lucky with those you know little about.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're in a good achievement cycle provided you apply yourself. You can now reach goals others can't.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your present ideas have much more influence over others than you may realizer. Aim your suggestions at definite targets.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Something that should please you is now developing in a situation where you share an interest through another's benevolence.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You tend to benefit from an arrangement where a compromise is required. It's to your advantage to let the other party set the terms.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You will be motivated to work harder for something as soon as you are aware of the hidden benefits the situation offers.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Contacts that you make at this time through your social activities will be of a more lasting nature than usual. This applies to someone in particular.

Your birthday Sept. 11

Some of your hopes will be realized this year regarding an old interest that has taken considerable time to develop. It will begin to show it was worth all the effort.

Murder suspect returned to U.S.

LOS NGELES (UPI) — An American being held in Australia for a passport violation and wanted in France and Switzerland for murder and theft will be deported back to the U.S. to face jail escape charges, the district attorney's office said Friday.

Thomas E. Utter, also known as Thomas Devins, will be returned to face charges of escaping March 28 from the Susanville, Calif., conservation center, where he was serving a term for armed robbery and grand theft, said deputy district attorney Stephen S. Trott.

Australian authorities took Utter into custody for allegedly trying to enter New South Wales with a phony passport.

Inca bridge

PUENTE DEL INCA, Argentina (UPI) — The "Bridge of the Inca" for which this Andean mountain resort was named, is a spectacular natural bridge 70 feet long and 90 feet wide across the Mendoza River.

The area at 9,000 feet above sea level is popular for visits between November and May.

Longs Drugs — WHERE EVERYBODY SAVES!

WHERE TROUBLE STARTED — As Evel Knievel's rocket ship left the launch ramp, the drogue chute accidentally pulled loose. The drogue chute is used to pull the main chute open for the emergency landing.

WHERE IT LED — Because the drogue chute pulled loose, the rocket fell short of spanning the Snake River Canyon. It parachuted into the canyon and first crashlanded on a rocky bluff.

'I'm not going back,' Evel Knievel declares

BUTTE, Mont. (UPI) — Evel Knievel flew over the Snake River Canyon Monday in an airplane and waved goodbye. "I'm not going back," he said.

He flew to his home here after his attempt to cross the canyon in his steam-powered "Skycycle X2" failed Sunday. He was met by a cheering crowd and a motorcade.

The daredevil, who earned $9 million for the stunt, made it clear he wouldn't try again.

"Today I flew over the Snake River Canyon for the last time, and I waved a final goodbye," he said.

Knievel said the premature release of the parachute that caused the "Skycycle" to brake and drift down the 600-foot deep canyon was not his fault or the rocket team's. He called it "metal failure."

"But there was no failure with God because he made the wind blow, and he blew me to the side of that canyon and I lived."

He had face lacerations and bruises but suffered no serious injuries. The event grossed about $21 million for the promoters.

Knievel said he blacked out when the rocket blasted off from the launching pad in an attempt to loop over the quarter-mile canyon near Twin Falls, Idaho.

"I didn't know what was happening but after the skycycle chutes opened I woke up again. It was as if somebody put the brakes on. I ripped my visor away. Then terror got to me because I knew that if I went into the river I would drown.

"All the time I was headed down, I was trying to get out of the skycycle because I thought I was going into the river. My straps were fastened in such a way that I couldn't get out."

Of his brush with death he said: "I would have rather had a happy landing on the other side, but I don't consider being defeated by that canoyon a loss." His eyes moistened as he added: "You really don't know how proud I am."

WHERE IT ENDED — The rocket, with Knievel aboard, slid off the side of the canyon and plunged to the bottom. Knievel emerged scratched and bruised but otherwise okay. He may try it again.

Brown raps pardon of former President

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Democratic gubernatorial candidate Edmund G. Brown Jr. took issue of integrity in government Monday, declaring that the Republican Party has "taken crime out of the streets and put it in the White House."

Brown, who has been concentrating on economic issues in view of Ford's meetings with leading economists on ways to control inflation, made his comments at a convention of the International Brotherhood of Painters and Allied Trades.

"Our President has given a pardon for crimes when we've never yet even figured out what they were," Brown said. "We haven't had an act of contrition out of Richard Nixon. We haven't even had an admission of guilt.

"All we have is that he made a mistake, he wasn't decisive enough and he lost his political base. Well, something as serious as Watergate requires something more."

Brown said Nixon should give an accounting as to the role he played in the Watergate coverup.

He said Ford has "broken faith with the American people" because the President earlier had said he would not issue a pardon until special prosecutor Leon Jaworski had completed his action.

"This is a system of law, and how can we tell those at the bottom, how can we punish the pickpockets and other criminals in this state and this nation unless we set an example?

"The President is not above the law," he said. "And the quicker we get back to the rule of the law where crime is defined clearly and punishment is applied fairly but without delay and without respect to persons, the healthier and stronger America —and the state of California —is going to be."

Feared punishment

Police said a brother told them the boy feared he would be punished for breaking a store window during a soccer game.

An' a-one, an' a-two...

The amateur musician tends to be more successful financially than the average citizen. Why I don't know. But the National Opinion Research Center at the University of Chicago reports its study of 1,500 households hereabouts indicates such. And those wherein some member plays a musical instrument definitely outrank the nonmusical homes as far as overall income goes. The record also shows that thee amateur musicians over age 21 are better educated than average.

IT HAS BEEN SAID that the Taurus person almost invariably is a business success, providing that party has enormous financial backing and plenty of luck. Possibly true. But I have heard from the stargazers that the typical Taurus is a dreamer and must take great care not to trip over poodles, drive over flower beds, or bump into plate glass doors.

THE HARD FACTS

Bridge

Principle all should learn

By Oswald & James Jacoby

There is one principle of expert bidding that all bridge players should learn. That principle is that an unnecessary bid on the way to game always suggests a slam.

Thus South's four-club bid suggests slam possibilities. It risks nothing since it does not go past four spades. North's four diamonds say, "If you are interested, so am I."

NORTH ♠ K Q 7 6 ♥ 9 7 5 3 ♦ A J 6 2 ♣ 4

WEST ♠ 3 ♥ A 4 2 ♦ Q 9 5 3 ♣ J 9 8 5 2

EAST ♠ 8 5 ♥ 10 8 6 ♦ K 10 8 4 ♣ K Q 7 3

SOUTH (D) ♠ A J 10 9 4 2 ♥ K Q J ♦ 7 ♣ A 10 6

Both vulnerable

West	North	East	South
			1♠
Pass	3♦	Pass	4♣
Pass	4♦	Pass	4♥
Pass	5♣	Pass	6♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—A♥

South's four-heart bid shows further interest while still keeping below four spades. At this point if North signs off at four spades, South will pass.

Maybe North should sign off. Most players would, but our North is optimistic. He sees very good trumps and a singleton club and decides to risk something by a five-club bid.

This makes it easy for South to bid the slam. His partner has clearly shown the diamond ace and second-round club control. He has also jumped in spades and gone past game. He must have good trumps. The slam should be a cinch. South bids it and is right.

Stardust Hotel hit by suit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A suit filed in Superior Court Friday seeks more than $50,000 from the Stardust Hotel in Las Vegas for injuries allegedly suffered by Jack and Donella Frost when a horse fell from a night club stage onto their table.

The horse was one of two which charged across the stage as part of a joust between two performers dressed as medieval knights.

The Frosts, of Santa Monica, claimed the rider fell from one of the horses and the animal then tumbled onto their table. The incident occurred last Sept. 8 in the Continental showroom of the Stardust.

The suit seeks $25,000 each for the Frosts, $1,500 in damages to personal effects and property and an undetermined amount for medical care, lost income and costs.

Dog food shouldn't be given to kitten

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: It's a kick watching this tiny kitten walk up to Jumbo's dish and start eating his dog food. Jumbo backs off and stands there waiting anxiously for Tiny, who's a slow eater, to finish. When she finally does walk away, then he dives into his food and it's gone in seconds. The funny part is if a kitten will ignore cat food in a dish a few feet away, or anywhere else, then Jumbo does, too. Does this mean dog food is better?—T.G.

Dear T.S.: No, not for cats, and even less so for kittens. Cats actually require almost four times the dietary protein dogs do. Kittens require an even higher percentage of protein than adult cats. Cats also need more vitamin B complex than some of the other vitamins, so dog food would tend to be deficient in these areas, and perhaps in vitamins as well. A good dog food then, is not a good cat food. Whether Jumbo helps you or not, you have to train Tiny to eat her food, not his.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I live in the city and don't have any good places to play with my dog. What's the best way to play with a big dog in a big city, anyway? — D.K.

Dear D.K.: Citified conditions contribute to canine claustrophobia. Ponderous pooches are particularly prone to this problem. The "best" way of exercising such a dog — which is to seek out the least crowded nearby area and exercise him there (on a leash of course) — is usually woefully inadequate.

The difficulties of keeping a large dog contented in congested areas should be carefully considered beforehand. While many smaller dogs can adapt, particularly where the owner has adequate time to spend with them, play and exercise problems increase in proportion to size, varying considerably among breeds. A lean, 50-pound Afghan or Airedale might require several times the amount of exercise necessary to satisfy a 50-pound basset. When you already have the dog, of whatever size, you obviously do the best you can. You can't really make up for lack of adequate activity, though a maximum amount of attention helps some. So does a careful measuring of your dog's food to avoid obesity by providing minimum caloric requirements.

Respect, communication stressed in teacher session

"All groups of children have the potential to learn if they are respected and if we communicate to them that we believe they can learn."

That statement was made Monday by Pomona Schools Supt. Robert E. Wentz who spoke at morning and afternoon teacher orientation sessions in the Education Center auditorium.

Wentz asked the teachers two questions: "Are your self-fulfilling prophecies(preconceived ideas) a hindrance or a help?" and "In what do you believe?"

He called for positive thinking and acting from the teachers, who today return to their classrooms for the new school year.

He asked them to "adopt prophecies that will enhance our children's chances of educational success" and to avoid "negative views of parents."

"Ninety-nine per cent of the parents I've met do care about their children," Wentz said. "I believe parents want their children to succeed in school.

"I believe the majority of parents assume responsibility for their children and will assist at school if they are made to feel wanted, needed and useful.

"The value we hold toward parents determines our success. We should show tolerance and patience and develop mutual respect."

It is natural to take great pride in the student who excels, Wentz told the teachers, "but you're looking at some students who have been fighting failure all their lives, and your self-fulfilling prophecies quite often determine whether you ever will reach them."

Wentz said he had "mixed emotions" this year with so many changes being made to accommodate ninth graders into high school.

"We hope the entire process provides an opportunity for our young people to succeed," he said. "We hope we can succeed with each student at each school in each part of our community."

Wentz asked the teachers to endorse the school district proposal which will appear on the Nov. 5 election ballot to increase general purpose taxes $1.44 per $100 of assessed valuation for 1975-76.

He was preceded at the afternoon orientation meeting by Bill Montgomery of Pomona who is head of a subcommittee on community contact of a citizens group working in support of the proposal, known as Proposition QQ.

Montgomery said plans were being formulated to contact face-to-face every registered voter in the school district to ask support of the proposal.

"The City of Pomona cannot afford to have this proposition fail," said Montgomery. "The overall health of the community, not just the school district, rides on this thing."

Meanwhile, complications developed in transportation as students in Diamond Bar missed their rides to Ganesha High School on the first day of the fall term.

School officials said the buses were on a short day rather than on a minimum day schedule today and Wednesday.

Sophomores were being picked up at Diamond Bar stops between 7:30 and 8 a.m. and leaving Ganesha for the home trip 10:30 a.m.; freshmen pick-ups were from 9:45 to 10:15 a.m. and departures from the school were at 12:55 p.m.; and juniors and seniors were leaving Diamond Bar between 12:30 and 1 p.m., and starting their return trips at 2:15 p.m.

The officials said buses will be on the minimum day formats Thursday and Friday, as shown on the student schedules.

Legal battle threatened

Council stands firm on ending industrial zone

In spite of a threat of referendum, the San Dimas City Council Monday night reaffirmed its previous decision that the area south of Bonita Avenue should be designated as residential.

Attorney David Naugle, representing the Cornett Ventilating Systems, told the council that his client had no other choice but to start referendum petitions if the council didn't change its previous decision and return the area to manufacturing.

"We are asking for a reconsideration of the general plan amendment. My client is in a situation where he is backed into a corner. This will put Cornett company out of business," Naugle said.

Naugle described the controversial general plan amendment as the "long hot summer issue in San Dimas," and said "this block should be for manufacturing use."

The City Council in July voted 3-2 to designate the area that is bounded by Commercial Street between Cataract Avenue and Monte Vista Avenue and south of Railway Street as residential after many public hearings. Residents in the area want the residential designation.

The two industrial plants in the area, Cornett Ventilation Systems and A and Z Transfer and Storage, Inc., will have 25 years to continue operations but they cannot expand during this period.

City Atty. Norman Oliver ruled that the City Council could send the matter back to the Planning Commission to reopen the entire question of zoning designation for the area. This would mean new public hearings, he said.

But when Councilman Keith Brogan made a motion to send the matter back to the commission, the vote was again split 3-2 with Mayor Jim Lough and Councilmen Marvin Ersher and Ray Miracle voting against and Brogan and Councilman Jim McLean voting for the motion.

Lough said "we could keep this thing going forever. I see no advantage in sending this back to the Planning Commission."

In other action, the council met with Joseph A. Cooper, a transportation planner for the Rapid Transit District, in a study session before the council meeting.

Cooper reviewed plans for possible bus routes through San Dimas and suggested ways the city could finance its own bus system or an RTD system.

He said a bus system would cost $50,000 per bus and that the city would need at least two buses. He suggested financing with assistance from Los Angeles County and the possibility of federal funding.

The council took no action on Cooper's suggestions and will discuss the matter again at a later date.

Immunizations available at health center

Free immunizations against measles, rubella, polio, diphtheria, tetanus, and whooping cough will be available at the Pomona Health Center on Wednesday from 6 to 8 p.m.

All the immunizations, except for rubella, are required by state law for a child's first admission to school unless the immunizations are contrary to the person's beliefs.

Children must be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian. Previous immunization records for the child should also be brought to the health center at the same time.

For information, persons may call 623-6811.

Miss United Crusade named

Pamela Kay Anderson, 21, of Whittier has been named Miss United Crusade for Region 2, embracing the Pomona and San Gabriel valleys.

Miss Anderson will make many appearances on behalf of the United Crusade campaign during the next four months, according to Adm. Charles F. Horne Jr., regional campaign charman.

She will be assisted in her duties by Gloria Allen of Azusa; Christine Bauman of Pomona; Claire Anne Hunnicutt of Pomona; Jeanette Keith of Monrovia; and Bonnie Long of Covina.

I'M HERE!

Opening day of school surprises were in store for more than students this morning at Lincoln School in Pomona. School officials had anticipated only 30 students in this kindergarten class but 52 showed up and the class will be split. But the excited youngsters were unaware of the problem. Officials expected more than 100,000 students would return to classes today at schools throughout the valley.

Alarm trips burglar suspect

Sheriff's deputies said they caught a man inside the burglarized Pinnacle Peak restaurant, 269 W. Foothill Blvd., in San Dimas Monday.

Deputies, responding to an alarm, said that after they arrived they heard pounding inside the building. When they entered they reported finding James Michael Flemming, 20, of Covina inside, hiding under a dining table in the main dining room.

Investigators said a window had been broken to gain entrance and a sledgehammer had been used in an attempt to break open the cash register.

Flemming was booked on suspicion of burglary.

Rotary Club to hear Demo--press style

The La Verne Rotary Club will use a "Meet the Press" format Thursday noon to find out more about Jim Lloyd, the Democratic candidate for Congress from the 35th District.

Lloyd will be questioned by L.T. Rogers, assistant city editor of the Progress-Bulletin, and Martin Weinberger, publisher of the Claremont Courier, as to his views on political issues.

The luncheon will be at the Castaway Restaurant.

Library slates 'Red Balloon' for youngsters

"The Red Balloon" is one of three children's films scheduled for screening at 11 a.m. Saturday at the Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan Association, Charemont, and sponsored by the Claremont Public Library.

Also featured are "Legend of Johnny Appleseed," and "A Visit from Space." Children's librarian Martha Ainsworth said the program should last about an hour.

The pre-school children's reading program will resume on Tuesdays at 11 a.m. at the library, 1375 N. Indian Hill Blvd., Claremont. The program is open to youngsters 3 to 5.

Hawk sets off grass fire

Pomona firemen say a red-tailed hawk apparently started a small grass fire Monday morning in a field at the Corona Expressway and Dudley Street when the bird hit a high tension wire.

The bird, with a four-foot wing span, tried to light on a metal cross wire. Firemen said its huge wings apparently caught on fire when the bird was jolted with the electric voltage. It fell dead in the open field below the lines and ignited the field.

About a quarter of an acre of grass burned before firemen arrived and put out the fire.

City to mull appeal for fair banners

A letter from the Los Angeles County Fair Association questioning denial of a request for a banner advertising the county fair will be considered by the Claremont City Council at tonight's meeting at 7:30.

Pasadena Decorating Co. had asked permission to hang a banner at Harvard Avenue and Second Street to advertise the fair. The council at its Aug. 13 meeting denied the request by a 3-1 vote, with Councilman Frank Hungerford voting for the banner.

Secretary-manager Phil D. Shepherd of the fair association told the council in a letter that it must have good reasons for the denial, but added that the association Board of Directors felt that Claremont should be apprised of the advantages the fair "holds for the entire community including the City of Claremont."

Shepherd stressed that during 1973 Claremont residents and businesses received more than $230,000 in salaries, wages, goods and services as direct labor or purchases by the fair.

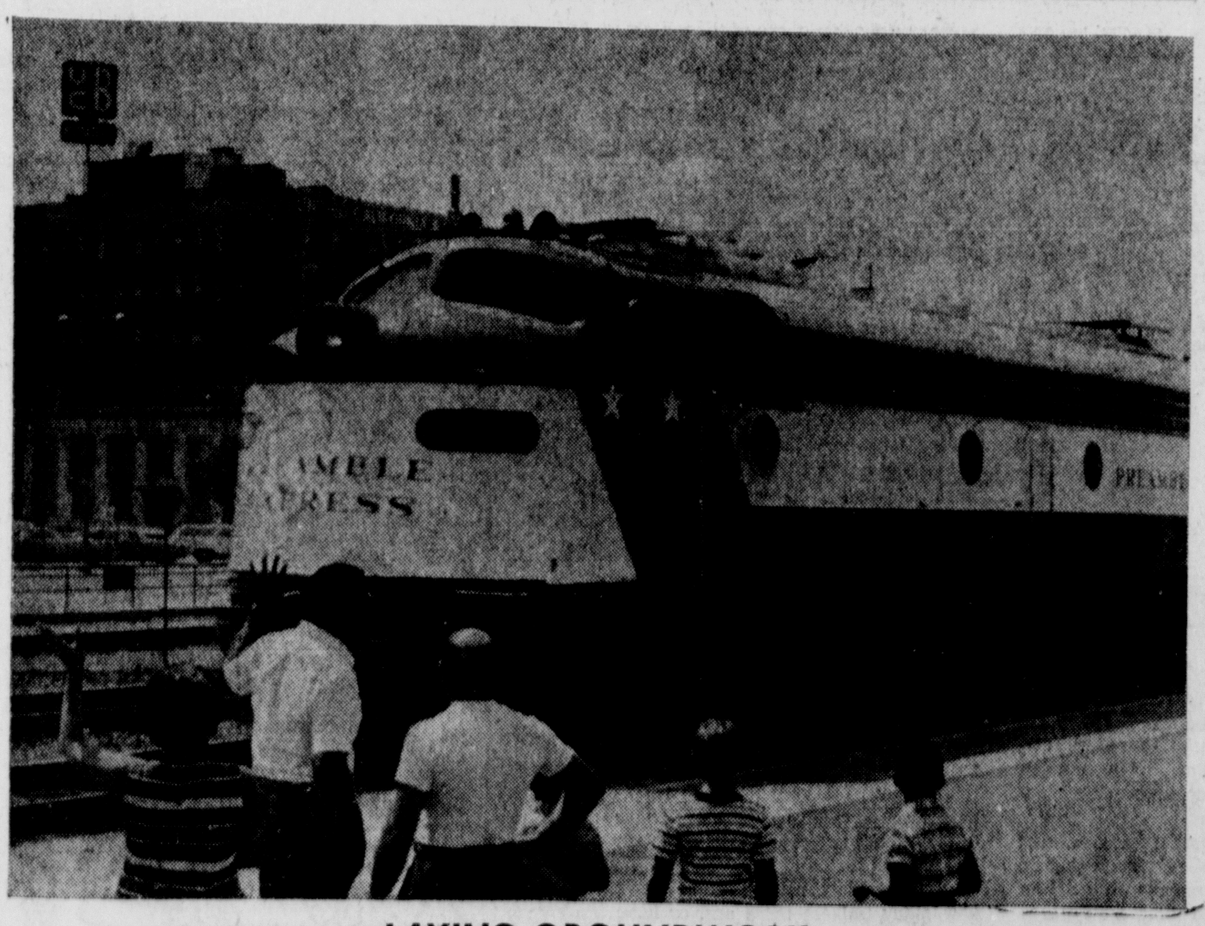

Sixty Claremont residents were employed by the fair association either fulltime or during the fair, Shepherd said.

He also pointed out that the fair during its 17-day run "completely fills" Rodeway Inn, Howard Johnson's and Griswold's, which is a definite tax revenue to the city.

"We realize you have every right to do this," Shepherd said. "However, we intend to ask your honorable body's permission to hang banners next year in the hopes you will look at the fair as a civic activity with some advantages to Claremont."

Also on the agenda for council consideration is a request from City Manager Keith Mulrooney that a separate job classification for city clerk be established.

Presently the deputy city manager is also the city clerk, but deputy city clerk Barbara Hallamore already is performing most of the duties usually assigned to a city clerk, Mulrooney said.

LAYING GROUNDWORK

The red, white and blue Preamble Express, a pilot train for the American Freedom Train, part of the U.S. Bicentennial celebration, passed through Pomona Monday. The diesel-powered train is making a preliminary run over the route to be traveled by the freedom train beginning next year. The American Freedom Train will travel a 17,000-mile route, visiting 76 cities over a 21-month period. The Preamble Express is carrying a group of specialists planning the tour. The steam-powered freedom train will have 10 display cars exhibiting historical artifacts and memorabilia selected by noted historians.

New assistant joins chamber

Sean Harker, 26, of West Covina has joined the staff at Claremont Chamber of Commerce and Convention Bureau as an administrative assistant.

Harker holds a degree in business administration and psychology at Santa Clara University.

Harker will be handling such activities as the Claremont Colleges' student welcome street dance Oct. 5 from 8 to 11 p.m. on Bonita Avenue between Harvard and Yale avenues, and the setting up of a Business Booster Book to help promote Claremont businesses and defray the costs of Christmas decorations.

Harker envisions the book as selling for $5 with coupons and such from 25 local businesses.

HEARTLINE

800-543-2393

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions—fast. It costs you nothing. Call Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. or write Heartline, 8514 North Main St., Dayton, Ohio, 45415. Remember, Heartline pays for all calls on its toll-free number . . . 800-543-2393.

Heartline: I am on disability Social Security. My daughter is under 18 and is drawing also. She wants to work this summer. Will her income affect my Social Security? — W. T.

Answer: No, but if she makes over $2,400, it will affect hers.

Heartline: Don't you think it's about time Social Security raised the maximum lump sum death benefit? The $225 will just about buy the flowers. — B. W.

Answer: The lump sum death benefit cannot be increased unless the Congress passes legislation and the President signs it into law. Any increase in the benefit would increase Social Security costs, and could result in an increase in the amount of contributions you pay.

Heartline: I'm on Champva, the VA program, and I am 76 years old. Will Champva help pay for eyeglasses? — M.K.

Answer: Champva will not cover eyeglasses or examinations for correction of ordinary refractive error.

Heartline: I called Social Security and asked for information about the gold check program. The young girl down there was rude to me and said she never heard of it., — G. W.

Answer: Right color. Wrong name. Call back and ask about Supplemental Security Income (SSI). They will be able to help you.

Heartline: If I get disability from the railroad and I'm only 54 years old, do I receive my full benefits the same as if I retired at age 65? — B. A.

Answer: Yes, you receive full benefits at any age under railroad retirement for disability.

Saturday Review at 50 looks ahead

Any magazine that survives to celebrate its 50th anniversary in these inflationary and rapidly changing times deserves congratulations. When the anniversary comes only a year after the magazine was in bankruptcy and seemed headed the way of so many others, the event is especially noteworthy.

The Saturday Review of Literature first saw the light of print as a weekly magazine on August 2, 1924, with Henry Seidel Canby, editor, and Amy Loveman, William Rose Benet and Christopher Morley, assistant editors, Readership was 23,000 and the price 10 cents per copy.

Through boom, bust and then depression, the Review struggled along, scarcely expanding its modest circulation but remaining true to the standards its editors originally set for it. Young writers now considered classic names in America literature were introduced in its pages — Hemingway, Dos Passos, Steinbeck and others. Bernard DeVoto became editor in 1936 and was succeeded by George Stevens in 1938. In 1940, 25-year-old Norman Cousins joined the staff as executive editor and shortly became editor.

In 1952, the name was shortened to Saturday Review in keeping with the magazine's greatly expanded coverage, which by then included weekly sections on music, theater, films and travel as well as increasingly respected editorials by Cousins. By 1964, circulation had risen to 400,000.

Cousins also initiated a number of humanitarian programs that gained worldwide attention. Among them was the "Hiroshima Maidens" project in 1955, which brought a group of young women disfigured by the atomic bombing to this country for plastic and other medical treatment.

Then in 1971 new publishers took over the Review and split it into four specialized monthly magazines and a series of book clubs. "In philosophical and professional disagreement" with the new owners, Cousins resigned and successfully launched his own magazine called World.

Early in 1973, Saturday Review filed for bankruptcy and Cousins was asked back to reorganize the magazine and resume full editorial control. The first biweekly issue of a combined Saturday Review-World hit the newstands in September, 1973, with a circulation of 850,000.

A year later, at a party held to mark the magazine's golden anniversary, Cousins announced that it was in the black. To celebrate, the Review in August published two bulging issues, one retrospective of the first 50 years, the other looking ahead to the next 50, with experts in a number of fields forecasting changes that lie ahead.

"If we were still three years from Lindbergh's flight to France when the Saturday Review of Literature first appeared," the editors asked, "and we are now walking on the moon, how far will we reach in the next 50 years — in 2054?"

If there is still a Saturday Review-World then — and the first 50 years are the hardest — its faithful readers will know the answer.

'Freedom pirates'

HONG KONG — (LENS) — The Chinese have not yet said a word about the third time in two months that a fishing junk has been hijacked by organized groups of escapees from China to Hong Kong.

Although only the first of the three junks was a Chinese Communist vessel, the other two, Hong Kong-owned, were registered for fishing rights in Chinese waters. In order to retain these dual licenses, their captains will undoubtedly report to Canton the circumstances of the piracy by bands of "freedom-swimmers" who forced them to sail to Hong Kong.

This new escape route could become an embarrassment to Britain because a valid protest by China and a demand for the return of the pirates would challenge Hong Kong's tradition of sanctuary. The Hong Kong authorities will breathe a prayer of relief if the reinforced Communist gunboat patrols prevent further hijackings.

The tide of unwanted "freedom-swimmers" to Hong Kong is rising — 3,500 have been detained and released by the police in the past seven months, an increase of nearly a third over the same period last year, and probably only a third of the actual total of illegal entrants.

The number of elderly, disgruntled, useless mouths officially allowed by China to enter Hong Kong is still more than double the old unofficial limit of 50 a day.

Clearly is still suits the Chinese to avoid any showdown over British sanctuary for escapees, be they "freedom-swimmers" or "freedom-pirates".

Army recruiters enlisting men who would fail to meet draft standards

WASHINGTON — A beaming "Bo" Callaway, the secretary of the Army, boasted to Congress last month that enlistment in the all-volunteer Army "is a success story that has surpassed even our most optimistic hopes."

He neglected to mention that the Army has been signing on men with physical defects, psychiatric disorders, police records and other handicaps that would have disqualified them from the draft.

Army recruiters having knowingly enlisted convicts on probation, concealed police records, instructed applicants to hide their ailments and permitted substitutes to take exams for unqualified applicants. Doctors have even been paid off allegedly to pass enlistees who are physically unfit.

One recruiting sergeant has reported that his superior officer ordered him to use "every means available to put men into the Army" or he "could forget about his Army career." The sergeant told investigators he had been instructed "on methods of obtaining false police record checks and forging birth verifications."

If these practices are as widespread as they appear, the result could be a dangerously sub-standard Army. On top of this, preliminary findings also indicate that millions have been misspent on the Pentagon's massive advertising for volunteers.

We reported on May 4, 1973, that recruiters, under pressure to meet enlistment quotas, were signing up military misfits. In Wisconsin, we disclosed, the Army had taken on "recruits with organic heart disease, psychiatric disorders, epilepsy and even a couple with missing trigger fingers."

Subsequently, investigations were ordered of recruiting violations across the country. We have now obtained an inch-thick sheaf of investigative reports, most of them classified. These indicate that the Army is sitting on a mushrooming scandal.

The investigative reports and sworn statements describe, for example, how recruiters tried to slip convicted felons through the screening process.

In one case, a recruiting sergeant signed up an enlistee who "had been arrested for stealing a car in Cleveland." The sergeant "instructed" the recruit to conceal the fact of his arrest when he enlisted." Another was told "to conceal the fact that (he) was on probation for receiving stolen goods."

An Army employe, who screens enlistments, testified that "the major malpractice centered around false police record checks . . . I have come across police record checks which listed offenses . . . The applicants would be rejected for moral reasons and sent back to the recruiting stations . . . Many times, the applicants returned the next day with police record checks which did not list their offenses, and the applicants were then enlisted into the Army."

One technique used by the recruiters to obtain a clean police record, my reporter Chris Torem learned, was to send in only part of a man's name. Once the clean record came back, the rest of the name could be safely filled in.

Maj. Gen. William B. Fulton, the top general in the U.S. Army Recruiting Command at Fort Sheridan, Ill., sent an urgent message to his regional commands on August 6, describing the "go to jail or join the Army" problem as "very serious."

"I want you to insure that every member of the recruiter force is reminded again," he instructed, "that the enlistment rules . . . preclude enlistment processing when an applicant is disqualified because of a pending charge or active probation parole.

The oil 'giants'--there aren't any

And when it happens during a "political year" you can hardly expect Congress to blame itself, so the easiest target on which to ventilate your vituperation is the "giants" of the oil industry.

"They created a shortage of oil and gasoline just so they could raise prices."

The "oil giants" are blamed for manipulating prices, but there haven't been any "oil giants" since 1911.

That was the year the Standard Oil trust was fragmented into competing companies.

Today there are more than 40,000 individual oil companies, including 10,000 engaged just in drilling and producing oil.

In refining, 125 companies operate more than 250 refineries.

In marketing, there are more than 15,000 independent wholesalers.

There are more than 200,000 gasoline retailers in the United States, and more than 90 per cent of them are "independent." Only 10 per cent are "company owned."

There are no giants any more. Petroleum is one of our nation's "least" concentrated" industries. No one company controls more than 10 per cent of any segment of the industry.

Exxon is the largest of the domestic petroleum companies, and it controls less than 10 per cent of our nation's production and less than 9 per cent of our refining capacity.

Exxon supplies only 8 per cent of our nation's gasoline, and most of it — MOST of it — is marketed by independent dealers.

An 8 per cent share of the total market is hardly a "monopoly."

But suspicion suggests, "What's to keep a bunch of oil companies from getting their heads together and conspiring to increase prices?"

If nothing else would prevent such collusion, antitrust laws would. But more significant is the fact that, if you could get our eight largest oil companies thus to conspire, they would control less than 60 per cent of our domestic supply.

All those other guys would chew them up alive. Example:

If the so-called "giants" wanted to manipulate prices, they'd need only conspire to squeeze their competitors out of business. On the contrary, in the last 10 years the retail gasoline sales of the smaller companies—the private brand marketers — have grown far more rapidly than those of the majors.

Profits: Last year, profits of the 16 major oil companies increased 51 per cent. Profits of the smaller companies increased 87 per cent.

We'll overcome our nation's energy shortage sooner if we stop trying to blame it on nonexistent "giants" and call it what it is: worldwide inflation. Indeed, since 1960 the price of gasoline has increased 27 per cent while consumer prices generally have increased 53 per cent.

Gasoline prices over the past 14 years have increased half as fast as the prices of other things. It's catch-up time.

Now let's stop fussing among ourselves and get on with finding more oil or developing something better.

Delegates deny population crisis

LONDON (LENS) — This is World Population Year; and there is a lot of it about.

When Kurt Waldheim, the United Nations Secretary-General, opened the World Population Conference in Bucharest, he pointed out that during its 12-day session the planet's inhabitants would grow by a number equal to twice the city's population.

Undaunted, many of the 149 governmental delegations turned down, or simply chose to ignore, the arguments for a new worldwide campaign to prevent the world's population doubling over the next 35 years — as it will, if present trends go unchecked.

In the draft "plan of action" offered at Bucharest by the UN secretariat, it was claimed that a "majority of the world's people live in countries whose governments are attempting, as a matter of urgency, to reduce significantly their rates of population growth." But the delegates didn't appear to be listening.

The spokesman for India and other countries that are already trying to encourage birth control wanted the richer nations to do their bit towards easing the strains on world resources by curbing limitless consumption.

Revealingly, Argentina and the Soviet bloc states, which are trying to boost their birthrates for military reasons in a style once associated with Nazi Germany, were conspicuous champions of amendments intended to purge the draft text of references to the population explosion or to targets for the reduction of growth rates.

Almost grotesquely, the Chinese, while claiming that their own population had risen from 550 million to 800 million since 1950, accused both superpowers of having sinister motives for talking about "the so-called population crisis."

In point of fact, nobody really knows how many Chinese there are, or have been; but an enlightening feature of Bucharest's parallel nongovernmental conference last week was a Finnish obstetrician's account of the strict disciplines that are now being used to curb China's birthrate quite as effectively as would any of the proposals that Huang Shu-tse was denouncing in the governmental conference.

Just in jest

Here suddenly America seems to be wallowing knee deep in nostalgia. But who is it that is doing most of the yearning for the yummy yesterdays? Check carefully and you will come up with an amazing answer. In ninety percent of the cases the young folks throughout the land are the ones who find the thought of those yesterdays so enticing. I use the word "thought" rather than "memory" purposely; for certainly those mooning youngsters aren't old enough to have had any first hand knowledge of the good old days. And so, to help them better understand what they are doing all the nostalgic sighing for, I shall today point out a few of the things that supposedly made those good old days so wonderful for the kids who are now their grandfathers and grandmothers.

There was the daily half hour chore of hand pumping water up into the tank over the kitchen roof so there would be running water in the house.

There was morning and evening cow milking and the joy of driving Bossy to and from the pasture before and after school.

Anyone unfortunate enough to have older brothers or sisters enjoyed the distinct privilege of finally getting to use what was left on the teakettle heated bath water after the rest of the brood had all completed their Saturday night ablutions.

And certainly none of us will ever forget being forced to take codliver oil for almost everything that ailed us.

Many will also vividly recall what great good fun it was to have to walk 3 miles to and from school each day.

Then there were the Saturday morning chores which boys and girls must always finish before being allowed the afternoon off for recreation. —While the girls were helping their mothers do the family washing, using scrub boards and hand operated clothes wringers, the boys were cleaning out the chicken house. Every other week it was also a boy's job to pull out the trough-like container from under the family 3-holer, empty and bury the contents on the back yard garden, sprinkle the container with ashes and lye, and then carefully slide it back in place under the outhouse, making sure it was lined up correctly for the three holes above.

But enough of such nostalgic joys! Why should I further fan the flames of youthful longing? Let the dead past bury its dead, I say. Instead of indulging in wishful thinking about the good old days, what today's young folks should be doing is creating their own nostalgia.

RAY CROMLEY

How controls led to more inflation

There's a reason. New industrial surveys show just how much of our trouble today dates back to Mr. Nixon's attempt to regulate what companies could charge for their products.

Price controls at home when prices were soaring abroad led producers to sell greater quantities of scarce meaterials in the world market. Especially serious were exports of chemicals; aluminum, iron and steel scrap; petrochemicals; steels; copper electrical equipment, and heat exchangers.

For imported materials the situation was equally bleak. Foreign producers of zinc, manganese and other important basics naturally sold where they could get premium prices. That was not the U.S. market.

Price controls, combined in some cases with stringent anti pollution requirements where costs could not be passed on, reduced profits to a point where numbers of marginal firms were forced out of business, further reducing supplies. The annual smelter production of zinc dropped from 1.4 million tons a few years back to 600,000. Between 1970 and 1973, 300 small foundries went out of business. Shutdowns of aluminum, coke and glass plants have been reported.

The low profit margins, some again affected by antipollution regulations, led other firms to delay indefinitely expansion of their capacity. The range here reads like a roster of basic industry — caustic soda, chlorine, alloys, petrochemicals, titanium, tungsten, steel, aluminum, pulpwood, salt, soda ash, iron castings, manganese and on and on and on.

And finally, these controls led many companies to cut back or halt production of key items where profit margins were low and shift to heavier output of goods where more money could be made under the regulations. There were cutbacks in titanium, in key specialty alloys, some structural steel shapes and bars and railroad wheels (which intensified the shortage of railway rolling stock, leading in turn to other shortages).

Overall, there were important shortages in 63 critical materials, shortages which fed one on another to hold back production throughout U.S. industry as demand increased sharply at home and abroad.

Static production and increased demand resulted in the agonizing inflation we now face. Economists call it demand-pull inflation.

Price controls were not the sole cause of shortages and inflation, to be sure. As noted above, the sudden unrestrained financial demands of environmentalism (a most worthy cause) soaked up multimillions in scarce moneys and supplies required for industrial expansion — and boosted costs.

On agenda for homeowners group

Incorporation, commercial growth, officers

Reports on incorporation, commercial development and new officer nominations will be presented at a meeting of the Diamond Bar Homeowners Association Sept. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Diamond Bar Country Club.

Publicity chairman G. S. Rose said that Jim Cansler, county deputy director of parks, also will outline preliminary plans for the development of Castle Rock and Sycamore Canyon parks.

Rose said that the association's Study Committee on Incorporation, headed by Don Stokes, is receiving assistance from Prof. William C. Warner of the Department of Urban Planning at Cal Poly and that Warner would speak "on the matter" at the meeting.

Incorporation has been discussed in Diamond Bar quite extensively for the past several years. The study of incorporation was placed second on a list of five goals for 1974 by the association's officers.

The only goal ahead of the incorporation study was the study of public transportation. This need partially has been met by the decision of the Pomona school board this year to supply bus transportation for the some 475 pupils in North Diamond Bar who attend Ganesha High School in Pomona.

A representative from Creative Financial Corp. II will display maps and drawings of the commercial development being planned on the northwest corner of Diamond Bar Boulevard at Golden Springs Road.

Rose said there is a possibility a bowling alley may be included in the development and he asked residents desiring that recreation facility to write the homeowners at P.O. Box 4085, Diamond Bar 91765 and state their views.

"We would like to know the number of teams in each respective league, how often they bowl and how many lines they bowl per week or per month," Rose said. "All those interested in having a bowling alley in Diamond Bar should come to the meeting."

Rose said the association's nominating committee is compiling a list of names of individuals to be nominated to serve as officers during 1975. Additional names may be nominated by the general membership and should be submitted in writing to the nominating committee by Nov. 5.

Each name submitted by a member must be accompanied by a petition signed by five members and the written consent of the nominee, Rose said. Nominations cannot be accepted from the floor at the general membership meeting on Nov. 19, when elections will be held.

Only association members may be nominated. However, Rose said anyone not now a member wishing to run for office may send a $3 membership fee with his or her consent.

The county has accepted dedication of 4.53 acres adjacent to the Castle Rock School in South Diamond Bar and an additional 50.11 acres adjacent to the existing Sycamore Canyon Park to be developed as park land in Diamond Bar.

The price tag on the two sites was set by the county engineering staff at $255,000. In return for the land, the county agreed to reimburse Diamond Bar Development Corp. up to $165,000 for site work in Sycamore Canyon, and up to $80,000 for grading at Castle Rock.

Reserve is hoping for 110 members

Pomona Valley Fleet Reserve Association, Branch 211, and the Ladies Auxiliary Fleet Reserve Association, Unit 211, will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the American Legion hall, 13130 S. Central Ave., Chino.

President William Way of Anaheim reported that the branch had 106 shipmates in good standing and hopes that the total will reach 110 at the Wednesday meeting.

Helen Duessent of Chino has been appointed Americansim chairman pro-tem for the Ladies Auxiliary.

Ask Dr. Brothers

Flirting with occult

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My wife and I were shocked to discover that our 15-year-old son has joined a group at school that spends most of its time having seances and calling up demons and devils. I believe most of this nonsense was inspired by endless discussions of Dracula and "The Exorcist," some of which took place in our game room where our son entertains his friends. My wife and I didn't interfere but we couldn't help overhearing these rap sessions about vampires, demons, devils and monsters. In a way it was amusing, but in another way, it seemed a bit sick to me.

I didn't have a Dracula fan club when I was a kid and don't understand this preoccupation with what borders on black magic. I suppose it should be some comfort to learn that this is the big in subject at my son's school so at least he isn't unique in this locality. I wish there were something my wife and I could do to discourage this interest without actually forbidding him to see his friends. — W. E.

Dear W. E.: There seems to be little question that the interest in the occult and the supernatural is something of a fad. Adolescents are not only quick to start fads, but they are equally quick to follow them. Part of the current craze springs from the simple fact that most people enjoy being a little bit scared. Almost everyone enjoys a good mystery and there has always been a fascination about the unknown.

One reason teenagers may be so intrigued with vampires and vampire legends is that they share some of their mental problems. According to Dr. Lawrence Kayton, psychiatrist, vampires probably were real people: very likely mentally ill teenagers and young adults.

The vampire legend can be seen as a vivid, visual portrayal of the world of the schizophrenic. This does not imply that your son or his friends share this mental illness, but there are certain aspects of it that strike a chord in some adolescents. Many, for instance, feel alienated. Though they may have a rather close relationship with their parents, they may feel alienated from the rest of society. Many youths are using the occult to oppose what they regard as the irreligious, dehumanized and mechanic culture of our Western society.

The vampire was an essentially unloved creature. According to many psychiatrists, his act of attack was symbolic of his desire for love and affection. The teeth and mouth were used because they served the dual purpose of oral gratification and a means of inflicting pain. According to Dr. Kayton, the sucking of the blood indicates that the legendary vampire wanted to become part of the person he needed and loved.

The legendary vampire slept in the coffin, another indication that he wanted to be loved, cradled, protected and comforted. He roamed by night and slept by day and cast no reflection in the mirror. These are all symbolic expressions of behavior and feelings that many present-day schizophrenics display. Not casting an image in the mirror means that the schizophrenic feels no one recognizes him, he doesn't recognize himself and he feels he doesn't really exist.

A large part of the young person's fascination with the Dracula legend is an unconscious expression of his own need for love and reassurance. Adolescence is the time when most youngsters go through a period of wondering who they are and if they are. This is called an identity crisis. Generally, as the youngster matures, he becomes more sure of himself and the phase passes.

Your son may become bored with this fad after a short time, but giving him more affection and love might help him to lose interest.

Portz-Huston nuptials read at St. Joseph's

The Rev. Gus Carter officiated at the marriage of Miss Cindy Lynn Huston and Norm J. Portz Jr. in St. Joseph Catholic Church.

The daughter of Worth M. Huston of San Juan Capistrano was given in marriage by her father. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Portz of Montclair.

The bride wore an A-line gown of imported organza with an empire bodice trimmed with chantilly lace on the bodice, skirt and long sleeves. The skirt swept to a ruffle-edge train. The bride's fingertip veil was a silk illusion.

Serving as best man was Paul Sutcliffe while Gene and John Portz ushered.

A reception at the Pomona American Legion Hall feted the newlyweds who honeymooned along the coastline of California. They will reside in Ontario.

Wood and Smith vows exchanged in church

The Rev. Neil O'Dwyer performed the marriage ceremony for Miss Deborah Gail Smith and Robert Charley Wood in Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church, Claremont.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Smith of Claremont and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Wood of West Covina were united in double-ring, morning rites.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of chantilly lace and English net fashioned with a high neck, yoke and sleeves of lace. The skirt ended in a train of lace. A half bonnet of chantilly lace with rosettes of tiny seed pearls held the bride's short net veil.

During the ceremony, Debra Shepard read a selection from "The Prophet" and Al Leland, uncle of the groom, read from the New Testament.

Miss Gwen Rust was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Shawn Conner, San Carlos, Miss Kit Dunseth, Claremont, Mrs. Michelle Metz, West Covina, and Miss Debra Shepard, Anchorage, Alaska.

Miss Sara McManigal handled the guest book.

Spencer Metz of West Covina was best man. Ushers were Jack Ferrero and Lance Fowler, West Covina, Jim Seccombe, La Verne; and Greg Smith, Claremont.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood will reside in San Diego while the groom continues his education at the University of San Diego Law School.

Mr. Wood graduated from Edgewood High School in West Covina and Cal Poly, Pomona.

The bride is a graduate of Claremont High School and Lewis and Clark College in Portland, Ore., where she received a B.S. degree in sociology.

Dear Editor: burgers cost $2 in Alaska

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Secretary of Labor has written "Dear Editor" letters to call to their attention the price of a hamburger in Alaska.

The thrust of his memorandum was that job seekers should be encouraged to avoid Alaska.

"A good many workers are being lured to Alaska by stories of high paying jobs on the oil pipeline, only to find no work and great hardship when they get there," according to the secretary, Peter Brennan.

"No one seeking work should go to Alaska without a job commitment in writing from an employer before leaving home," he said.

"Alaska is a grand and beautiful state, but it is no place to be a stranger and stranded without a job," he said. "A hamburger, for instance, costs $2 or more and a milkshake about $1.60.

"Whatever you can do through your paper to get this information to the workers in your community who may be considering seeking jobs in Alaska will be of great service in preventing hardships for them and additional problems for the state of Alaska," he concluded.

U.S. jobless rate creeps up slightly

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's unemployment rate remained relatively stable during August, creeping up only slightly to 5.4 per cent, the Labor Department said recently.

The August rate was up from the July figure of 5.3 per cent, which has been the level for most of 1974. The Labor Department said 86.2 million persons were employed during August, virtually unchanged for the past two months.

The unemployment rate for August translates to about 4.9 million Americans out of work. Economists meeting at the White House Thursday predicted that next year the unemployment rate would reach 6 per cent.

During August, the unemployment rates for adult women, whites, blacks, household heads and married men showed little or no change. The Labor Department also reported that average weekly hours in the private non-farm sector of the economy turned down slightly to 36.7 in August, compared to 36.8 in July.

The unemployment rate has risen 0.8 per cent from last October's low level of 4.6 per cent.

The brunt of the increased unemployment in August appeared to be carried by young men ages 20 to 24 years old and workers 55 years old and over.

Among the young men, the unemployment rate in August rose from 8.1 to 9.3 per cent. Older men have had increasing unemployment rates for three straight months, moving from 2.3 per cent in May to 3.2 per cent in August.

The unemployment rate for teenagers in August was 15.3 per cent, down slightly from the 16.2 per cent level recorded in July.

The Labor Department said the labor force was 91.1 million, relatively unchanged since the beginning of the year although 2.3 million larger than a year ago.

WCTU begins 2nd century, wants prohibition again

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Declaring even the smell of alcohol "lures the individual toward the alcoholic habit," the new president of the Woman's Christian Temprance Union has vowed to stamp out alcohol in recipes as well as at social events.

"People always give the line that during cooking, the alchol evaporates," said the group's new president, Mrs. Herman Stanley of Evanston, Ill. "But we're trying to show that there's no need to use alcohol in cooking. The thing that lures the individual toward the alcoholic habit is the smell and taste buds involved.

"The taste of the beverage, even with the alcohol gone, is treacherous."

Mrs. Stanley said on the last day of the WCTU's 100th anniversary convention, as it enters its second century, that the events of the first century are repeating themselves.

"It took 56 years for our organization to reach our goal of ultimate prohibition," Mrs. Stanley said, referring to the union's early days. "Now we are finding the same wedges on which to build toward our goal again."

She said Prohibition in 1920 came about through passage of laws at local levels that forced communities to turn dry. It was then that the Congress felt the desires of their consitutuents to prohibit alcohol. "We're working to get those local laws passed all over again," Mrs. Stanley said.

The WCTU has pledged to destroy detrimental factors in society which lead to "moral decadence," Mrs. Stanley said. Those evils include alcohol, drugs, gambling and tobacco, she said.

"We are stressing purity, the sanctity of the home and the sacredness of marriage," she said. "We must start in the home with young mothers and homemakers so their influence of complete abstinence can be passed on to their young."

Spaghetti war

ROME (UPI) — Italy's pasta price war threatened today to produce a countrywide spaghetti shortage.

Industry Minister Ciriaco Demita ruled this week that pastamakers could have a price hike but he allowed them only half their demand, authorizing a 23 per cent increase.

The spokesman said the increase from 53 to 65 cents for 2.2 pounds was not enough. The producers had demanded a 76-cent price.

Sikkim protest

KATMANDU (UPI) — Mobs of students attacked Indian institutions in Katmandu this week in the third consecutive day of protests against New Delhi's reduction of the neighboring kingdom of Sikkim to an "associate state" of India.

Police said gangs of chanting students hurled stones at the Indian Information Office in the Nepalese capital and attacked Indian businesses.

There were no reports of injuries or arrests after police broke up the demonstrations.

Sexual law reform group urges age of consent cut to 14

LONDON (UPI) — The Sexual Law Reform Society has recommended that Britain lower the legal age of consent to 14, classify rape and incest as assault and eliminate all legal discrimination against homosexual behavior.

The report by an eight-member committee also recommended repeal of laws restricting pornography and the legalization of brothels.

The group of lawyers and doctors headed by former Labor party member of parliament, Dr. David Kerr, prepared the report.

The report said the present legal age of consent for girls of 16 was arbitrary and had no biological justification.

Driving test was test for tester

SHELTON, Wash. (UPI) — State Motor Vehicle Licensing Examiner John Perry gave Homer Painter, 82, a driving test. It turned out to be a test of Perry's nerves.

Police said Painter narrowly missed a parked car at the start of the test. Then, officers said, the candidate ran over a sidewalk divider and hit another parked auto.

Thieu seeking pact with Reds

SAIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu has launched a secret campaign to negotiate a peace pact with the Communists to replace the faltering accord that extricated the United States from Vietnam, diplomatic sources said today.

The sources said Thieu has sent two top aides to Indonesia with orders to try to negotiate a true peace agreement by the end of 1974, but it was unclear whether the Communists have agreed to the talks.

Diplomats said Indonesian President Suharto has promised to act as an intermediary between visiting South Vietnamese aides and local Communist diplomats.

Thieu recently ordered his battlefield commanders to attack only in self-defense or to recover recently lost territory as a goodwill gesture, the sources said.

Fire destroys car and garage

A resident of Hacienda Heights lost his garage and a car in a fire there Sunday morning.

Five fire engines fought the fire, which was reported at 6:40 a.m. Sunday.

The home of Al Chang at 15351 La Subida Dr., valued at $33,000, was damaged and his garage destroyed in the blaze. Inside the garage were his car, a freezer and other utilities, according to firemen at Los Angeles County Fire Station 91 in Rowland Heights.

The garage and its contents was valued at $8,000.

Errant artillery shell hits farm

FT. KNOX, Ky. (UPI) — An artillery shell fired from the cannon of a Kentucky National Guard unit on weekend training Saturday went astry and exploded on a farm about a half-mile from the military reservation. No one was injured.

The eight-inch projectile exploded 500 yards from the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Holsclaw. The home was slightly damaged by the explosion, according to Maj. Jerry Gantt, a spokesman here for the Army.

"We do knot know whether it was human error or mechanical failure," Gantt told UPI. "The artillery battalion commander and Ft. Knox officials are investigating the incident,

Maj. Gantt said a similar incident occurred at the post two months ago.

"A shell from a tank on the range exploded in an isolated area off the southeast boundary of the post," he said.

Inflation hurts health care for pets, people

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — During times of tight money, says a veterinarian, people cut back on health care for their pets —and both animals and veterinarians suffer.

"Veterinary medicine is always one of the hardest hit of the healing sciences during an inflationary or tight money period," said Dr. Mark E. Place, a local veterinarian and a trustee of the Ohio State Veterinary Medical Association.

"In other times a pet owner is more than willing to protect his pet, either because of a dollar investment or an emotional tie.

"But when money is scarce, persons tend to debate paying the necessary money if that sum is large," he added. "If your tooth hurts, you don't hesitate saying to the dentist 'Hang the cost. Fix it.' But if it will cost a large amount of money to treat a pet properly, many owners are liable to say, 'Gee doc, I don't know if I can afford that.'"

Place said recent figures indicate the nation's pet population is increasing at an alarming rate but other figures indicate only about half of the nation's pets are ever seen by a veternarian.

"Persons considering buying a pet —especially a dog — should ask themselves just why they want a pet and they should have a reason for buying the animal, whether it be for breeding, showing or a companion or whatever.

"Most importantly, to paraphrase a quotation, don't ask what the dog can do for you, but what you can do for the dog. Give the dog a purpose in life and select the breed for that purpose," Place said.

Place said the most common abuse of pets occurs when money is scarce and the owner treats the pet and the veterinarian as luxuries.

The owner of a sick pet who puts off the trip to the vet "doesn't deserve his animal," said Place

High tolerance

CHESTER LE STREET, England (UPI) — Five women who spent a total of $25.40 on drinks at a pub complained to the Consumer Protection Agency because they woke up the next morning without hangovers.

Tests proved the drinks were not watered down, and consumer protection officer Robert Morrison told the ladies, "some people have far greater capacity for alcohol than others."

C-W stars to perform at Gardens

Several country and western music entertainers will perform at Busch Gardens in Van Nuys Saturday from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. as the entertainment center salutes radio station KLAC on the fourth anniversary of its country music format.

Don Gibson, Wanda Jacksdon, Conway Twitty, Barbi Benton and Grand Junction, Stuart Hamblen, Jerry Naylor and Johnny Bond will appear continuously in three locations at the amphitheater, the Eagle Playhouse and the Lake Theater.

As part of the festivities, a fireworks and music show will be held at 9:30 p.m. in the central lagoon saluting KLAC and "Americana." This will be highlighted by a birthday cake fashioned in fireworks.

KLAC radio personalities Harry Newman, Art Nelson, Jay Lawrence, Chuck Sullivan and Larry Scott will participate in the festivities.

In conjunction with the program, KLAC will originate the Art Nelson and Jay Lawrence shows live from Busch Gardens, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday.

Tickets purchased in advance at Ticketron, Liberty or Mutual agencies are $6. Admission is $7.50 at the gate for the country music show.

W.E. Opera starts work on 'Tosca'

The West End Opera Company will have its first chorus rehearsal for Puccini's "Tosca" at Chaffey High School at 7:30 tonight. All singers are invited to attend. Further information can be obtained at 982-3149. William Waggener conducts the chorus.

The West End Opera Association is now holding its annual membership drive. The season will include "Tosca" in November and Johann Strauss' "Die Fledermaus" next April. The productioons will be fully staged and costumed and accompanied by a 40-piece orchestra.

New and renewal memberships can be obtained by calling Grace Richards, membership chairman; at 987-1586.

WILLARD PALMER

Music editor to lecture at Pierce's

Dr. Willard Palmer, chief of the editorial staff of Alfred Music Co., will discuss the styles of performances of music by 18th and 19th century composers in a free lecture-demonstration for valley music teachers at Ralph Pierce Music, Pomona, at 9 a.m. Friday.

Palmer has edited more than 40 collections of piano works of the great composers. As a graduate student on scholarship at the University of Leipzig, Germany, he became interested in the study of manuscripts and early editions of works of the classic composers. He dedicated himself to discovering the composer's true intent which had not been carried out because of incorrect or misguided editing in so many of the published editions. He continued his research for many years as a faculty member at the University of Houston.

Palmer has given piano recitals in Carnegie Hall and Town Hall, New York, and has appeared as a concert artist and lecturer throughout the United States, Canada and Europe.

The lecture-demonstration will be of interest to students and teachers of the music of the 18th and 19th centuries. Reservations can be made at 623-5525.

JOHNNY CASH, king of country-western music, will perform at Swing Auditorium, San Bernardino, at 8 p.m. Sept. 19 and at the Anaheim Convention Center at 8:30 p.m. Sept. 21. The show will feature Rosey and Rosanne, "The Darlin' Cash Daughters."

Zahn is a late-blooming surprise

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

ATLANTA — The Dodgers were well aware of their fine crop of young ball players.

But Geoff Zahn is proving to be a late-blooming surprise.

The 27-year-old rookie (he'll be 28 in December) hurled his first complete major league game Monday night as the Dodgers rolled to an easy 8-1 win over the Atlanta Braves.

Zahn did not allow an earned run as the Dodgers remained 3½ games ahead of Cincinnati and evened season competition with the Atlantans at 7-7.

Zahn (3-4) gave up only four scattered hits and two were of the infield variety. He walked four and struck out two. Marty Perez beat out an infield hit in the fourth. Dusty Baker cracked a double in the sixth inning. Pinch-hitter Craig Robinson beat out an infield hit in the seventh and venerable Henry Aaron singled in the eighth.

"It feels great that's all I can say," Zahn grinned. "I've pitched a lot of consistent games, but haven't had a lot of runs before. This is sure a great feeling."

It's been a long road for the 6-1, 180-pound lefthander from Baltimore. Zahn was a fifth-round selection in the secondary phase of the 1968 free-agent draft. He was shuttled up and down and back and forth for six years in the Dodger farm system with stops at Daytona Beach, El Paso, Spokane and spent four seasons at Albuquerque in two different classifications.

"You spend a lifetime getting to the big leagues," he related and for him it has been true. "I'm doing something in my first year up here," he continued. "I wake up in the morning and ask myself if I'm really in a major league pennant race."

Until Tommy John hurt his arm, the best way to describe the frequency of Zahn's appearances is rarely and not at all.

"I don't try to think of Tommy John or anyone else," Zahn said. "I just trry to go out and do the best I can."

Zahn's best is pretty good. His earned run average now is under two runs per game. But in spite of this he is not sure when he will pitch again.

"I'm not sure I have a spot in the rotation," he admitted. "This is the first time I've come back and started within three days of a start."

The only time Zahn was in trouble Monday night was when the Braves scored their unearned run in the fourth inning.

A walk to lead-off hitter Darrell Evans and Perez' infield hit put two on with nobody out. Baker hit a ball to Steve Garvey at first. Garvey threw to second wildly and Evans scored. It was ruled a fielder's choice and an error allowing the run to score.

Zahn walked Henry Aaron on four pitches to load the bases with nobody out and his immediate future looked very dark. But he got Dave Johnson and Mike Lum on high fouls to Ron Cey and then struck out catcher Vic Correll.

"I felt strong, probably too strong," Zahn related. "That's why my control wasn't as good as it should have been. I'm used to winning because I've won in the minor leagues, but I was beginning to wonder what I had to do here."

It was the "old rookie's" fifth start since his last victory, a 2-1 decision over Houston August 4.

For the fourth straight game on this road trip, the Dodgers jumped out in front. They have done this now five out of the last six games and eight out of the last 11.

In the third inning, an RBI single by Jimmy Wynn and Garvey's two-run homer made it 4-0. The Dodgers added a single run in the seventh when Bill Russell scored on a wild pitch and three in the eighth on singles by Garvey and Tom Paciorek and Ron Cey's home run.

Cey now has 16 home runs and 88 runs batted in. Garvey has 20 round-trippers, 99 RBI's and his 185 hits give him an outside chance at a super 200-hit season.

"I'm getting close," the stocky first baseman said. "I hope I can do it. It's something I've been thinking about for a long time, but I haven't said much about it. This is a season in which I'm really still trying to find out just what I can do."

Cey had remarked only Sunday that he felt he was due for some big outings. Monday the feeling was worn out.

"I've been hitting the ball well for the last two or three weeks," he said. "But I've been coming up an awful lot of times either leading off an inning or with two out. If there isn't anyone on base there is nothing I can do about it. Hitting with two out is an entirely different situation. You have no options. You have to get a hit."

DODGER DATA — Don Sutton (14-9) faces Carl Morton (14-9) in this afternoon's (3 p.m. PDT) windup. Then it's off to San Francisco for two games before returning home to face Cincinnati again Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The Braves are without Ralph Garr who has a leg injury. Garr went nine-for-14 in the last series against Los Angeles and is batting .415 against the Dodgers this season.

Montclair will feel more at home now

He's not — it's for real.

"I've been here for 10 years," he revealed, "and this seems unreal. It's like I'm looking at a mirage."

At the time he made that statement he was standing in the middle of Montclair's new football stadium, a $250,000 complex. Located on the south field at the school, the stadium went under construction in April and was just completed this summer.

It will be christened on Friday, Sept. 20 when the Cavaliers host their 1974 season opener against arch-rival Alta Loma.

"It won't be very significant to the players until the first game," the Montclair skipper pointed out, "but it's very significant to us right now (meaning his coaching staff). And the adults in the community are very enthused about it."

What it all means is that Montclair will no longer have to play its home games on foreign turf. In the past, the Cavs had to take Upland High's field for its home games. But now the only time they'll play on Highlander Fieid will be in visitors' roles.

However, Simpson doesn't think playing on their own field will make much difference in his players' performances.

He also doesn't think it'll make much difference in the attendance at games.

"We've always had a good following here," he commented, "even when we're losing."

And that's been a long time — losing that is.

The Cavs haven't had a winning league season since 1966, when they won the San Antonio League championship with a 7-0 record.

In the past seven years, the Cavaliers have chalked up a record of 12 wins, 35 losses and two ties.

Will this year be any different?

It doesn't look like the Cavs will be overpowering, but they do show some promise. Of course, they can't do much worse than last year (0-6-1).

Brent Jetton will be putting in his second year as starting quarterback for the Cavs, and he'll have a host of quick running backs and fleet receivers backing him up.

Montclair proved that they won't be a pushover this year when it won its division in the passing league at Chaffey College this summer.

And of course, Jetton led the way.

"He's more familiar with the patterns this year," Simpson pointed out. "He knows where to find his secondary receivers now. He really looked good in that passing league."

Jetton also stands out in the company of his teammates. His hair is a little longer than the rest of theirs — not because his hair has grown longer than last year, but because the rest of the team is shorter.

"We have a three-inch limit on hair this year," Simpson said. "We sent out letters to four teams in each of the four divisions of CIF and found out that 14 of the 16 schools have a policy on hair."

So . . . Simpon has added a little discipline to his attack.

"Almost all of the teams which were successful last year had a hair policy," Simpson added. "The only team that didn't that we know of is Monrovia, and they finished second in CIF."

A lot of the Montclair players have gone one step beyond the three-inch limit — wearing crew cuts.

So now Montclair has a new stadium, a veteran quarterback, a little more discipline and a very optimistic outlook for the upcoming season.

Easier to sell programs

Vermeil, Vinci agree

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

UCLA's Dick Vermeil and Cal Poly's Andy Vinci were similar in their thoughts at Monday's Southern California Football Writers' weekly luncheon.

They are new coaches at their respective schools and they both feel successes in the openers is selling their programs to their players.

"It's going to be a lot easier to sell the players about what you can accomplish with good, tough workouts," Vermeil said in discussing UCLA's opening 17-17 tie against Tennessee in Knoxville. "We're very disappointed we didn't win but we gained a lot of confidence. The players now know we're on the right track."

Vinci had the same sentiments in recalling Poly's last-second 13-12 win over Fresno State on the road.

UCLA draws a bye this week with the next game at Iowa on Sept. 21. Poly plays its home opener Saturday night against Southern Utah.

The only other coach present was Wayne Howard, who has the task of rebuilding Long Beach State after a successful career at UC Riverside.

Vermeil enjoys having the bye this week.

"We're tickled to have this bye," the former Rams' assistant explained. "It gives us a chance to go back to the basic fundamentals rather than work for a certain team. From a coaching standpoint, it's a big advantage for us."

Vermeil praised junior quarterback John Sciarra, who set a school total offense record in a game with 390 yards in directing UCLA's new Veer-T attack.

"If there is a quarterback in the United States with a better opening game then Sciarra, I would have to meet him and see the films," Vermeil said. "He is a very good passer and the new offense will help him."

For his sensational game, Sciarra was selected the University Player of the Week. Other weekly honors went to the Rams' defensive end Jack Youngblood, who raced 54 yards for a touchdown after picking up a fumble in the 17-7 win over the 49ers, and Cal State Northridge wide receiver Mike Gunnels, who caught eight passes for 143 yards and two touchdowns in a 17-13 win over the University of San Diego.

Vermeil admitted he was nervous in making his debut as the UCLA head coach.

"I feel much better today than when I spoke to you last week," he said. "I know the team was too tight before the Tennessee game and it reflected how I was. I really believe we will be 25 per cent better when we play Iowa."

Asked about the seven fumbles, Vermeil said the Veer offense sometimes creates more fumbles. "Unless we can get the fumbles out of our offense, we'll be always battling the ties," he added.

In discussing the Fresno win, Vinci said, "We dominated the first half but Fresno came out with fire in the second half and blew us off the field. A mark of a good team is the ability to come back. We were able to do it by driving 95 yards on 14 plays in the final five minutes."

"It was a very physical game, similar to the UCLA-Tennessee contest," Vinci said. "We got a great hit from Rich Gomez (formerly of Mt. San Antonio College) to cause the fumble which started the winning drive."

Vinci praised his kicking team of field goal and extra point specialist Al Crumlish and punter Wayne Gross.

Howard, who built UC Riverside into a small college power in two years, has a tough job in guiding Long Beach to respectability after last year's 1-9-1 record followed by NCAA probation.

The 49ers open their season Saturday afternoon at Northern Illinois and Howard feels it is crucial to do well.

"It's kind of a scary situation," Howard said. "We have to do a good job in our first game. We are starting a better team than some people think. But behind our starters, we are hurting for depth. If anyone is hurt, we'll be scrambling for our lives."

Ali predicting quick KO

PARIS (UPI) — Muhammad Ali buzzed through Paris today on his way to Africa, predicting he may snatch a first round victory in his Sept. 24 world championship fight with George Foreman.

"Tell the French people not to miss this chance," Ali told reporters at Orly Airport. "Go to the cinema early because I might knock him out in the first round. It might be like my second fight against Sonny Liston.

Talking like the Cassius Clay of the 1960s, Ali recited poems for reporters before leaving the United States. In Paris he had no poems, but he said the fight "is the greatest event in the history of the world."

"So I have trained very seriously," he said.

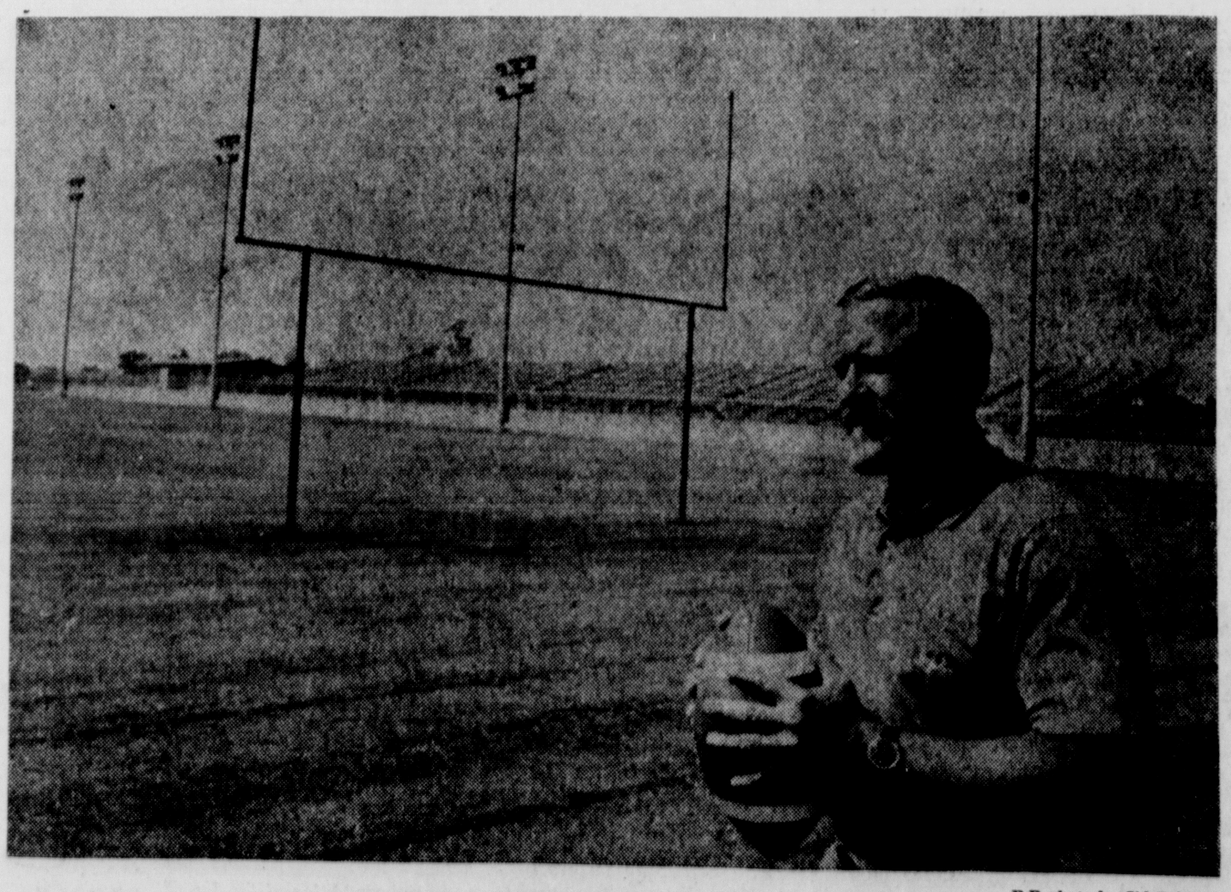

Ali and his party of 35 arrived this morning and were leaving later today for Kinshasha, Zaire, where the fight is being staged.

Angels call up 2 from El Paso

Valaz, 23, led the Texas League with 22 home runs and 111 RBIs this season. Kirkwood, also 23, was 9-4 with a 2.91 ERA.

THE FOURTH ONE

Billie Jean King holds trophy aloft Monday after winning the U.S. Open ladies' crown for the fourth time. She came from behind to defeat Evonne Goolagong, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Connors, King remain dominant

That's the way the U.S. Open tennis championships ended Monday, with Jimmy Connors picking on a poor old man of 39, his own 22-year-old legs and brutal power kicking Ken Rosewall off his turf in a 6-1, 6-0, 6-1 rout, and Billie Jean King, at age 30, barely maintaining her supremacy over Evonne Goolagong, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5.

What did these Australians think they were doing, trying to walk away from Forest Hills with our titles? Didn't they realize Billie Jean never quits, and that Jimmy needs the dough so he and Chris Evert can begin married life in an ivy-coated castle instead of a bungalow?

For Jimmy, disposing of two time champion Rosewall was scarcely difficult. Connors opened at full force, racing through the first four games before a bewildered Rosewall won a game. Casting an occasional grin at Chris where she was seated in a marquee box with her mother-in-law-to-be, Jimmy wiped Ken out, 6-1 in the first set and at love in the second, allowing Rosewall less leeway than he had in his 6-1, 6-1, 6-4 victory over Ken in the Wimbledon final.

In the first two sets, Rosewall gained only 25 points, and when Connors finished his mugging, Rosewall had won only 40 points in the entire match.

Not since the U.S. championships began back in 1881 had a finalist been destroyed so badly. But it was no discredit to Rosewall, who won here in 1954, and again 16 years later, in 1970.

Connors had been denied his shot at the Grand Slam when the French barred him from their championships. But his victory here and at Wimbledon, and his win in the Australian final over Phil Dent, plus his victory in the U.S. Clay Court final over Bjorn Borg, stamp him as the undisputed ruler of world tennis.

Now Jimmy wants one more "for the hell of it." He told his manager, Bill Riordan, to "get me Laver" and that is what Riordan is trying to do.

As for "The Old Lady," she proved once again that "guts is what counts. Don't ask me how I won," Billie said after her brilliant battle with Miss Goolagong. "I was in a daze in that final set. Evonne's forehand was excellent, her backhand phenomenal. She kept me off balance all the time."

But "all the time" didn't include Evonne's one fatal lapse.

The lovely Aussie's trainer-manager, Vic Edwards, summed it up.

"You saw it. I saw it. Everyone saw it," Vic said, resting against a fence and waiting for his beaten protege to join him.

Evonne had been right with Billie all the way, but in the second set, in the fourth game, Evonne tried to change the break-neck pace on her own service—and Ms King broke her at love, then went on to square the match.

When the Old Lady is even with you, there's no way she's going to let you get away. When it came down to the wire, Billie had it. She had been serving for the match when Evonne, in a glorious game which featured a long rally of baseline lobs, net cutoffs, pulled even at 5-all. The Old Lady wasn't to be denied. She broke back, giving Evonne only one point, although lucky in getting to 15-40 when, in self-defense, she got her racquet in the way, and the ball dropped dead across the net.

Sharman's wife dies from illness

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dorothy Sharman, the wife of Los Angeles Lakers' head basketball coach Bill Sharman, died Monday following a long illness. She was 40.

Mrs. Sharman's death occurred at the Sharman home at Rolling Hills Estates.

She was survived by her husband, a daughter, Jennifer, 14, a mother and father, two sisters and a brother.

Memorial services will be held at Green Hills Memorial Chapel at San Pedro, Calif., at 11 a.m. PDT Thursday.

San Diego St. cage skipper resigns post

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Dick Davis, head basketball coach at San Diego State University for the past five years, resigned Monday to become vice-president of the new International Basketball Association.

Davis, whose clubs compiled a five-year record of 65-67, will be replaced by Assistant Coach Tim Vezie for the coming season. Athletic Director Ken Karr said the school will be accepting applications through Feb. 14 for the head coaching position for next year.

Davis said he also will be general manager of the Cincinnati entry in the new International Volleyball Association, which begins play next June.

"I leave with a strong feeling that the basketball program is on solid ground," Davis said, noting it had been a good recruiting year.

Vezie was athletic director and head basketball coach at Tahoe College before coming to San Diego State five years ago.

Davis said the International Basketball League will have teams in 12 European cities, including London, Madrid and Rome, and probably will be headquartered in Geneva. It will be composed basically of American players of the caliber drafted but cut by the National Basketball Association and the American Basketball Association.

Negotiations also are underway to use some European players.

Don Regan, who was instrumental in the founding of the World Football League, World Hockey Association and American Basketball Association, is president of the league.

Football group meets Friday

The Diamond Bar Pop Warner Association will hold a general meeting at 8 p.m. Friday at Lorbeer Junior High. The meeting was originally scheduled for Thursday but had to be switched because of a conflict at the school.

Irish wreck Georgia Tech

The former UCLA coach made his debut as head coach at his alma mater, Georgia Tech, Monday night and stalked gloomily along the sidelines while muscular Notre Dame manhandled his team 31-7.

To add insult to injury, the mismatch was nationally televised.

"They're too good for us," said Rodgers. "I didn't schedule them, I never would have."

You wouldn't have known that Georgia Tech was a lopsided underdog by its play through the first half of the first period.

The Yellow Jackets marched 68 yards to a touchdown after the opening kickoff and forced the Irish to punt the first time they had the ball.

But after Tech lost the ball on a fumble at its 12-yard line nine minutes into the game, the Irish came to life with a vengeance.

The first of two one-yard touchdown plunges by bullish fullback Wayne Bullock made it 7-7 at 10:21; a 22-yard field goal by Dave Reeves eight seconds into the second period made it 10-7; and Tom Clements' seven-yard touchdown pass to Pete Demmerle with 55 seconds left in the half had Notre Dame off and running.

Georgia Tech's last sign of an offense came after the Reeves' field goal when the Yellow Jackets drove 61 yards, 43 of those on a scamper by quarterback Danny Myers, to the Irish one.

But Notre Dame held and Georgia Tech was to gain a grand total of only 25 yards the final two-thirds of the football game.

The Irish made good use of Clements' passing in the first half—he hit 8-of-10 for 125 yards, but rolled up 200 yards on the ground after the half. Clements wound up with 217 yards total offense, getting 170 on 10-for 14 passing and 47 more running.

"I'm immensely pleased with our performance after a shocking start," said Note Dame Coach Ara Parseghian. "The game was a test for us to see how much damage was done through all our (personnel) losses. I think the loss of our speed is significant."

Parseghian would have preferred that Georgia Tech had passed fore because a week from Saturday the Irish visit Northwestern, whose quarterback, Mitch Anderson, has led the Big Ten in passing the past two seasons.

Tech threw only five passes, completing three for 31 yards.

But as Rodgers pointed out, Georgia Tech, relying on the wishbone, didn't have many other passing opportunities.

"We never got any momentum," said Rodgers. "We needed a turnover and never got it. They physically overpowered us. I'm glad we got it over with now and don't have to look forward to playing it in November (when the game was originally scheduled) when they are really good."

Parseghian agrees that Notre Dame, a contender for the national championship, is going to get better.

"We're a young team," he said. "I think we're going to be a good football team but it will take time—and work."

With South Carolina coming to town Saturday night, Rodgers would just as soon forget about Notre Dame. Who can blame him?

Dobson claims his sweetest victory as Angels split two

ANAHEIM (UPI)—"This is the sweetest one ever," beamed Chuck Dobson after his dramatic return to the major leagues Monday night.

Dobson, cast off by the Oakland A's in March and picked up in June by the California Angels after a stint in Mexican baseball, went all the way in a 4-1 win over the Texas Rangers in the opener of a doubleheader. The Rangers came back to win the nightcap 5-3.

It was Dobson's first major league victory in three years. His last win came in September, 1971, a season in which he was 15-5 at Oakland. Shortly thereafter, he underwent extensive elbow surgery which nearly ended his career.

"I felt like a rookie out there tonight," said the 30-year-old Dobson, who limited Texas to seven hits and had a shutout broken up in the ninth inning. "I felt like a little kid again. I had the best fastball I've had in quite a while. This is just sweet."

Dobson was 10-2 with the Mexico City Tigres before Dick Williams and the Angels signed him. He was 7-3 for the Angels' Salt Lake City farm team before he was called up last week.

Dobson pitched his way out of minor jams in the sixth and seventh innings, when he admitted he "was getting very tired." He struck out two and walked five.

Williams, who managed Dobson at Oakland, is hoping he will help out the struggling Angels.

"He pitched just super," Williams said. "He's as gutty as they come."

Rookie Bruce Bochte, one of the Angels' farm club finds, delivered the crucial hit in the opener, a two-run single in the third inning. Another rookie, Morris Nettles, drove in a run with a bouncing single in the third.

Bochte scored the final run in the seventh when he singled, went to third on a double by Joe Lahoud and scored on Bobby Valentine's sacrifice fly.

Ed Figueroa had a 2-1 lead in the fourth inning of the nightcap when one of the Rangers' prize rookies, 20-year-old third baaseman Roy Howell, slammed a bases-empty homer to tie the score.

Following Howell's towering blast, his first in the majors, Figueroa surrendered singles to Joe Lovitto, Duke Sims, Cesar Tovar and Lenny Randle, giving the Rangers a 4-2 lead. Mike Hargrove doublode in the Rangers' final run in the seventh.

The split left the Rangers 6½ games behind first place Oakland in the American League West. The A's swept their doubleheader from Kansas City.

The Angels host Kansas City tonight, with the Royals' Nelson Briles, 4-5, going against Frank Tanana, 10-17.

Former champion tops Fair Stakes

Sledge Stable's Eagle In Flight, champion two-year-old at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds in 1973, heads a list of 17 three-year-olds nominated to the $10,000-added Foothill Stakes, six-furlong event that will highlight the opening-day program Friday at Pomona.

The Foothill, a prep for the Pomona Derby, is the first of 13 thoroughbred stakes to be offered during the 14-day season that runs through September 28 at the half-mile oval. The 13 stakes will carry a total of $175,000 in added money.

Eagle In Flight, a fast-closing third behind older horses in his final start of the Del Mar meeting, won the Beau Brummel Stakes at six furlongs at the Fairgrounds and then took the mile and one-sixteenth Gateway to Glory Stakes to cinch his juvenile crown.

Also prominent on the list of Foothill nominees is Glen Hill Farm's Free Up, a Florida-bred son of In Reality. Free Up won six-furlongs sprints at Santa Anita Park and Hollywood Park and in his final Del Mar outing was beaten only a length by Little Mustard who matched Ack Ack's five and one-half furlong track record of 1.02 1-5.

Another good sophomore on the Foothill roster is Shinrone Farm's Has To Run, also a winner at Santa Anita and Hollywood Park this year. The Maryland-bred upset Shirley's Champion at Hollywood Park and in his most recent Del Mar outing was second to Tragic Isle while finishing in front of such good sprinters as King of Cricket and Cherry River.

Trainer Wayne Lukas nominated both Harbor Hauler and El Potrero. Harbor Hauler recently broke his maiden at Del Mar in impressive fashion. And El Potrero was a two-time spring winner at Hollywood Park.

Entries for the Foothill stakes and the remainder of the opening-day program will be taken Wednesday.

The nominees— Buck Price, Eagle In Flight, El Potrero, Free Up, Gage Block, Gold Traveler, Harbor Hauler, Has To Run, Lady By Choice, Lansquinet, Much Refundable, Romamag, Ruleall, Sawtooth, Space Data, The Gay Greek.

USC coach worried about offensive line

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — University of Southern California's offensive line is hurting and head coach John McKay is worried.

"I've said from the beginning that we have a chance to be the No. 1 team in the country but that doesn't mean we're going to be No. 1," McKay said following a two-hour workout in pads Monday.

"Our offensive line hasn't been able to practice together at all. You must practice well to play well and we just haven't had that much time together."

McKay, whose No. 4-rated Trojans open their season at Arkansas Saturday night, said starting offensive lineman Joe Davis, a guard, had a strained calf muscle.

"Davis is the only one guy in our offensive line who might not play," the USC mentor noted.

Offensive tackle Steve Knutson has a strained thigh but should play, McKay added.

The Trojans have gone to the Rose Bowl in six of the past eight seasons. They were 10-1-1 last year.

Thurs. Oct. 10 — Seattle at Portland Coliseum, 7 p.m.
Fri. Oct. 11 — Golden State at Seattle Coliseum, 7 p.m.
Sun. Oct. 13 — at Phoenix, 7 p.m.

KABC will air Lakers

The Los Angeles Lakers, the Atlantic Richfield Company which holds the Laker broadcast rights, and KABC Radio have joined for a long term affiliation and announced that all Lakers basketball games will be broadcast over KABC (790) effective with the 1974-75 season.

KABC's 1974 Laker basketball season begins Friday, Oct. 18, when the Lakers host the Golden State Warriors at the Forum. Preseason coverage begins Sept. 25 and Chick Hearn and Lynn Shackelford will again call the action.

With the addition of the Lakers, KABC adds to its broadcast coverage of Los Angeles sports. It also carries the Dodgers and USC.

Toro injured in D.M. spill

His mount, Trotteur, had to be destroyed after bolting into a hedge and then crashing into photo finish equipment at the wire in the second division of the Escondido Handicap.

Toro, 33, from Santiago, Chile, was taken to Scripps Memorial Hospital at La Jolla, Calif., where he was held overnight for observation. He suffered a bloody nose and chest contusions.

Trotteur, the 9-5 favorite in the 7½-furlong turf course event, sustained severe injuries to his left foreleg.

The accident happened when Trotteur, which had led from the start, suddenly began veering in sharply while being challenged by Bensadream, with Jorge Tejeira up. Bensadream won by 4½ lengths and was clocked in 1:29. he paid $9.40 to win.

Pomona club holds dinner

Pomona High's Booster Club will be holding a Pot Luck Dinner tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Red Devil Cafeteria.

All friends, parents and other supporters of Pomona High football are invited. Anyone intending to attend the event is asked to bring a main dish and desert or salad. Everyone should bring their own place setting also.

Lampkin faces Vital Thursday

JIMMY CONNORS . . . Pete Rose type

Milton Richman

Sports parade

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — Jimmy Connors, the Pete Rose of tennis, likes to show you that rough, tough exterior, decoying some people into believing he is and always will be that kid from the other side of the tracks, but then the whole facade suddenly comes apart and he gives himself away.

That's what happened here Monday afternoon.

It happened an instant after the 22-year-old Connors vaulted over the net to shake the hand of the horribly over-matched 39-year-old little man he had just demolished to win the U.S. Open title.

Tears welled up in his eyes.

Jimmy Connors fought them back.

He wasn't going to show anybody his soft side. He had just inflicted the worst final match beating upon Ken Rosewall in the history of the event, 6-1, 6-0, 6-1, but he wasn't going to ruin it all now by displaying a perfectly honest emotion some might mistake for pity.

"I've seen people pity Ken Rosewall and lose to him, 6-3, in the fifth set," Connors was to say afterward. "Even when I was ahead 5-1 in the final set I had it in my mind he could still win it. I tried to stay calm, but I could feel my heart beating against my shirt . . . boom . . . boom boom."

Best of his life

He said it was the best tennis he ever played in his life and that he "didn't miss a ball," but he really didn't have to say that because one man in the record crowd of 15,303 offered graphic evidence of the machine-like efficiency with which he crushed Rosewall.

Seated halfway up in the grandstand, this fellow quietly watched Connors chew up his out-classed Australian opponent for a set-and-a-half and then fell asleep.

Nudged in the ribs by his companion, the man opened his eyes, looked across court at the scoreboard, saw where Connors was leading, 5-0, and murmured:

"What's there to watch? This is no match; this is a joke!"

Then he closed his eyes again.

Rosewall said he had no idea the match would turn out to be so one-sided, more so even than the 6-1, 6-1, 6-4 paddling Connors handed him in the final at Wimbledon only two months ago.

Rosewall claimed he was "reasonably confident" when he showed up at the West Side Tennis Club Monday.

There is some evidence, however, to suggest this wasn't necessarily the case.

Rosewall was right

"Watch that first game," Rosewall had confided to a friend. "You will know whether I'm going to win after the first game."

The veteran Aussie was a prophet.

He took the first point serving when Connors was wide with a forehand, after which he double-faulted making it 15-all. At 30-all, Rosewall banged one of Connors' returns into the net, and to all intents and purposes that was the ball game right there. Rosewall fell behind, 30-40, lost the first game a moment or so later and never really was in the match again.

Jimmy Connors came to play.

He even got up on the right side of the bed Monday morning.

"I felt loose, relaxed, eager," he said. "I just wanted to play tennis. I asked Pancho (Segura) 'how is it outside? I wanna play.'"

Rosewall, winner of the U.S. championship in 1956 and 1970, said there were times during Monday's match he "got to the stage where I wasn't sure what to do."

Connors insisted he never let up on him although he seemed to relax, a bit, anyway, midway through the final set.

Connors does a lot of things in tennis that Pete Rose does in baseball. He even looks something like Cincinnati's switchhitting mop-haired dynamo.

At one point in Monday's mismatch, he gave a fine imitation of Rose when a heckler broke the center-court silence with an ear-piercing "Connors, you're a bum!"

Connors turned slowly toward the stands, held up his hand in greeting toward the heckler and said something.

"I said 'I agree,'" he explained later. "I was giving him the 'how are you doing?'"

Jimmy Connors laughed.

Yanks obtain Johnson

BOSTON (UPI) — The New York Yankees, looking for a little batting punch for the stretch run, acquired Alex Johnson on waivers Monday from the Texas Rangers.

Johnson, a former American League batting champion used mostly as a designated hitter this season and last, was hitting .291 with four homers and 41 runs batted in with the Rangers.

Johnson won the AL batting title in 1970, hitting .329 in 156 games as an outfielder with the California Angels. He was on the disabled list for half the 1971 season, then was traded to Cleveland in 1972 and to Texas a year ago. His average dipped to .239 with the Indians but rebounded to .287 in 1973.

A 31-year-old righthanded batter, Johnson broke into the majors with the Phillies in 1964. He also played with St. Louis and Cincinnati.

Twin Cities ask public for new dome

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The Minneapolis stadium task force says that, unless a publicly financed domed stadium is built in the Twin Cities area, the Vikings and the Twins will leave.

In a report, endorsed by all 44 members of the Minneapolis and St. Paul task forces, members said current construction costs and interest rates make private financing prohibitive.

The report does not suggest where the stadium should be built or how it should be financed.

Last year Minneapolis voters approved a charter amendment requiring a referendum on any capital improvement project for which the Board of Estimate and Taxation has to sell more than $15 million in bonds.

Monday's report indicates that task force members first want the public to agree that a domed stadium is a must, and then start discussion on a location.

"Location of a sports facility is highly emotional," the report said. "Once discussion on location commences, the questions of need and priority are forgotten."

The need for public financing means elected officials, not the task force, will determine the location, the report said.

Harvey MacKay, chairman of the Minneapolis task force, and Paul Bremicker, chairman of the St. Paul task force, said at a news conference Monday that the managements of the Vikings and the Twins have given no deadline by which a proposal for a new stadium must be made. But, Bremicker said, "just plain economic logic" dictates that the teams would leave if a new stadium is not built."

The teams' leases of Metropolitan Stadium expire in 1975, the report said. Both teams will renew their leases only one year at a time.

Twins President Calvin Griffith told the task force that the baseball team needs a domed stadium because rain and the threat of rain are responsible for poor attendance. The Vikings say they need a new and larger stadium because Metropolitan Stadium's capacity for football is only 47,000 seats, the lowest of any stadium in the National Football League.

America's Cup finals begin

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — The United States placed its longest winning streak in sports on the line today, sending the 12-meter yacht Courageous against the Australian challenger Southern Cross over a 24.3-mile course on Rhode Island Sound in a best-of-seven series for the America's Cup.

This is the 22nd challenge for a battered, bottomless goblet which the United States won from England 123 years ago and has defended tenaciously ever since. And it probably is the most determined one that ever has been made in Cup history. Alan Bond, 36-year-old Australian millionaire, has spent a reported $9 million in his effort to win the Cup and take it back to the country down under.

With the crack of dawn, an estimated fleet of 2,500 craft ranging from small motorboats to large commercial ships began pouring out into Rhode Island Sound to take up viewing spots along the race course. Twenty-six Coast Guard vessels cruised the area to keep them off the course.

The start of the first race was scheduled for 12:10 p.m. EDT. The weather experts saw a 20 per cent chance of showers, which would be no bother, and southwest winds of 10 to 12 knots.

The yachting experts among the thousands of persons jammed into this seaport city for the series gave the edge to Courageous. But the Australians wouldn't buy it. They were confident, cool and unconcerned Monday as they put Southern Cross through a series of drills in Narragansett Bay.

Southern Cross skipper Jim Hardy, a vintner from Sydney who has won numerous honors in international and Olympic sailing events, felt he had the edge in Cup experience over Courageous skipper Ted Hood. Hardy sailed Gretel II in the last series in 1970 when she lost out to defender Intrepid, 4-1.

Hood has crewed previously on 12-meter yachts seeking to become the defender but never has been in America's Cup competition. But he is a seasoned veteran of the sailing wars and he took over the helm of Courageous in the selection trials with the new aluminum-hulled 12 meter tied 4-4 with Intrepid. In the tie-breaking race he skippered Courageous to a 1-minute, 47-second victory over Intrepid.

In this race, said Bob McCullough, the Courageous manager, "we reached 85 per cent of our potential. We'll be 99 per cent when the Cup races start."

The McCullough statement raised a question —is Courageous still only 99 per cent of potential. Will that be good enough to stave off a determined effort by the Aussie challenger.

Whatever the outcome, this contest is going to be a no-holds-barred slugfest. Hopefully there'll be no low punches, at least not lower than those already swung by the men from down under, such as a Watergate-type intrusion in the dark of night boarding the defender, arrogant accusations of "racing rules control" leveled against the Americans and other unsportsmanlike "dirty tricks."

Observers say that if this match is not cleanly sailed, completely devoid of groundless challenger-filed protests and appeals such as clouded the 1970 series, there may be no further Cup competition for years to come.

U.S. cagers take series over Russia

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — The United States basketball team sewed up its series with the Soviet Union Monday night, but it wasn't easy.

All America David Thompson of North Carolina State sank two free throws with 57 seconds to play to lift the U.S. to a 67-66 victory, giving the Americans a 4-1 lead going into the series finale tonight at Largo, Md.

The final two minutes of the game became a rough-and-tumble battle under the boards and Russia, trailing 67-65, got two free throws with 34 seconds left. Yury Pavlov sank his first shot but missed the second try that might have sent the game into overtime.

"The Russians were really fired up. This is the toughest game we've had with them, really," said U.S. Coach Norm Sloan of N.C. State. "They have a very fine team. They are not big, awkward and mechnical. They do things well."

Sloan also said the American team is "tired. They had to drive themselves for this one."

Russia Coach Vladimir Kondrashin said his players also were weary.

"We played better tonight than we did in the coast games," he said. "Our players are very tired."

Thompson scored 24 points and Ron Lee 14 in the game which the U.S. dominated in the first half, jumping to a 60-53 halftime lead. The Russians switched strategy in the second half and began feeding inside to big Alexander Belov. The USSR overtook the U.S. and forged a 65-63 lead with 2:40 to play.

Thompson sank two free throws to tie the game and then returned to the foul line shortly afterward for his game-winning tosses.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Dines Letter finds the market moving down so rapidly now "it is beginning to register an oversold signal, suggesting at least a temporary bottom around Labor Day ... unless it is aborted by another phony and premature rally." Dines emphasizes any rally could be a phony one —"we are not quite certain yet" —and looks for another "devastating decline" toward 626 in the Dow industrial.

E.F. Hutton says "When the psychological factor becomes the dominant element governing the course of trading, the technical and fundamental factors are ignored.... It is impossible to come up with a level as to where it will carry the market.... The only source of comfort ... is that when it enters this emotional state, it is in the terminal phases of the current trend."

International Business and Investment Service looks for interest rates to ease before the end of September but feels "the decline will not be marked or protracted. It will not be sufficient to prevent further sagging in the economy."

A MESSAGE TO CLASSIFIED AD USERS

You are about to invest money for an Ad and you are entitled to get results. To accomplish this it is necessary for you to TELL ALL about the details of your offer. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that prevent results. Readers can't guess on important details. Remember, a well written informative ad will get results faster and cost less in the long run.

1. Don't Omit The Address

Many out-of-town readers will write you but will not spend money for a long distance call.

2. Don't Omit The Phone Number

Many readers will call you but do not find it convenient to come to your home.

3. Don't Use Blind Box Numbers

Avoid them if at all possible. They are difficult to answer and many people are suspicious of them.

4. Don't Conceal The Price

5. Don't Leave Home On The Days You Advertise

Many good prospects will not call the second time if your phone is unanswered.

6. Don't Forget, Check Your Ad The First Day It Runs. Call Us!

7. Don't Omit Important Words To Save Money

Public Transportation.

Every American should be thinking about it – very hard – right now.

That's why Atlantic Richfield Company is looking for ideas – your ideas – on Public Transportation. One of the things we will be doing with these ideas is putting some of the most interesting on television – and in print. For everyone in the country to see and get involved with and understand.

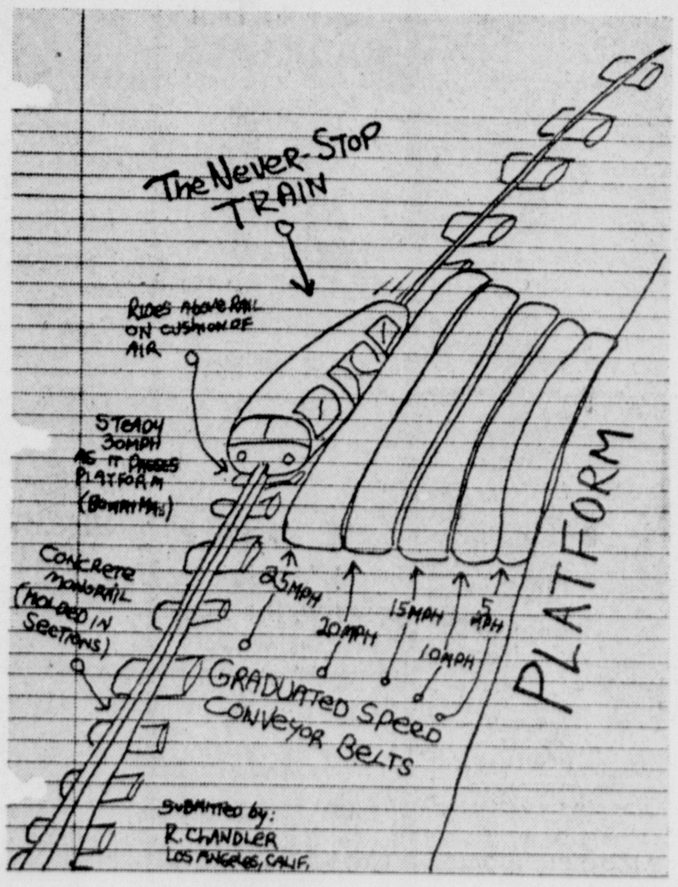

We will also forward many of the ideas to appropriate government bodies that can possibly take action on them.

If you find it strange that Atlantic Richfield – an oil company – is putting its efforts behind the cause of Public Transportation, well, the explanation is pretty straightforward. We made a mistake in dealing with the energy crisis. It was a serious problem. We saw it coming. And we even put up storm warnings of its approach.

But we didn't yell loudly enough. So when the energy crisis really did come to pass, most people were caught unaware. And they resented it and everyone connected with it. We don't intend to make the same mistake twice. We see another crisis coming: the possible breakdown of our whole transportation system. A system which depends entirely too much on the automobile.

But we don't have to all sit around waiting for calamities. We can be making plans and taking steps to investigate and build balanced transportation systems. What is needed is your commitment, your support, and especially your ideas.

It's not our intention to endorse ideas. We know that an idea that's perfectly right for one city may be perfectly wrong for another city. We know that the best thing for some cities to do is to do nothing; to stay with the system they already have. But that's an idea and ideas are what we want.

So send them in. Everyone. We won't be happy until we have at least one idea from everyone in the country. They certainly don't have to be complicated. You don't have to have them drawn up by a draftsman. They can be as simple as the drawing in the middle of the page. It's the idea, not the execution that's important.

Please note that all ideas submitted become public property without compensation and any restriction on use or disclosure. This allows the ideas to be used freely to promote the concept of Public Transportation. Again, our thinking is that since the subject is Public Transportation the ideas should belong to the public.

Send your ideas directly to Potential national titlists dot the map

By United Press International

Chances are, no matter where your geographical loyalties lie, there's a bonafide national college football champion contender for you this season.

Midwesterners find themselves especially blessed. Two —possibly three —of 1973's top five teams figure to be even stronger this fall. Notre Dame and Ohio State return nearly all the key performers from their powerhouse units of a year ago, while Michigan, if it can come up with an offense to match its unquestioned defensive prowess, could make it a three-way assault from the midwest.

Southerners can once again point with pride to Alabama where Bear Bryant has lost little from the team that battled Notre Dame touchdown for touchdown in last year's Sugar Bowl, while out west, John McKay is said to have a squad to equal or possibly surpass his Southern California championship squads of 1972, 1967 and 1962.

In the midlands, there is once again Oklahoma which could be the best of them all this season. The Sooners, however, won't get a chance to prove it after the regular season inasmuch as they're on NCAA probation for recruiting violations.

Penn State (who else?) is the class of the east and could contend for the national crown should some of the previously-mentioned big shots falter along the way. But the Nittany Lions, even if they go unbeaten, will again be hampered nationally because of their oft-criticized creampuff schedule which this season includes not one team from the final 1973 top 15.

Likewise in the southwest, Texas, admittedly a national power, will still have to do more than breeze to its customary Southwest Conference title if it is to be a national championship qualifier. Beating Oklahoma Oct. 12 in Dallas would go a long way in that direction.

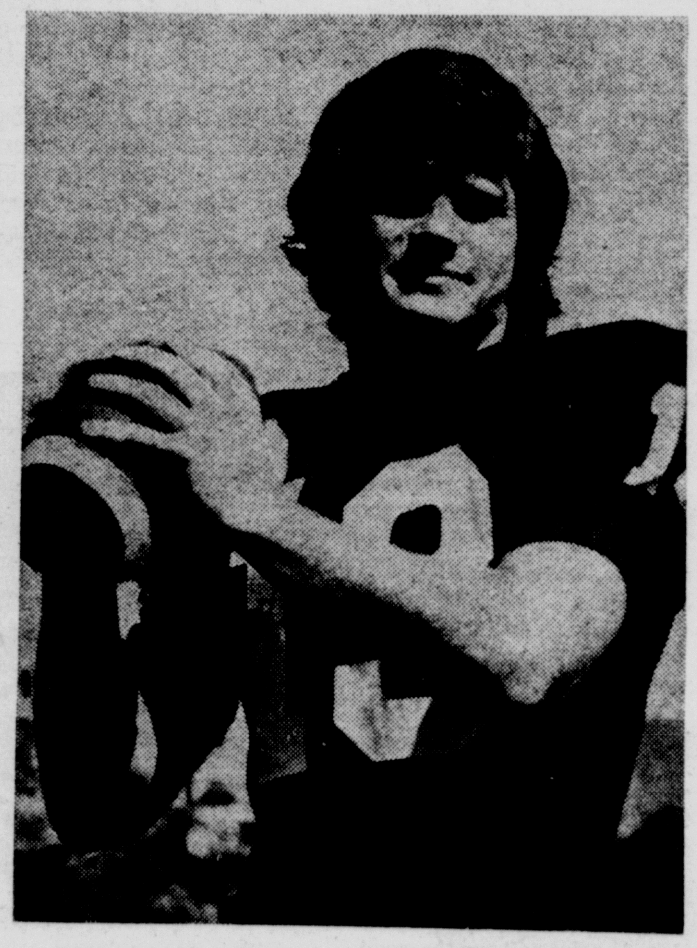

Looking first at the midwest, Notre Dame and Ohio State hardly noticed graduation last spring and returning are most of the same stars —especially on offense —that made for unbeaten seasons a year ago.

The Fighting Irish return their slick quarterback, Tom Clements, plus his trio of backfield bulls, Art Best, Wayne Bullock and Eric Penick, who accounted for 2,038 rushing yards among them in '73.

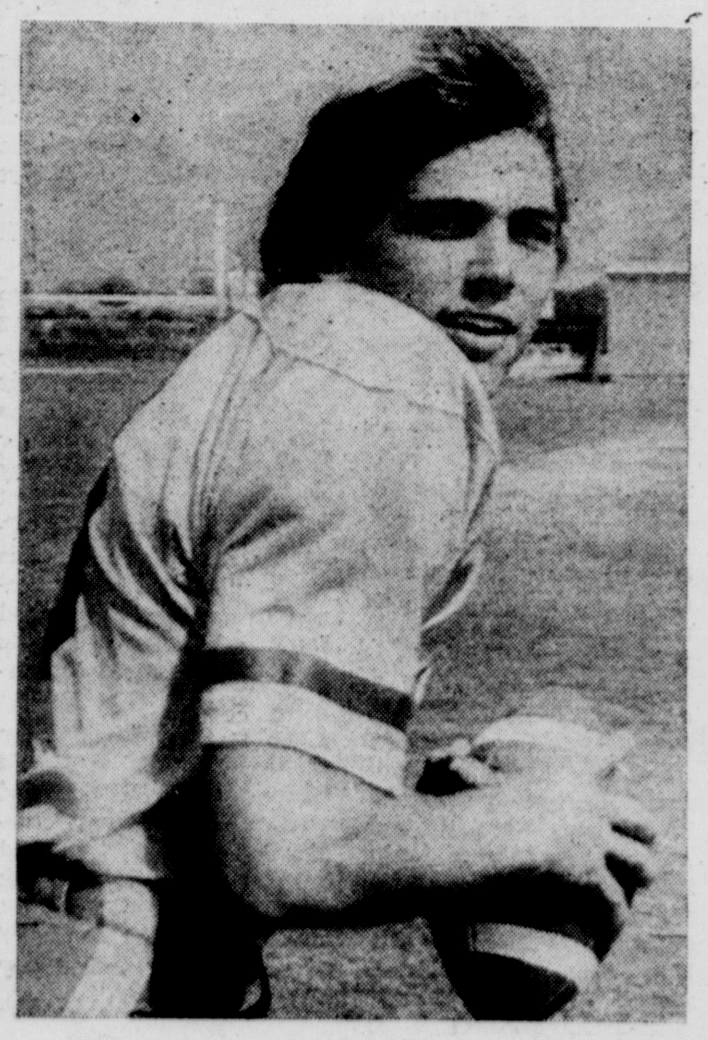

Similarly, Ohio State boosters will once again have the joy of watching All America Archie Griffin romp through opposing secondaries along with backfield mates Cornelius Greene, Pete Johnson and Champ Henson. Henson, the nation's leading scorer two seasons back, returns from a knee injury while Greene, off last year's Rose Bowl performance, has the added confidence of having proven he can pass as well as run.

Both Ohio State and Notre Dame experienced setbacks in the off-season, though.

FOOTBALL PREVIEW '74

Rams, Dolphins (again) Super Bowl bound

National Football Conference

NEW YORK (UPI) — Statistically, the Los Angeles Rams are the team to beat this season in the National Football Conference.

The Rams ranked first in both total offense and defense and in points scored last year but could get only as far as the first round of the playoffs.

If the Rams again don't make it all the way through the playoffs, good bets for NFC representative in the Super Bowl are either Dallas or Minnesota with Atlanta, Washington, Green Bay and possibly Philadelphia given the next best chances.

Knox, taking over a club which had finished with a 6-7-1 record the year before, guided the Rams to a 12-2 mark and the NFC West title last season before a 27-16 loss to Dallas in the playoffs.

"That loss will motivate us this season," says Lawrence McCutcheon, who ranked third in rushing in the NFC last year with a club record 1,097 yards.

So confident are the Ram players that this is their year that 12-year veteran defensive tackle Merlin Olsen even saw a good side to the players' strike.

"I enjoyed the extra time," said Olsen. "I wasn't unhappy to see us start late although I was unhappy to see it under those conditions. I still feel that the pre-season is way too long and training camp is too long. I think we'll prove that this year."

"There's no question in my mind that we can be an improved team," adds Knox. "There's two reasons for this. First, we know more about our personnel than we did last summer. And secondly, our coaching staff has been together now a year and there is more coordination among us."

McCutcheon and Jim Bertelsen (854 yards) carried the brunt of the Rams' rushing attack in 1973 and this season will be joined by No. 1 draft choice John Cappelletti of Penn State and converted

American Football Conference

NEW YORK (UPI) — Don Shula wants a third consecutive Super Bowl title very badly and he doesn't intend to let anything stand in his way—not his 25 rivals, not the NFL Players Association and not the new World Football League.

Shula's Miami Dolphins have been the kingpins of pro football the past two seasons and there's no reason to believe they won't be on top again this year.

The team which lost only two games in the last two years is back with no major losses and bolstered by some top-flight rookies. The Dolphins may not win a third straight Super Bowl but they probably will at least be there to try.

There is little competition in the Dolphins' own division, the American Conference East. Buffalo, despite O.J. Simpson's running heroics, has a one-dimensional offense and isn't really in Miami's class defensively. The New York Jets, despite owning one of the game's top offensive weapons in Joe Namath, are rebuilding under new coach Charley Winner and don't seem to have the balance necessary to battle the Dolphins.

And Baltimore and New England are young clubs which have a long way to go before they can even enter Miami's class.

Shula will lose three of his top performers — running backs Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick and wide receiver Paul Warfield—to the WFL next year but even speculation that they would take it easy this season has been bludgeoned into the ground. Csonka, especially, seems to be running with even more power and determination in pre-season play.

The Central Division should be the usual battle between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. The Steelers have improved themselves offensively with the drafting of two bullet-quick receivers, Lynn Swann of Southern California and John Stallworth of Alabama

Buckeye head coach Woody Hayes suffered a heart attack and has been advised to take it easier this year. Notre Dame was rocked by a sex scandal that resulted in four of Ara Parseghian's expected '74 starters —Ross Browner, Willie Fry, Luther Bradley and Al Hunter —being expelled from school.

Down south, Alabama, like Ohio State and Notre Dame, did not feel much sting from graduation as witnessed by the return of quarterbacks Gary Rutledge and Richard Todd and running backs Willie Shelby, Randy Billingsley, Calvin Culliver and James Taylor to coach Bryant's wishbone attack.

LSU will again challenge Alabama for the Southeastern Conference title but probably not as furiously as a year ago due to the fact that this year's late-season showdown between the two rivals is at Birmingham. Possibly a bigger challenge to Alabama's aim for an unbeaten season will come opening day (Sept. 14) when the Tide meets highly-regarded Maryland, the class of the neighboring Atlantic Coast Conference.

Probation plagued Oklahoma, with split end Tinker Owens, halfback Joe Washington (1,173 yards) and All America linebacker candidate Rod Shoate all returning from 1973's 10-0-1 squad, should again rule the Big Eight with Nebraska the likely benefactor of the league's top bowl bid. Sooner coach Barry Switzer has dropped fullback Waymon Clark (1,014 yards) from the squad for disciplinary reasons. North Texas State and Tulsa shape up as the best of the widespread Missouri Valley Conference.

Texas, with or without All America fullback Roosevelt Leaks (mending from a knee injury) should have little trouble wrapping up its seventh straight SWC crown while farther west, perennial Western Athletic Conference champ, Arizona State, could be severely pressed by in-state rival Arizona for that title this year.

In the far west, the rumblings at Southern California indicate a big resurgence from last year's "disappointing" 9-1-1 team that was whipped 42-21 by Ohio State in the Rose Bowl. All America linebacker Richard Wood again anchors the Trojan defense while quarterback Pat Haden, according to McKay "the best passer I've ever coached," and halfback Anthony Davis also are back. UCLA, under new coach Dick Vermeil, and Stanford will be strong again but both may lack the horses to catch Southern Cal in the Pacific Eight race.

The Notre Dames, Ohio States, Southern Cals et al, also seem to have a strong hold on the Heisman Trophy candidates this season. And the line forms at the right to succeed Penn State's John Cappelletti as the nation's elite collegian.

Heading the list is Ohio State's Griffin (still only a junior), who finished third in the nation in rushing (142.4 yards per game) last season and fourth in all-purpose running. Clements will also be a strong contender (you can never count out a Notre Dame quarterback)—especially if the Irish go unbeaten again.

And then there's Pittsburgh's sensational Tony Dorsett, who as a freshman last year finished second to Mark Kellar of Northern Illinois in rushing with 144.2 yards per game, coupling that with 12 touchdowns. Southern Cal's Haden is on a par with Clements as far as the quarterbacks go and Oklahoma's Washington also will get notice.

National Football Conference . . .

safety Cullen Bryant.

John Hadl, beginning his 13th pro season and second with the Rams, will again direct the explosive attack. Hadl ranked third in passing in the NFC behind Dallas' Roger Staubach and Minnesota's Fran Tarkenton last season and again will be aiming his tosses in the direction of such standout receivers as Harold Jackson, Jack Snow and Bob Klein along with Lance Rentzel who rejoined the team after a year's suspension.

Playoff pressure is nothing new for the Dallas Cowboys who have now made it to postseason competition the last eight years in a row. This season doesn't figure to be any different as the Cowboys are the pick for East Division honors, ahead of both Washington and Philadelphia.

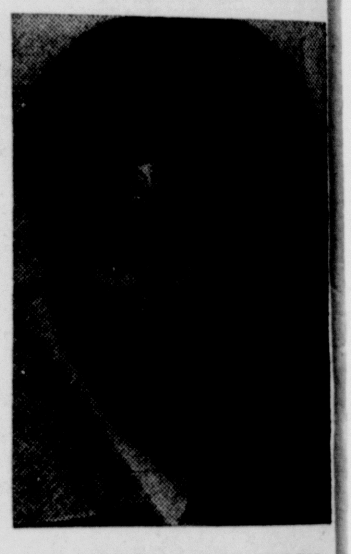

Staubach suffered cracked ribs during the pre-season and, despite the presence of backup Craig Morton, the Cowboys' offense will be severely hampered if their No. 1 quarterback is out for an extended period. Staubach was the club's regular signal caller in both 1971 and 1973 and led the NFC in passing both years.

Morton, fed up with his substitute role, will be heading for the World Football League next year along with running back Calvin Hill, offensive lineman Rayfield Wright and defensive lineman Jethro Pugh so this could be the last hurrah for the Cowboys for a couple of years.

Minnesota must forget its terrible showing against Miami in last year's Super Bowl. As bad as they looked in that game at Rice Stadium in Houston, the Vikings must have done something right during the season to have finished with a 12-2 record and a berth in the championship game. Tarkenton will again direct the offense, passing to John Gilliam and handing off to Chuck Foreman for most of the running attack.

The schedule maker could turn out to be the worst enemy of the Atlanta Falcons. Norm Van Brocklin's crew opens against Dallas, and after five relatively easy games, must face, in succession, Pittsburgh, Miami and Los Angeles, all on the road, before finishing up with Los Angeles, Minnesota and Green Bay. If the Falcons qualify for a wild card berth, they will deserve it.

Two years ago, Washington made it all the way to the Super Bowl. Last season the Redskins got knocked off in the first round of the playoffs. This year, George Allen's crew could very well take one more step backwards and miss the playoffs entirely as old age begins to catch up with it.

LAWRENCE McCUTCHEON
. . . runs for Rams

Defense will be the strong point of Green Bay while just the opposite will be true of Philadelphia where the Eagles had the second best offense and 25th worst defense in the National Football League last season.

The Packers, looking to rebound from last year's 5-7-2 finish, have added Ted Hendricks of Baltimore to their linebacking corps where he will join standouts Jim Carter and Fred Carr. Green Bay possesses two of the finest young defensive backs in Willie Buchanon and Ken Ellis along with two excellent runners in John Brockington and MacArthur Lane but are in need of a top flight quarterback.

The Eagles, mixing Roman Gabriel's passing to Harold Carmichael, Ben Hawkins and Charley Young, with the running of Tom Sullivan and Norm Bulaich, can score with any team in the league but must shore up the defense if they seriously considers any playoff possibilities.

American Football Conference . . .

A&M, but quarterback is a problem since Joe Gilliam, Terry Bradshaw and Terry Hanratty all are entering claims on the No. 1 slot.

Gilliam has been the best by far in pre-season but if Coach Chuck Noll sticks to his previous pattern, Bradshaw will be at the helm opening day no matter what.

Cincinnati finished strong to win the Central Division last year but it took a complete Pittsburgh collapse to help. The Bengals are young and their solid running backs corps has been boosted by the addition of Charlie Davis of Colorado.

Cleveland, a power until last season, is trying to put together the pieces and make a run for the title but is clearly overmatched. Houston, the disaster of the NFL the last two years with 1-13 records, hasn't been helped by Coach Sid Gillman's tyrannical tactics following the strike. There's also a quarterback problem there, with Dan Pastorini and Lynn Dickey fighting it out.

In the West, the usual Oakland-Kansas City duel to the death has now become an Oakland-Denver battle. The Raiders may have the best personnel in the NFL and Denver had its first winning season last year, thanks to the guidance of Coach John Ralston. The Broncos also came within a game of making the playoffs and left their mark throughout the league.

Kansas City Coach Hank Stram, trying to regroup his club, has quarterback problems, Len Dawson is nearing 40 and has been riddled with injuries the past few seasons. Mike Livingston has been spotty and Stram is hesitant to hand over his offense to rookie David Jaynes.

San Diego, which dealt away most of its talent under Haland Svare, will try to reorganize under Tommy Prothro this season. Quarterback is also a problem here as well as defense. John Unitas is gone and Dan Fouts and rookie Jesse Freitas are trying to replace him. The West is absolutely suicide for San Diego .

Collegiate coaches play musical chairs

NEW YORK (UPI) — College football's annual coaching treadmill produced 27 coaching changes in the university division ranks for 1974 with 24 newcomers being promoted to head coaching jobs and three others — Bill Mallory, Pepper Rodgers and Sonny Randle switching schools. Here's the complete list of new university division coaches for 1974 and their previous posts:

Vinci era begins at Poly

Cal Poly has been looking forward to the 1974 football season for some time, at least since Andy Vinci was named the university's head coach last spring.

Vinci, who built the University of San Diego into a small college power in just two years, is trying to use the same magic at Poly, a school which hasn't enjoyed much gridiron success in the past decade.

Thanks to a combination of some top returnees from last year's 4-6-1 club plus a few transfers from San Diego and many junior college transfers, there is hope the Broncos can be a legitimate challenger to perennial champion Cal Poly San Luis Obispo in the California Collegiate Athletic Association.

Vinci, who rates acclaim as a super salesman, and his staff have done their job raising money for Poly's program. Kellogg Field's capacity has gone up to 9,000 and season ticket sales are up.

As a starter, Poly is in great shape at quarterback with lefthanded Jim Zorn, who lead collegiate football last year in total offense, back for his senior year. He accounted for 3,000 yards total offense last year with an average of 272.7 yards per game. He passed for 2,367 yards and 16 touchdowns and rushed for 633 yards and seven TDs.

Zorn will have a new set of receivers to throw to in a pair of San Diego transfers. Andy Sanchez and Ernie Yarbrough. They starred for Vinci at USD by catching 64 and 67 passes respectively.

Another San Diego product, tailback Rich Paulson, will handle most of the running. He ran for 854 yards and 16 TDs for the Torreros. Sophomore John Sedia is back at fullback spot for the Broncos.

Vinci is counting on his many JC transfers. Included on the list are safety- Scott Sanders. (Mt. Hood, Ore.), middle guard Bryan Kerns (Golden West), linebacker Jim Castanon (Fresno), tackle Leon Hooker (Citrus), linebacker Richard Gomez (MSAC), cornerback Harold Eggers (Cypress) and linebacker Doug Gerdwagen (West Valley).

Poly has also recruited five freshman to help out. Two of them are reserve quarterbacks Sam Ross of Sharpsville, Pa. and Bart Moran of Studio City.

"We like to throw the ball and this year at Cal Poly we're blessed with a super quarterback and some outstanding receivers," Vinci said. "If the offensive line holds up, we'll put some points on the board and make it exciting for the fans."

But Vinici's first love is defense.

"Remember, if a team doesn't score then you can't lose," he says.

It's obvious Poly will be much improved under the Vinci regime. The question is whether it is enough to be a true CCAA contender.

Cal Poly football coach Andy Vinci shows the way for the Broncos

Leos strong in numbers, but success hinges on finding QB

Biggest and best news for La Verne College football fans is that the Leopards will be playing on their new football field on the campus this year. The past two seasons the Leos have played their home games at Bonita High School's field.

La Verne will again be the biggest squad numerically of the three local schools in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC).

Head coach Roland Ortmayer has a squad of approximately 70 candidates for the 1974 football season. He has 46 returnees, 32 of which lettered.

Success of the 1974 Leopards hinges on the quarterback. "If the quarterback situation is resolved so it's respectable, Ortmayer said, I think we'll be stronger than last year."

There are three players vying for the position held by Marty Mercurio last year. Two transfers top the list. They are Randy Brown from Cal Poly and Rick Tedford from Southwestern Junior College. The third is Dave Maloof of San Dimas, brother of star baseball player, Jack Maloof.

Heading the nucleus of returnees are fullback Curtis Frick, All SCIAC his first two years at La Verne; middle guard Jeff Button, All-SCIAC and All District Three NAIA last year; kicker John Karns, whom Ortmayer calls one of the top kickers in small college football; center Roger Hanawalt, tailback Paul Larson, guard Brad Baughman, tackle Dave Courey, defensive end Chris Hawks, defensive tackle Grant Seiler, linebacker John Herrera and defensive backs Gus Newson and Casey O'Gorman.

Newcomers, "likely to help us," commented Ort, are center Carl Davis from Bonita high, running backs Jeff Lambert (Ganesha), Mike Ortega (Bonita) and Roy Vanderkallen (Chaffey College), defensive backs Steve Herrera (Pomona) Dan Church (transfer from Cal St. Northridge), and Richard Houston (Ventura JC) tackle Gary Renolds (Redlands), guard John Pomierski (Chaffey JC) and devensive end George Pascoe.

The Leopards play two of their first three games on the road. They open the season Sept. 21 at St. Mary's the Bay area and play USIU in San Diego in game three.

La Verne's two-time All-SCIAC fullback Curtis Frick returns for '74 season.

Pro football attendance soars

More than 10.7 million people attended regular National Football League games in 1973. The average attendance at 182 games was 58,961. For post season play, 525,433 fans attended, for a 65,679 average for eight games.

Young Stags face '74 with eagerness

The biggest problem Claremont-Mudd football teams have had to contend with the last two years has been at quarterback.

Last year coach John Zinda tried no fewer than four candidates and all were found wanting. This year Zinda may go with Larry Satterfield.

Satterfield is a 6-2, 195-pound transfer student from Antelope Valley junior college where he led the school to a conference title and was sixth in the state in passing.

Biggest losses through graduation were those of fullback-tailback Mike Graber, several offensive linemen and defensive ends Sam Reece and Naaman Haynes.

Graber displaced Billy Nash as the Stags' leading rusher in last year's season. Both Graber and Reece made all-conference.

Nash heads the returnees. The 6-1, 195 pound tailback fell off to 449 yards on 80 carries last year after gaining over 1,600 yards his first two seasons.

"We lost 11 seniors, primarily offensive linemen," said Zinda. "It'll be a job replacing guys like George Sessions, Steve Raupp and Mark and Brian Buchanen."

Zinda has 24 lettermen returning. Tops among them, in addition to Nash, are center Charles Alvarez (5-10, 185), middle guard Bob Mennis (6-1, 215) and guard Terry Robertson (5-10, 200).

Berst prospects among the newcomers, besides Satterfield, are halfback Joe Watts from Antelope Valley JC and two Mira Costa JC transfers, defensive back Tim Field and linebacker Mark Dever.

Sagehens fight same old battle

Besides the normal losses sustained through graduation, coach Walt Ambord faces the problem of players still eligible not returning to school or returning and not coming out for football.

The situation is compounded this year because Ambord has only 11 lettermen back from last year's 1-7-1 squad.

Wide receiver Bucy Perry has transferred to Claremont Men's College because of problems with his major. Defensive back Gary Davison transferred to Santa Barbara. Lineman Scott Borg, 6-3, 227 pounds and only a sophomore, has decided to forego football in favor of soccer. Backup quarterback Steve DeWindt and Larry Webb, whom Ambord says could have been a pro prospect, have dropped out of school.

Ambord had a committment from Jim Banahan, an all-city signal caller from Tacoma, Washington. But Banahan wound up at Boston College.

In school and sure to help if they come out for football are Warren Person, a 6-4, 205-pound center from Webb high, Chris Sullivan, an all-leaguer from Bonita high and offensive guard David Vilter from Charter Oak high.

Ambord does have Chris Dialynas, a transfer from USC, in school. Listed as a halfback-defensive back, Ambord says Dialynas can play anything including backup quarterback and wide receiver.

Other newcomers are tackles Bob Menicucci (6-1, 215) from Mt. Carmel high and Tim Salazar, an all-leaguer (but only 6-1, 185) from Holbrook, Arizona; halfback Tony Munoz from Alta Loma; defensive back Bob Rees from Bonita and tight ends John Buzzard from Corona Del Mar and Larry Amerine from Whittier La Serna.

Ambord will again build his offense around Larry Cenotto, All-SCIAC and All-District Three quarterback. Cenotto threw a school record 18 touchdown passes last year.

The running game will get a boost if halfback Jeff Signer has receovered from knee surgery and is able to play.

"We'll be small and cowardly quick," quipped Ambord who usually manages to laugh through his tears. His sense of humor will be put to the test again.

Top preps aid Mounties

Between the end of last season and the beginning of the new one, which begins Saturday, the coaching staff at Mt. San Antonio College contacted the valley's best high school football players.

While the coaches didn't get everyone they wanted into the fold, head coach Mal Eaton is satisfied with the results of what may have been the best recruiting drive in his four-year tenure at the valley's largest community college.

"I think for the first time we've gotten the best players we could have," said Eaton. "We have progressed from the point of getting only marginal players with little high school experience, to some of the best talent the area has to offer."

The most notable of the newcomers include three freshman quarterbacks — Steve Taylor of Pomona, Jim Winklepleck of Charter Oak, Kurt Porter of Rosemead and CIF 4-A champion Los Altos High's top runners, Robert "Binky" Benton and Mike Hill.

Eaton hopes to rebuild a backfield, decimated by graduation, from this group. Lost from last year's team which posted a 5-4 record overall, are JC All-American quarterback Steve Myer (New Mexico), tailback Teddy Farmer, (Oregon) the South Coast Conference's leading rusher, and Myer's top receivers, John McIntyre (Utah) and Gil Stewart (New Mexico).

The backfield will operate behind a veteran offensive line, which along with a defensive secondary which is intact from 1973, is MSAC's strongest department this year.

A likely starting front five are center Kermit Pace (6-2, 220), guards Tim Rutten (5-10, 190) and Gary Serna (5-10, 195) and tackles Jerrell Smith (6-2, 235), and Terry Green (6-1, 230).

A trio of veteran receivers, Rick Kasper (12 catches for 148 yards and one TD in'73), Dave Vega (12 for 117 yards) and Art Escajeda return also.

In the defensive secondary, All-South Coast cornerback Larry Burrell, who led the team with four interceptions, and Tyrone Johnson, a starter last year, top a quintet of returnees.

In the corps of defensive linemen and linebackers are scattered several lettermen, inclujding linemen Wayman Beggs, Tony Gillett, Bob Castldia and Ken James. Backers include Mark Bradford, Lance Fralick and Dave Huerta.

The Mounties open the season by hosting old rival Citrus College Saturday at 7:30 p.m. On successive weekends, MSAC faces perenially tough Pasadena and Golden West. The South Coast opener against Orange Coast, the only team the Mounties have beaten the past two years in conference play, is set for Saturday, Oct. 26.

Pomona High product Steve Taylor vies for starting QB spot at MSAC

Panthers get time for rebuilding job

Chaffey College starts the 1974 football season a week later than valley rivals Mt. San Antonio and Citrus, and coach Willie Richardson has to be glad for the extra time.

Richardson's Panthers are coming off 1973's 1-8-1 record and as the coach points out, "they all look tough again this year.

While the coach has his starting quarterback and a top freshman prospect in the fold, he'll be looking for offensive and defensive linemen to fill big gaps up front.

The returnees who Richardson hopes to build a solid team around are quarterback Mark Tundis who completed 88 passes for 876 yards and five touchdowns in 1973. Tundis' main target was split receiver Gary Seeber, who caught 37 for 359 yards and two TDs.

The Panthers also have three starters back in the defensive secondary, Rich Godinez, Wayne King and Bruce Steffler. Godinez was an All-Mission Conference choice last season.

Chaffey opens the season Saturday, Sept. 21 by hosting Santa Barbara. The Mission Conference campaign begins Sept. 28 in a battle with visiting Grossmont.

Bucks No. 1 in first poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — Powerful Ohio State, which returns most of its awesome cast that went 10-0-1 last year including a resounding Rose Bowl victory over Southern California, is the heavy choice of the United Press International Board of Coaches as the nation's No. 1 football team for 1974.

In the pre-season ratings of the coaches, Ohio State received 13 first place votes to easily out-distance Alabama in total points, 297-275. Notre Dame, which edged the Crimson Tide, 24-23, in last season's dramatic Sugar Bowl finale, was second in first place votes with 10 but fell short of the top two in total points with 271.

Alabama received six nominations for first place.

Owls must fill holes for 1974 campaign

Last year's 6-4 record was a disappointment, but it boosted the coach's career record to 49-19-1, including four championships in the last seven years.

As the 1974 campaign opens Saturday night at Mt. San Antonio College, Strycula and his staff have a number of holes to fill but are confident the Owls will be ready to make a good run at the Mission Conference title.

Missing from this year's team will be Doug Hopper, who rushed for more than 1,400 yards as a freshman in 1973. Hopper elected to continue his education and football career at Cal State L.A., leaving Strycula with the chore of finding a replacment at tailback.

While that may be a problem with the loss of a prime candidate in Claremont's Joe Hillstock, who succumbed to an eleventh hour recruitment job by Arizona State, Strycula has half of a backfield intact with his son Bill at quarterback (400 yards rushing and 700 passing in 1973) and fullback Ed White (700 yards rushing) in the fold.

Also returning offensively are All-Mission Conference tackle Ed Tyler (6-2, 235) and a potential all-conference guard, Duane Barnett (6-1, 225).

Defensively, Strycula expects to build around All-Mission defensive back Bob Cox (6-2, 200) and All-Mission defensive end Glen Tenove (6-2, 205). Tackle Dave Little, (6-2, 230) a Claremont product, will be a regular also.

Following the season opener Saturday at MSAC, the Owls host rugged Long Beach City, Sept. 21, and open the Mission Conference schedule at Riverside Sept. 28.

APC coach looks for QB

Azusa Pacific opens its football season Saturday, one week earlier than La Verne and two weeks earlier than Claremont-Mudd and Pomona-Pitzer.

Coach Jerry Sconce guided the Cougars to their best season ever last year, 5-4. Back from that club is All-District back Jim Farmer who rushed for nearly 1,200 yards last year, first back in the school's history to top 1,000.

But Sconce has to replace quarterback John Tully who guided the Cougar fortunes so well for four years. Before APC hosts USD Saturday (1:30 p.m.), Sconce must decide between two potential replacements.

They are Vic Dutton, a 6-2, 190-pounder from Glendora high and 5-11, 160-pound Rick Lund who served as Tully's backup last year.

Potential all-conference defensive lineman Dave Little will bolster Owls

Running back Raymond Butler returns to Red Devils lineup

Devils may have to count on defense

Can Pomona High repeat as co-champion of the San Antonio League?

That's a good question.

When reviewing how many Red Devils graduated last year, it doesn't look as though those chances of retaining a share of the title are very good.

But when you look at who IS coming back from that title team, it's no secret that the Devils could quite very well be right in the thick of things again this season.

Souza, the backup QB for Taylor last season, can go to the air too, and proved it this summer when he took his team to a second-place finish in the Mt. San Antonio College passing league.

But he never really had much of a chance to prove what he could do under league conditions during the '73 campaign, so it'll almost seem like a rookie year for the 5-foot-9, 170 pounder.

"We have a few key people returning," says third-year head coach Mike Clifton. "Defense could be our main strength, with people like tackle Calvin Short (6-0, 220), linebacker Freddie Turner (6-0, 200), guard Wayne Miller (5-8, 170), rookie linebacker Scott Price (5-10, 180), cornerback John Nickerson (5-7, 155), and safety Sam Davis (6-1, 170)."

Pomona also may be a little tough to handle in the running game, with the fleet Raymond Butler returning to the lineup. Butler didn't get to finish out last year when he broke his thumb after the second league game and sat out the rest of the season.

This season Butler will be

Cowboys aim for SAL title repeat

The Cowboys shared the San Antonio League championship with Pomona last year, and now they want to show that it wasn't a fluke.

"I think we have a better chance of keeping the title than we did getting it in the first place," noted Cowboy head coach Jim Rawls during spring training.

And believe it or not, the Cowboys are one of the preseason favorites to win the SAL championship.

Once the doormats of the league, Chino has rebuilt its program and has recently been turning out some of the top performers in the circuit.

Highlighting the returnee list are running backs Rick Riedel and Sam Souza, offensive linemen Steve Pack and Barry Rhodes, defensive linemen Tom McLintock and Ron Walker, receivers Paul Belmudes, David Lovio, Ron Janecek and Bernie Wendling and kicker-receiver Stan Surina.

Riedel, a 5-foot-6, 135 pound junior, averaged 4.6 yards per carry as a sophomore on the varsity last year, carrying the ball 126 times for 573 yards.

Souza, who may be converted into a quarterback this year to replace the graduate Jerry Belmudes, carried the ball 51 times for 284 yards for a 5.6-yard average last season.

"If we can get one of those two juniors to quarterback and move Souza to running back, we'll be in good shape," stated Rawls. "That quarterback spot is our biggest loophole. If we can fill that spot we feel we can be better than '73."

And in the kicking department, Surina averaged 43.7 yards a kickoff and singlehandedly won two games for the Cowboys with last-second field goals. Chino also won a game against Upland on a second-quarter field goal by Surina.

Wolfpack could be team to beat in 1974

Last year he thought his chances were slim retaining the championship they won in 1972. As it turned out, the Wolfpack came right down to the last week of league play before being denied a berth in the CIF playoffs.

So what does he have to say about this year?

"The league is well balanced, with as many as four teams having a shot at the title," he predicted.

And wouldn't you know it, Claremont was NOT among the four he listed.

Upland, Chino, Damien and Pomona were the four, while adding, "with the others on any given night able to pull off the big win."

The 'Pack this year will have somewhat of an experienced defense with four starters returning, including captains Jon Boehlke (guard), Kent Stalwick (quarterback, safety) and Dan Thomas (defensive back).

The senior quarterback is returning after putting in a full year at the QB position. At the running back positions will probably be Dan Thomas and Mark Robertson.

"The biggest weakness will be the fact that we lost eight starters from our offense," Keiser pointed out. They consisted of four linemen, two running backs and two receivers.

Rugged Giants luck for luck

Last year's "hard luck" team of the San Antonio League will be back again this year to pursue the championship which it barely missed claiming in '73.

The Ganesha High Giants, losers of only three games last year by a total of six points, look to be just as strong if not stronger than their successful '73 club.

One thing is for sure: the Giants will be faster.

"We have a fast offense and an experienced defensive line," noted Giant coach Garry Norvell. "We'll be able to field a slightly faster backfield this year—about a 4.7-second average (40-yard dash). So the speed will help, and when we reach the 90 per percent level of execution we'll be all right.

With an ever faster backfield than last season, it's a certainty that Norvell will keep his Wishbone offense intact.

If there's one thing last year's SAL runnersup have to work on, it'll be the offensive line.

"We have a lack of experience in the offensive line," Norvell added, "but we have some good candidates who are eager to learn and have size and quickness."

"We have three very good linemen in Russell Kingston, Tim Treister and Mike Johnson," the Ganesha skipper pointed out. "They're all back from last year and they're all over 200 pounds."

With a lot of experience and depth, Norvell still faces a problem. But it's the kind of problem any football coach would be glad to have.

"My biggest problem will be trying to figure out who'll be my halfbacks," he explained. "I have to choose among Arthur Lane, Larry Jacques and Rick Sanders — all of them fast and experienced."

The pre-season No. 1 candidate at quarterback for the Giants will be last year's backup QB, Bill Kearns. But he'll have some tough competition for that spot from Reggie Freeman and Lloyd Jones backed up by fullback Hank Zibell, a 6-foot-2, 200 pound junior. He could be a good replacement for the graduated Jim Price.

Clifton has one big task to accomplish this year. He must find an offensive line, since the one he had last year was demolished by graduation.

Looking at the league this year, Clifton comments, "It looks to me like the Pack (Claremont Wolfpack) will be back. They are huge! Upland and Ganesha should be in the thick of things too."

meeting in San Francisco last year, the coaches agreed not to consider any teams on NCAA probation for the top 20 or the national championship. Thus, Oklahoma, SMU, California, Long Beach State and Southwestern Louisiana will not be included in the weekly ratings this season.

Southern California, which was embarrassed 42-21 by Ohio State in last season's Rose Bowl and which entertains Notre Dame in this year's "Game of the Decade" on Nov. 30, was fourth in the pre-season ratings.

Young Spartans could be trouble

If the past is any indication, the next two years at Damien High should be very interesting.

Since the Spartains joined the San Antonio League two years ago, they have been very ineffective in football. The first season (1972) Damien finished with a 3-4 league record and 4-5 overall.

Last year, with what was considered a strong club, Damien sputtered and finished sixth in league (2-3-2) with a 2-5-2 seasonal mark.

This could be a big year for the Spartans. But if it isn't, next year will definitely be.

The league's newest ball club will consist of a good group of veterans and an impressive crew of juniors. Those juniors were undefeated and unscored upon last year in the SAL's sophomore league.

It's obvious, Damien is going to be tough on defense. But it is also obvious that one of its weak points will be inexperience.

The Spartans will be strong in the offensive and defensive backfields, but the rest will be question marks.

Returning to the offensive backfield this year to work out of the I-formation will be fullback Steve Schiro, halfback Lorenzo Hearns and quarterback Mark Lopez.

The only returnees to the line will be center Dan Farris and guard Frank Ferriera.

The defensive secondary will probably be the Spartans' toughest area. Schiro, Hearns, Dan Monroe and Paul Broadway will all be returning from last year and will be joined by juniors Terry Allen and Ruben Lopez from last year's sophomore team.

Lopez and Bob Alexander, up from the unbeaten soph squad, could be definite threats for starting positions in the offensive backfield.

That sensational sophomore team also moved linebackers Mike Fraschetti and Greg Elias up to the varsity for this season, giving an indication that opponents will not only have trouble passing against the Damien team but will also have some difficulty running against it.

Scots rebuild defense but offense is tough

When Upland High coach Bob Holycross was asked to give his view on this year's San Antonio League race, he named all seven of the other teams as being either very tough, surprising or always tough.

Then he slipped in something about his Highlanders.

"Upland is around somewhere," he generalized.

It doesn't sound like the usual Holycross, who is generally optimistic.

One of the reasons he isn't too sure about the upcoming season, is that the Scots will be searching for an entirely new defense. "We need to develop our entire defensive front," he stated. "We need linebackers too. We'll lack experience on defense this year."

But the offense looks tough.

"We have more returning skill players at the offensive back and end positions," he continued. "We should be strong offensively this year. Dominic Licavoli has great possibilities at fullback. We have two good quarterbacks in Jay Morton and Bob Dalquest and good receivers in Mike Rees and Scott Haughan."

Licavoli saw considerable action last year and looked impressive. But Morton was the backup quarterback for Jim Spencer and Jim Christense.

Mark White will be returning to the backfield and will probably see a lot of action at the tailback spot.

Looking over his defense again, the Upland skipper said, "We have our entire secondary back, with Gregg George being a definite all-league prospect with Bruce Affeldt. Gary Stevenson, a transfer from St. Francis, should help on defense and offense."

Even though Holycross doesn't sound overly optimistic this year, don't be surprised if the Highlanders are in the running again.

The Scots have been perennial powers over the years, and some of the coaches in the league feel this year is no different.

However, Holycross looks for Claremont, Damien, Pomona and Chino to do most of the damage in the SAL.

Carter No. 2 on All-time list

Former Bonita High Star Allen Carter, is second only to Mickey Cureton on the CIF's all-time rushing list. Carter, who begins his senior season for USC this week, rushed for 4388 yards in three seasons at Bonita, 1968-70. Cureton had 4,920 yards in three seasons at Centennial High.

LAWSON BUSH
. . . Garey High coach

Cavs' chances look brighter

In fact second-year head coach Jack Simpson, when recording the strengths and weaknesses of this year's club, listed twice as many strengths as weaknesses.

Even Simpson's list of weaknesses have some positive overtones.

"We're weak at the offensive tackle and the defensive back," he explained. "We might shift some of the personnel to meet those needs."

And that's all he had to say about the weaknesses of this year's club. That's not much.

Montclair, in fact, does look tough offensively, even without running back Filbert Gonzales, who graduated last June. Jetton, in his third year as a varsity performer and second year as starting quarterback, completed close to 50 per cent of his passes last season.

"Monroe, Donaldson and Lee are all good runners," stated Simpson, "but they didn't play much last year because of Gonzales.

"Dietz and Voss are very solid offensive linemen," he added. Overstreet and Huggans are outstanding linebackers and receiver Randy Thomas, a starter last year, has great hands."

Wallace, standing at 6-foot-1 and 210 pounds, is transfer from Texas.

Vikings aim to win more with run and gun style in '74

What will Garey High have in store for its San Antonio League fores this year?

Last year the Vikings weren't one of the more successful teams in the league, but they were an exciting ball club to watch.

This year, they may be a little more successful and just as exciting.

Second-year coach Lawson Bush, who promised exciting football at Garey when he took over the job as head coach last year, will have a returning crew of quick receivers and running backs—paired with last year's second-string quarterback.

"Our strengths will be in the defensive secondary, running backs and receivers," noted Bush. "We have experience at those positions. "The weaknesses will be in the offensive and defensive lines."

The Vikings will have to build a whole new defensive line around All-San Antonio League tackle Oscar Amaya, who was second team All-SAL choice last year.

The offensive line will be centered around returnees John Sargent and Manuel DeLeon.

Garey has the speed, however, to give any of the SAL teams trouble. They proved that last year.

The Vikings got off to a roaring start last year, going into league play undefeated (1-0-1). Three weeks later, they knocked off the league's pre-season favorite Ganesha (9-7); but finished with a not-too-impressive 3-4-2 record for the season.

Garey has had only one winning league season in the nine-year history of the SAL—that being in 1971 with a 4-2 record which was enough for third place—and hasn't finished better than seventh place the last two seasons.

The Vikings hope to change that this year.

Bearcats have the offense

Defense will decide the 1974 football fortunes for coach Pete Lopez and his Bonita High Bearcats.

The offensive appears sound for the green-and-white but replacing the entire secondary, two linebackers, and a defensive end could be difficult.

"We have a real good backfield (offensive)," said Lopez, "As good as anybody. But the defense is the thing. If it comes around we'll be a contender."

The Bearcats will have a returning backfield of Harold Drake at quarterback, Brad Frick at running back, and Larry Franco, Scott Johnson or Lencho Nava vying for the other running back spot.

Lopez feels Drake will be one of the better QB's around while Frick promises to be a punishing type of runner. Franco is the breakaway threat while Johnson likes to run over people. Nava is making a switch from defense where he played guard and end last as a junior but is a big, strong kid who Lopez has said looks real good so far carrying the ball.

Dave Drury, Rick McClintock and Ben Martinez have all worked hard all summer on their receiving skills as Bonita promises to throw more from its Veer offense.

The mainstays on the offensive line will be guard Steve Loya and tackle Rick Lober, both appear bigger and stronger after a summer weight conditioning program.

Finding defensive replacements may not only be difficult but risky.

Lopez has indicated that unless some of these holes are filled a few poeple may have to go both ways.

"Drake, Johnson and Frick may have to play both offense and defense," Lopez said, "I hate to do it but if we have to we'll do it."

The third year coach added that all three play a very good secondary and that all are big enough and strong enough to handle double duty chores.

Lopez, like his Hacienda League peers, feels the league will be well balanced with Royal Oak, Alta Loma, Ontario, Sierra Vista, Walnut and San Dimas all contenders.

And if the Bearcats can come up with a tough defense . . . add Bonita to that list of contenders.

Jags have to fill QB slot to contend

With a returning backfield, Ontario High has to be considered a title contender in the well balanced Hacienda League for '74. But the Jaguars have already faced a disappointment.

Coach Doug Brooks, with nine returning lettermen, including seven starters, is without the services of veteran quarterback Joe Jefferson.

"Losing Joe will make it a little more difficult for us this year," says Brooks. "But it's hard to say. Our kids are out there really hustling and showing a lot of enthusiasm. We'll miss Joe, but I hope and think our kids can do the job."

Ontario is used to disappointments after being the tough-luck team of the league last year. While posting a lowly 1-8 record in '73, the Jaguars lost three games by a single point and dropped five games by a total of 15 points.

Coach Brooks has called on Randy Ramirez to fill the vacated shoes of Jefferson at quarterback. Brooks says the 5-8, 160-pound signal-caller is a good ball handler and passer.

Ramirez will operate from a wishbone and hand off to speedsters David Warren (5-7, 150-pounds), Doug Brooks (5-9, 170), Marcus Jennings (5-9, 170) and Steve Bell (5-8, 160).

Ramirez has a pair of promising receivers to throw to in Fred Vigil, a 5-10, 160-pound junior, and Carl Hemby, a 5-11, 200-pound junior tight end.

The offensive line, although small, will be led by center Robin Miller (5-9, 180) and guard Tom Mendez (5-10, 175). The rest of the line is up for grabs with Marty McClanahan (5-8, 150), Javier Arelleno (5-8, 160) and Dan Brooks (5-10, 170) vying for the other guard spot.

The brothers Burleson, Gerald and Brian, and Wayne Rudisill are fighting for the tackle spots. Gerald a JV last year, is 6-0 and weighs 230 while Brian is a "very quick" 5-8, 280 pound sophomore. Rudisill is a 5-9, 220 soph.

Ontario has all of its secondary back — except for Jefferson — and promises to be much improved.

The defensive line doesn't look to be as good as last year's line on paper, according to Brooks, but he feels they'll improve.

Walnut High football coach Ken Gunn rebuilds

Mustangs must rebuild in 1974

Walnut High has a very young team with just seven returning lettermen, only two of which were starters last year.

The Mustangs will once again be strong at the quarterback spot as Scott Stowell is, according to head coach Ken Gunn, an able successor to Ron Himes and Lance Parrish.

Like most Walnut teams the '74 version of the Mustangs will lean heavily on pass offense, directed by the 6-3, 185-pound, senior signal-caller.

Gunn, starting his sixth year, is trying to rebuild after 4-5 overall record last year.

Gunn feels that among his strengths this year will be Rick Packer, who promises to be one of the best offensive linemen in the valley, and linebacker Ron Turner.

Lack of size hurts the team this year. Packer, at 6-1, 205 pounds, is the only 200-pounder on the squad. Turner stands just 5-9 and weighs 175 pounds.

Other top returnees will be running back Keith McDermott, a 5-10, 170 pound junior; Dan Jansen, a 5-10, 175 pound senior fullback-defensive tackle; and Bob Flores, a 5-9 160 pound senior wide receiver.

Gunn's outstanding newcomers are Jim Semler, a 5-9, 175 pound senior linebacker-running back who transferred from El Rancho. Up from the JV's will be Terry O'Neil and Dale Nelson. O'Neil is a 5-10, 170-pound senior fullback-linebacker while Nelson is a senior wide receiver who checks in at 5-9, 155 pounds.

Gunn lists Royal Oak and Ontario as the teams to beat this year.

Saints eye another winner

The 1974 football season looks promising for San Dimas High with the return of six lettermen with experience, a group of quality JV's and seven outstanding sophomores from last year's championship freshmen team.

Heading the list of returnees will be two-year varsity lettermen Richard Burke and Paul Willman, two of the bigger running backs in the league. Both play both ways with Burke playing in the secondary at the safety spot while Willman btlsters the linebacking corps.

Completing the veteran backfield will be quarterback Kevin Pokrajac and split end Shelly white, who will also see duties at the running back spot.

"Pokrajac looks like he'll do a good job at quarterback this year," said head coach Bob Baiz, "and I think we'll have some fine running backs in White, Willman and Burke."

The San Dimas defense ranked among the valley's best last year allowing just 14.4 points per game. In fact only in the 42-6 loss to Royal Oak and the 26-6 defeat to Ontario did the Saints give up more than two touchdowns in a contest.

The offensive line will be rebuilt around senior Ron Reinford senior transfer Terry Gillette, juniors Don Edwards, Doug Harbin and Jack Clark which show potential of strength to go along with size.

Linebacking will be new with JV's Rosey Johnson, Doug Spahr, Bruce Lento, and sophomores Sam Clark, Doug Gates, and Dennis Moore.

The defensive backfield looks bright with senior Keith Brogan, Richard Hamic and Phil Agnew leading the way. Underclassmen Dimitri Hollingquist, Steve Loumagne and Andy Hegel could work their way into starters before the season concludes.

The receivers are headed by CIF hurdler White who will also see duty in the backfield. Transfer John Stegmeier from Arizona, seniors Mike Poland and Dody Dunzweiler will probably see plenty of action.

"Our objective will be to take these youngsters and see if we can come up with a winning combination," said Baiz, the fourth year skipper. "I think we'll have a fairly good team."

San Dimas was 4-3 in league play last year and 6-3 overall.

Knight coach optimistic

Coach Ed Werkhoven is beginning his fifth year at the helm of Ontario Christian High as the Knights prepare for their second year in the Olympic League.

OCHS for years played six-man football and switched to 11-man last year while compiling a 3-6 record with just 17 gridders.

Werkhoven is optmisitic about the upcoming campaign as 23 players are out for the '74 season, which means improvements in every department including practice sessions.

"Last year we didn't have enough players to run a first rate offense against our best defense," said Werkhoven. "In fact, at times we had tackles running pass patterns in practice sessions when we were stressing defense."

Mike Eropkin gives Garcia another experienced target for his touchdown darts. In addition, running back Dave Pearce can also haul 'em in, so it appears that the Raiders will be lighting up quite a few scoreboards in 1974.

Defensive linemen Doug Bratt, Steve Ciancito and John Higham will make things tough for opponents, while Bob Alkema and newcomer Byron Smith anchor a rugged Raider secondary.

Coach Rawls is optimistic about the Raiders chances in the Montview League, but figures the loop to be as well balanced as it was last season when four teams tied for the top spot with 5-2 marks.

"Once again the league should be close," notes Rawls. "Bassett and Workman will be strong, and Azusa looks much improved from last season."

Rawls might have noted that his own Rowland squad also looks improved, which spells trouble for M.L. opponents.

First varsity season for La Verne Lutheran

For head coach Steve Miller and his La Verne Lutheran High Trojans, 1974 may well be a question of numbers.

The Trojans, in their first season of varsity football competition, have picked the rugged Arrowhead League in which to make their debut.

But the caliber of competition is not what's bothering Miller. It's the numbers — or rather lack of them.

La Verne Lutheran will probably go into their 1974 grid opener with Brentwood High with a roster numbering a meager 25 players.

Miller is hopeful that as the enrollment increases at the new La Verne school, the number of young men wishing to play varsity football will also grow. But for the present, it's a case of making do with the material at hand.

Not that that material is all that bad.

For starters, Miller has talented fullback Ted Trahms back from last year's J.V. team. All Trahms did in 1973 as a sophomore was rush for 960 yards and 14 touchdowns. Now as a junior, the 5-7, 160-pound back will anchor the Trojan offensive attack.

Trahms will also serve as co-captain with guard and linebacker Don Liles. Although Liles is only 160 pounds, he tackles like a 200-pounder, according to coach Miller.

Sophomore Steve Yager will handle the quarterbacking chores for the Trojans. Yager has a good arm but is, as expected, a little short on grid experience.

As for La Verne's chances in the Arrowhead loop, the Trojans would have to score some major upsets to win the championship. Big Bear looks most impressive, and appears ready, willing and able to defend the league football crown.

Nearby neighbor Webb School should prove a natural as a local rival, giving the Arrowhead League a distinctly Pomona Valley flavor.

Miller is glad to have obtained the facilities at Damien High for the Trojan home games, and the squad's morale was also boostered by the arrival of new equipment.

Now the only thing else the Trojans will be looking for is some players to fill those newly-arrived pads and gridiron gear.

O.J. surpassed 2,000 yards

O.J. Simpson rushed for 2,003 yards in 1973 to break Jim Brown's single-season record of 1,863, accomplished during the 1963 National Football League season. Included in Simpson's total were 11 games of 100-plus yards — another record.

LES PERRY
26 years at Webb

Webb battles inexperience

Webb School's Les Perry is the dean of Valley football coaches, having been at the Claremont Prep school for 26 years.

Perry will need all of that grid experience to mold the 1974 version of the Gauls into a Arrowhead League contender. But judging from his past record, don't bet against it.

Perry, who has posted a 155-42-4 career mark at Webb, has a very inexperienced Gaul squad this year. Last year's team, which made it to the CIF 1-A playoffs, was primarily composed of seniors. In addition, the Arrowhead League shapes up once again as a mighty tough 1-A loop, with grid power Big Bear heading the list.

The Gauls will have some returnees, including All-League lineman John McCowan who will serve as captain of the 1974 team.

Also returning are offensive end Wally Pitts, lineman Craig Young, and running back Doug McCowan.

Perhaps the top offensive weapon at Perry's dispsoal is kicker Jim Wetrich, who Perry feels is a "good one."

"All bodies are warm and willing to give blood," is the way Perry sizes up the 1974 Gauls' attitude. "It looks like Big Bear is just ahead of the pack in the Arrowhead League. They have the players, depth and coaching."

Big Bear is the defending A.L. champ. Other top teams in the loop appear to be Notre Dame of Riverside and Aquinas.

The biggest handicap Perry faces is a lack of manpower. Webb, being a private school, has to depend on a certain number of walk ons to bolster its football program.

Having graduated the largest group of senior footballers ever from last season's 6-3 squad, Tiger head coach Ray Stark has a major rebuilding job to do. Fortunately for the Tigers, his building material looks mighty good.

"Our J.V. team was undefeated the past two years, and there were a lot of good kids on last year's squad," notes Stark. "If they can make the transition to varsity football, we will be all right."

About the only experienced varsity player Stark has returning is senior running back Mike Cumpston. At 5-7 and 165 pounds, Cumpston is a breakaway threat in the Tiger backfield.

Handling the quarterback chores will be Larry Garcia. Garcia, a standout pitcher for Chaffey during last year's baseball season, will try his hand at hurling footballs this fall.

"Garcia has a strong arm and could be our leader," Stark notes.

Anchoring both the offensive and defensive lines for the Tigers will be senior Sherman Wilcox. The 6-3, 235-pound tackle could well prove the key to how well the Tigers fare in 1974.

Sizing up his squad's relative inexperience, Stark comments, "It's pretty obvious that we are totally inexperienced, at least at the varsity level. We have no particular weaknesses at this point — all our weaknesses are equal."

If Stark sounds somewhat pessimistic, it is because the Tigers have a rough task ahead of them.

Chaffey resides in the super-rugged Citrus Belt League, a noted graveyard of gridiron hopes. This year's CBL will have a new look, as both Riverside Poly and Ramona have dropped out to find greener pasture and elsewhere.

"The Citrus Belt League looks even more formidable than usual," Stark offered. 'As usual, Redlands High will be the team to beat," but Pacific, San Gorgonio and Eisenhower have very experienced ball clubs returning. With a new coaching staff, Fontana will be a question mark. With the two Riverside schools gone there are no breathers on the schedule."

"We hope to be in there somewhere," add Stark on the CBL football chase.

The veteran Tiger mentor will see some of his team's question-marks answered September 19 as Chaffey travels to La Palma Park to face always rough Anaheim High in its grid opener.

First league game for the Tigers will be October 18 as they visit Eisenhower.

Pat Haden's prep career

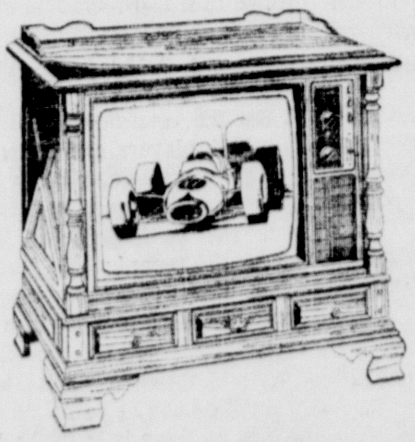

USC quarterback Pat Haden completed 62 per cent of his passes for more than 7,600 yards in three varsity seasons at Bishop Amat High. He also tossed 82 touchdown passes in his three-year prep career, from 1968-70.

Trojans shoot for No. 1

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — John McKay doesn't know how far his material is going to carry him in 1974 but the scenario is there for the University of Southern California to win its second national championship in three years.

And that includes the Trojans' seventh Rose Bowl appearance, as Pacific-8 champions, in nine years.

"We have a chance to win every game we're in," declared the white-haired McKay, whose seven trips to the New Year's Day classic are a record. The 51-year-old coach has also produced three No. 1-ranked college teams.

"I think we have as good a chance to win the national title as anyone. In fact, we're shooting for it."

McKay's mapping out of Southern Cal's road to the national title has the Trojans going undefeated through the season, beating Notre Dame as the finale, and then gaining revenge against Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

"Very few schools play both Ohio State and Notre Dame and also have a chance for a real good team," McKay said.

The Trojans have lost eight starters — four of them All-Americas — and a total of 17 lettermen from last year's squad. The 1973 team finished 9-2-1, being dumped 42-21 by Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

Southern Cal will probably start 1974 from its No. 7 ranking by the UPI-Coaches poll of last year—or close to it. But McKay is confident USC will be able to both replace its graduated personnel and climb upward through the national rankings.

McKay isn't saying his current Trojans are equal to his 1972 national champions that rolled to a 12-0 record to earn an undisputed crown and was rated one of the best college teams ever.

But the veteran coach feels his 1974 players are superior to last year's—bad news for the Pac-8 contenders. USC won the conference in 1973 with a 7-0 record.

"I think we have as good material as we've had in a long time," McKay reported. "We're stronger than last year. We have as balanced an attack as there is in football.

"In our skilled positions—the quarterbacking, the receiving, the running backs—nobody in college football is better than we are."

One of the most solid spots in the Trojan lineup will be at quarterback where strong-armed Pat Haden, who McKay calls the best passer he has seen anywhere, will be backed up by another senior, Rob Adolph, and sophomore Bob Hertel.

Haden, a multi-school record setting passer, completed 137 of 247 aerials for 1,832 yards, 13 touchdowns and a 56 per cent completion average last year in leading the Pac-8 in total offense. His arm is going to be put to even more use this season.

"He'll have as good a year as we turn him loose and we intend to turn him loose," McKay promised. "He's a super football player. We're going to pass quite a bit more."

Haden's primary receivers will be John McKay, the coach's son, at split end, tight end Jim Obradovich and flanker Shelton Diggs.

The young McKay has caught 54 passes in two years, 10 for TDs. Obradovich was an all Pac-8 selection in 1973 with 17 receptions for a 16.7 yard average gain for each catch and Diggs lettered as a freshman last year behind graduated All-America, Lynn Swann.

In the backfield, the talented Anthony Davis gets his last crack at the Heisman Trophy and will be bidding to surpass O.J. Simpson as Southern Cal's leading career rusher and the first Trojan to run for 1,000-plus yards in three seasons.

Davis has 2,303 yards—1,191 yards in 1972 and 1,112 last year-and trails Simpson by 1,120 yards.

Probably alternating with Davis in the tailback slot will be Allen Carter and junior college transfer Ronnie Jamerson. The key fullbacks will be Kenny Gray and sophomore Ricky Bell.

But it is in the defensive line that McKay puts a lot of his hope for 1974. The Trojans last year gave up 17 points a game —42 to Ohio State in the Rose Bowl game—after allowing just 11.2 in their last national championship year.

But McKay thinks he has plugged up the middle—the route that Archie Griffin and Ohio State took to beat the Trojans last year.

All-America linebacker Richard Wood and six other returning defensive starters, including sophomore tackle Gary Jeter—whose potential, McKay says, could make him the best in the country—will be back with another year of experience.

Freshmen linebacker Mario Celotto also heads a list of solid prospects to break into the lineup.

"I think the most improved part of our team will be the defense, "McKay said. "We had a lot of very young people play there last year. We have better linemen playing there now. I think we'll have a lot better defense. That's where all your wins start."

The Trojans open the season Sept. 14 against Arkansas at Little Rock. Their non-Pac-8 opponents also include Pittsburgh, Iowa, and Notre Dame.

"I think it's a good schedule," McKay said. "Arkansas is supposed to be much improved. They're being picked along with Texas. Pittsburgh has got more votes in the East than Penn State this year as the No. 1 team."

"Before a national championship, we have to get back

New Bruin attack: the forward pass

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dick Vermeil, UCLA's new football coach, is planning on re-introducing the forward pass to Westwood.

Pepper Rodgers, who stuck to a ground-oriented wishbone offense for two years and compiled a 9-2 record last season, has been replaced by Vermeil and the "Veer-T." The alignment will allow quarterback John Sciarra, a proven runner in the Rodgers system, to put the ball in the air again.

"The idea of the Veer-T is that it's a formation in which you can run and pass on any down, as well as take advantage of a quarterback who can run," said Vermeil, who is assuming his first head coaching post after serving under John Ralston, Tommy Prothro, George Allen and Chuck Knox.

Sciarra, a 20-year-old junior, figures to be the central figure in the Vermiel offense. As a part-time starter last year, Sciarra gained 496 yards in 72 carries for a 6.9 average. He was also the team's leading passer, with 27 completions in 62 attempts.

"John has made real progress in his throwing," Vermiel said. "But there is a difference between being a thrower and having the poise and confidence to be a good passer. He has looked good so far.

"We've made pretty good progress in adjusting to our new offense, but I'm not sure whether or not we'll have matured enough by Sept. 7."

On that date Vermeil's team, which began workouts Aug. 17, must be ready for their opener against a powerful Tennessee team.

"We'll find out pretty quickly how good we are," Vermeil said.

The new offense will call for only two running backs, instead of three in the wishbone system. The offense features two split receivers, much like a pro formation.

"I think Wednell will be a fine running back," Vermeil said. "He has great speed (timed at 4.5 in the 40) and to the Rose Bowl," he said, "and I think it will be a very close race to get there."

Pac-8 challenge for Troy

Still, as solid as USC looks at the start of a new season, winning the PAC 8 won't be that easy. The Trojans will have to get by both Stanford and UCLA to make it to the Rose Bowl for the seventh time in the last nine years.

Stanford has veteran offensive and defensive lines, an exceptional four-man linebacking corps, solid ball carriers in Scott Laidlaw and Ron Inge and better than average receivers in Bill Singler and Brad Williams. The Cardinals' weaknesses will be at quarterback and the defensive secondary.

Still, coach Jack Christiansen doesn't concede a thing.

"We'll get better as we go along," says the Stanford coach, "and who knows, by the time we meet USC on Nov. 9 it may be for the title."

Oregon, of the remaining Pac 8 schools, has an outside chance. Still, the Ducks have a tough schedule at the start (Nebraska in the opener) and could be hurt before they can put things together under new coach Don Read.

California, Washington, Oregon State and Washington State have various problems, none of which may go away before the season ends, and thus probably have no chance at all to improve on 1973.

In the Pacific Coast ET race, it looks like San Diego State again, even thougn Jesse Freitas, the nation's total offense leader last year, is gone.

Because of a big dropoff at quarterback, coach Claude Gilbert has changed the offense around and will emphasize the running game. That's because he has a fine quartet of ball carriers in Frank Geary, Dave Darden, Bill Kramer and Tim Thorn.

San Jose State, which has a top-flight quarterback in Craig Kimball and hardly anything else worth noting, and Pacific, led by all-purpose running back Willard Harrell, will make a move at San Diego State before falling back for obvious reasons.

Fresno State, Long Beach State and new PCTA member Fullerton State lack the personnel to make many noises or moves.

Ohio State heavily favored again

NEW YORK (UPI) — Powerful Ohio State, which returns most of its awesome cast that went 10-0-1 last year including a resounding Rose Bowl victory over Southern California, is the heavy choice of the United Press International Board of Coaches as the nation's No. 1 football team for 1974.

In the pre-season ratings of the coaches, Ohio State received 13 first place votes to easily outdistance Alabama in total points, 297-275. Notre Dame, which edged the Crimson Tide, 24-23, in last season's dramatic Sugar Bowl finale, was second in first place votes with 10 but fell short of the top two in total points with 271.

Alabama received six nominations for first place.

By a vote at their annual meeting in San Francisco last year, the coaches agreed not to consider any teams on NCAA probation for the top 20 or the national championship. Thus, Oklahoma, SMU, California, Long Beach State and Southwestern Louisiana will not be included in the weekly ratings this season.

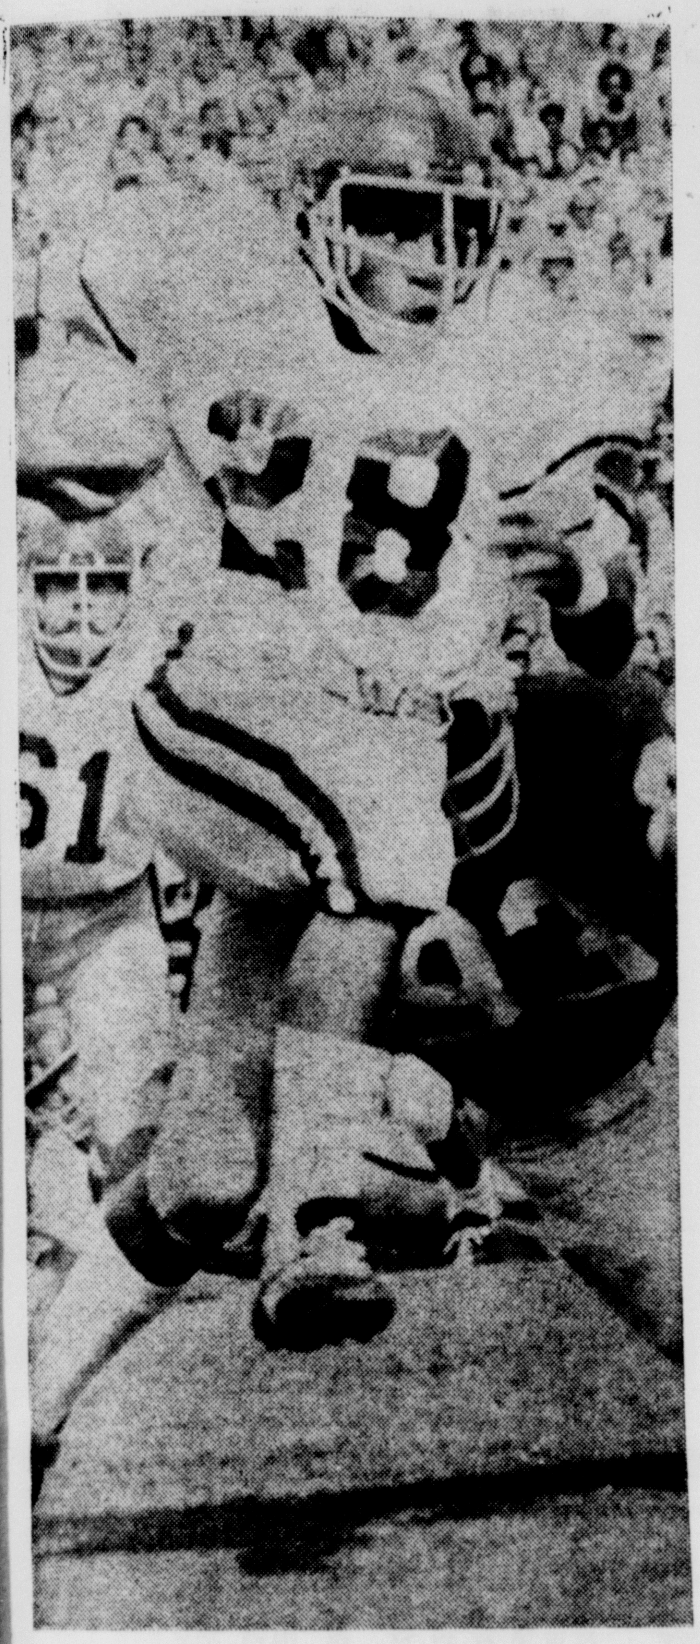

Southern California, which was embarrassed 42-21 by Ohio State in last season's Rose Bowl and which entertains Notre Dame in this year's "Game of the Decade" on Nov. 30, was fourth in the pre-season ratings with 257 points including four first place votes.

Michigan, the only other team to receive a first place vote, was fifth, followed in order by Nebraska, Penn State, Texas, LSU and Houston.

The second 10 was headed by surprising Maryland, which could make or break its season on opening day (Sept. 14) at home against Alabama. After the Terps, it was UCLA (12th), Arizona State (13th), Texas (14th), Tennessee (15th), North Carolina State (16th) and Florida (17th). The final place was a three-way tie among Stanford, Pittsburgh and Tulane.

good instincts. Whether he will develop at midseason or earlier I don't know."

Charlie Schuhmann, Russel Charles and Eddie Ayers, all parttime starters last season, will battle Tyler for starting jobs in the Bruin backfield.

Steve Monahan and Norm Anderson, who traded off last season, are the prime targets for Sciarra. Anderson led all Bruin receivers with 19 receptions and three touchdown catches last season, while Monahan had six catches.

Much has been said about Vermeil's huge offensive line, which will average 258 pounds, but Vermeil says, "They're not any bigger than Tennessee." Prospects for the interior line include Gene Clark, 260; Randy Cross, 259; Art Kuehn, 257; Myke Horton, 254, and Phil McKinnely, 260.

"I sorta thought all college kids would be small when I came back from coaching in the pros," Vermeil said. "Most college teams these days have big lines."

Vermeil's defense will have five returning starters, paced by the ever-present Fulton Kuykendall at linebacker. Kykendall, a quick, 206-pound senior, led the Bruins with 170 tackles last season and was named to UPI's All-Coast second team.

Cornerback John Nanoski, who led UCLA with six interceptions in 1973, guard Greg Norfleet, tackle Pat Sweetland and safety Kent Pearce are also returning.

"We're going to do everything in our power to emphasize, sell and develop our defensive football as the new Bruin image," said Vermeil.

A UCLA team has not been to the Rose Bowl since 1966 and once again their chief rival may be USC. But Vermeil isn't worrying about John McKay's legions yet as he familiarizes himself with his own team.

"Our main strength right now is in character," he says. "We have a lot of outstanding people out there."

peting for positions with no standouts as yet," observed Zinda. Mark Robles, originally a defensive end, started at middle guard at the end of last season.

The Stags open the season Sept. 28 at St. Mary' s. Once again they play only an eight-game schedule.

Another record for Unitas

Johnny Unitas, who owns most of the National Football League records for passing, also has the most lifetime fumbles, 85. Roman Gabriel is second with 83 and Bobby Layne is third with 80.

Rams: a 'super' contender

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — In the Los Angeles Rams' fourth exhibition game into their second season under new coach Chuck Knox, they crushed the Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins 31-13.

What did it mean?

After a 12-2 year and the NFC West championship, the Rams may be the team to beat in the NFL this season. Because Ram players have an affinity for owner Carroll Rosenbloom, the pre-season strike may not affect the club as it may some of the other teams.

"Deep down inside," said Larry Brooks, the Rams' outstanding third-year defensive tackle, "there might be some bitterness but I don't think it will show. We have a job to do and we're here to do it."

Starting his 13th NFL season, Merlin Olsen, who plays alongside Brooks in the defensive line, saw a good side to the strike, saying:

"I enjoyed the extra time. I wasn't unhappy to see us start late although I was unhappy to see it under those conditions. I still feel that the pre-season is way too long and training camp is too long. I think we'll prove that this year."

The Rams' first season under Knox was abruptly ended at Dallas Dec. 23, 1973. The Cowboys scored two quick first quarter touchdowns and went on to win 27-16, putting Los Angeles out of the NFL playoffs.

"That loss will motivate us this season," said Lawrence McCutcheon, who set a Ram rushing record by gaining 1,097 yards in his official rookie year last season.

A former Detroit assistant, Knox, 42, was a nobody who became a somebody last year. Rosenbloom has a particular ability of turning nobodies into somebodies. Miami's Don Shula, a one-time obscure assistant, is a former Rosenbloom protege.

When Knox got the Ram job, he told his owner he would provide an instant winner. That's a big promise for a man taking over a 6-7-1 team.

"I don't think I've changed one bit since the day Carroll Rosenbloom gave me the job," he said. "But my life has changed some. I'll be walking down the street sometimes and people come up and ask me for an autograph. That never happened before.

"But I still have the same goal that I did when I came here and that is to develop to the fullest extent the talent that is available to me."

"There's no question in my mind that we can be an improved team," Knox replied. "There are two reasons for this. First, we know more about our personnel than we did last summer. And secondly, our coaching staff has been together now a year and there is more coordination among us." The Rams are determined and they have the talent, starting at quarterback where John Hadl, last season's NFC Player of the Year, is back for his 13th pro season and second with the Rams.

In his first Ram year, Hadl passed 258 times and completed 135 for a 52.3 percentage and 2,008 yards and 22 touchdowns. Only 11 were intercepted.

Hadl, 34, thinks the Rams will be better in 1974.

"It's mainly because of our defense," he said. "It's tremendous. They're basically a young group and they know each other better now. Ray Malavasi (Knox's defensive coordinator) has done a great job of coordinating and teaching them."

Joining Hadl and McCutcheon in the Ram backfield is Jim Bertelsen, who has 1,435 yards rushing in two years as a pro, including 854 last year. Hadl's primary passing target last year was seven-year pro Harold Jackson, an all-NFC performer who caught 40 passes for 874 yards and 13 touchdowns. Hadl's other wide receiver figures to be 10-year veteran Jack Snow al-

Suspensions, injuries neutralize the Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — About mid-season, Coach Ara Parseghian might declare whether his Notre Dame football team has a chance for the national championship.

"On our spring performance, we had a real good chance," he said. "But so many things have happened, industrial accidents, suspensions, injuries, that all the things we did in the spring are now somewhat neutralized.

"We're going to have to use our early season games as a proving ground, experiment and work on evaluation of personnel."

Offensively Notre Dame could be strong. "Our assets are quarterback and fullback and experience in the offensive line," Parseghian said. "But we've been hard hit on defense."

Quarterback Tom Clements and fullback Wayne Bullock are tried and true performers, but halfback Eric Penick is on a "month to month" basis due to an ankle injury and he's "definitely out for half the season, possibly the entire season." Art Best at left half is "just Best, some days good, some days bad."

Pete Demmerle, Mark Brenneman, Gerry DiNardo and Steve Sylvester will be the anchors in the offensive line, but there's little quality depth behind them, or behind anybody else either.

Suspensions knocked out two returning deefensive stars, end Ross Browner and strong safety Luther Bradley, and two other veterans, Jim Stock and Steve Niehaus, are returning after surgery. "We hope they hold up," Parseghian said.

The defensive backfield was a question mark with only Reggie Barnett returning. Two others who were likely to fill out, Bob Zanot and Tim Simon, required knee surgery this fall and are out for the season.

Both Greg Collins and Drew Mahalic are back at linebacker and Mike Fanning and Sherm Smith in the front four, but behind them are question marks.

"We don't know what we've got in the freshmen," Parseghian said. "We know what we recruited, but we haven't had them long enough to make an evaluation. We're going to have to find out in the early season games."

Parseghian believed he could evaluate his schedule and his team better before the advent of the freshman eligibility rule. "An ordinary team can be good or great if its freshmen hit the positions where it was weak," he said. "Nobody would have predicted we would have been as good as we were last year if we hadn't had some freshmen help us where we needed help."

That's what he needs this year too—help from the freshmen, lack of injuries, and super performances from some key personnel. Maybe then the Irish will challenge to remain in the top 10.

Sun Devils find the cure

By United Press International

This was the year that everyone was going to get even with Arizona State.

The Devils were supposed to be down. They had only nine starters back from last year's 11-1 team, and had lost the backfield of Danny White, Woodrow Green and Ben Malone, who combined to account for nearly 500 yards a game last year.

But when the 13th-ranked Sun Devils opened their 1974 season Saturday night, coach Frank Kush had found a cure for all that ailed his team —a dose of defense.

Arizona State, with its famed bend-but-don't-break defense, saw Houston roll up 362 yards in total offense but only nine points as ASU stunned the 10th-ranked Cougars 30-9.

"It was strictly a defensive game," said Kush. "I would say, conservatively, that 90 per cent of that win goes to the defense. We knew we were going to have one of the better defenses we've had but we didn't realize it would be this good."

The Sun Devils were the only Western Athletic Conference team to open its season over the weekend.

Six more WAC teams — including Colorado State and New Mexico who open actual conference play —get things started this Saturday. Utah opens on Sept. 21 at WAC member Texas El Paso.

In games next weekend, along with the CSU-New Mexico affair, Arizona hosts San Diego State, Brigham Young is at Hawaii, Texas El Paso hosts Pacific and Wyoming entertains Utah State.

"Our offense had two plays," said Kush. "On one Fred Williams ran 69 yards and on the other Fred ran 73."

On the first one Williams scord. On the second one, he got to the Houston four and carried the ball over on the next play.

Meanwhile, the ASU defense recovered a fumble to set up a 43-yard field goal by Kush's son Danny and Bob Breunig ran 25 yards with a fumble for a touchdown just 50 seconds after cornerback Bo Warren ran 17 with an interception for a score.

"We did about what I thought we would offensively," said Kush. "Our offense only scored two touchdowns and our defense had to do everything else."

Cordova may be as good as Plunkett

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — It's official now, Mike Cordova will be at quarterback Saturday when Stanford meets Penn State in a nationally televised game.

Coach Jack Christiansen announced during the weekend that Cordova, who many think may surpass Jim Plunkett as Stanford's all-time top quarterback, is his choice to open the new season.

"I guess the one thing in my mind was his strength and size," Christiansen said in picking the 6-4, 220-pound Cordova, who passed for 794 yards and 11 touchdowns in four freshmen games last year.

Chris chose Cordova, at least to start the season, over another sophomore —Guy Benjamin —and junior Jerry Waldvogel.

"I tried to give them all an equal chance, to see if one would stick out head and shoulders over the others," Christiansen said. "But no one did, which speaks for the strength of our team at quarterback. Still, I had to pick one man and I think Cordova is better equipped to run the triple option and not come up hurt.

"Benjamin is a much better runner than I thought, but Mike does a little more solid job on handoffs and passing. Depending on game situations, I'm still hopeful of playing all three in the first three or four games and then will decide on one man the rest of the way."

Who would start at quarterback against Penn State was the only question undecided on the Cardinals, who hope to challenge Southern California this year for the Pacific 8 title.

Cal Bears enthusiastic

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — There is more enthusiasm on the University of California campus these days than in a long time, and the object of everyone's attention is the school's football team.

For the first time in many years, there is reason to believe Cal can emerge with a better than .500 season and given a break or two on defense, maybe even challenge for the Pacific 8 title.

Coach Mike White's charges are starting to believe they can win and that's a sign no one has seen around here in many years.

"We've had a good training period and I know in my heart we are a good football team," said fullback Chuck Muncie during the weekend. "We are playing like a team and with the kind of players we have, don't be surprised to see us fighting for the title."

Knox has a wealth of running backs, including converted safety Cullen Bryant, Tony Baker and '73 Heisman Trophy winner John Cappelletti, the Rams' No. 1 draft choice from Penn State. Cappelletti has not disappointed anyore in camp.

If he were to wager...

HOUSTON (UPI) — If Coach Bill Yeoman was a drinking or betting man—which he is not— he says he could not be too sure which team his money would ride on Saturday night in Rice Stadium.

Yeoman's highly-rated University of Houston Cougars, embarrassed losers to Arizona State by a 30-9 count this weekend, will try again against the Rice Owls in a full weekend of Southwest Conference intersectional play.

"We better not be listening anymore to what was said about us before the season," Yeoman said after returning to Houston Sunday. "We better try desperately to do what we possibly can to just get one-and-one. And I'm not too sure we can do that."

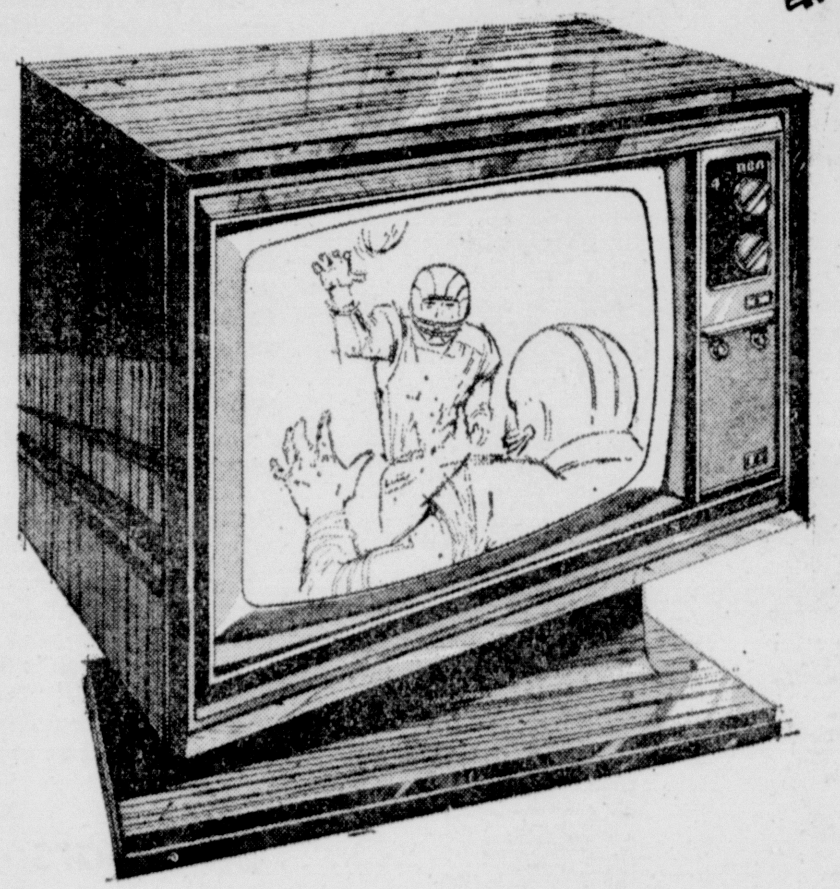

If Yeoman was overly critical of his Cougars, it was because of the powerful publicity factor which has played so heavily in the Rice-Houston series. Yeoman said he has lost no faith in his team.

"We should be better, but we haven't shown anything yet (in the win column)," he said. "The second half, what did they have, 90 yards total offense?"
